Switz Served U. S. As Counter-Spy 12 Years Upon Reds

His Widow Tells of Assisting Congress, F.B.I., After Return Here in 1938, to Uncover Russian Spying Activities in United States

Mrs. Marjorie T. Switz, of Hurley, widow of Robert Gordon Switz, 46, who died in Kingston Hospital January 23 of a cerebral hemorrhage, said flatly today neither she nor her husband ever had been Communists, but instead served the United States patriotically in counter-espionage.

In addition Mrs. Switz gave The Freeman a prepared statement, which she reported had been made ready after consultation with the Federal Bureau of Investigation in New York.

Served as Counter-Spies

Both she and her husband, Mrs. Switz said, worked for 12 years with the United States Government in counter-espionage against Russian spy organizations. She cited her husband particularly for "giving his best energies and literally thousands of hours of his time to assist them (the government) in their work of counter-espionage." He was, she said, an ardent anti-Communist.

No Connection With Hiss

The statement by Mrs. Switz was prompted by the January 16 article by Walter Winchell, New York Mirror columnist, in which it was reported that Switz had been a member of the same Communist underground organization as Alger Hiss, convicted perjurer.

In the interview Mrs. Switz admitted both her husband's and her former connection with a Communist underground organization, but said at no time did she or her husband ever know Hiss.

Winchell in his column said Switz had been arrested in Paris in 1933 by the French Duexieme Bureau, and that secret military information was found in his possession, including detailed plans of the Maginot Line defenses.

Evidence Was 'Planted'

Mrs. Switz said the material pertaining to the Maginot Line, and other military information, was "planted" in their hotel room in Paris, because the police needed evidence to secure their arrest as Communist agents. For some time prior to their seizure, Mrs. Switz said she and her husband had been trying to get out of the web of international intrigue set up by the Soviets.

As a result of their arrest both

Pay Raise Ceiling May Go Upward For Great Majority

Eric Johnston Reported Ready to Sign New Formula; Nothing Drastic Seen

Washington, Feb. 26 (AP) — The month-old ceiling on pay raises may be pried upward a little today or tomorrow for the great majority of wage earners.

Eric Johnston, head of the Economic Stabilization Agency, was reported about ready to sign the pending 10 per cent "catch-up" formula, and informed officials predicted that in doing so he would order this further relaxation:

Wage boosts provided in "escalator" clauses would be honored up to June 30, provided they were written into contracts signed before the wage-prize freeze of a month ago.

However, aides of Johnston cautioned against reports there would be any "extensive" alternative of the formula set to him 10 days ago by a 6-3 vote of the Wage Stabilization Board headed by Cyrus S. Ching.

Would Allow Increase

That formula would permit an increase of up to 10 per cent between January 15, 1951 and midyear, when a review is scheduled, with revision if that is found necessary.

After days of behind-scenes meetings involving Johnston, Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson, wage board members and labor leaders, Johnston was reported to be "well along" toward a decision.

An announcement this afternoon or tomorrow is probable, some officials said. They did not disclose whether the reported relaxation of the formula is being made with or without approval of the wage board.

Neither did they predict any immediate decision affecting the controversy-riddled wage board itself. The board's three labor members resigned in protest against the 10 per cent formula. They had held out for 12 per cent.

With only its three public and three industry members remaining, the board is considered to be virtually impotent to command labor compliance with future policy decisions on wage ceilings — and disputes arising under them.

State Tax Aid Will Be Available

Representatives of the State Income Tax Bureau will again visit Kingston this year to assist state income taxpayers with preparation of their returns for 1950, George P. Klein, director of the bureau said today.

The tax experts will be at the Ulster County Court House, Wall street, February 26 through March 3 and April 2 through April 16.

State income tax returns must be filed on or before April 16 by single persons who had net income and net capital gain of $1,000 or more last year and by married couples who had net income and net capital gain of $2,500 or more.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Feb. 26 (AP) — The position of the treasury Feb. 21. Net budget receipts $202,359,874.96. Budget expenditures $161,970,491.88. Cash balance $5,539,231,776.81. Customs receipts for month $38,671,178.90. Budget receipts fiscal year July 1, $26,249,389,220.52. Budget expenditures fiscal year $25,059,498,950.99. Budget surplus $1,189,890,269.53. Total debt $255,940,189,139.38. Decrease under previous day $34,657,774,36. Gold assets $22,206,889,849.63.

Tests Ahead For Certain State Aides

Loyalty Program Aimed to Protect 'Sensitive Areas' as Part of New Defense Measure

Probe May Drop

New York Investigation Might Be Passed Due to Job Underway

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 26 (AP)—Governor Dewey and his Republican legislative strategists reportedly mapped plans today to set up "loyalty" tests for state employes in "sensitive areas."

There was no indication of the type of procedure under consideration as Dewey and the G.O.P. leaders went into a huddle to discuss unsettled legislative problems.

An informed source said the loyalty program would require legislation and would not be undertaken by executive order.

In his annual message to the lawmakers Jan. 3, Dewey called for "security" legislation as part of his far-flung civil defense program.

"Legislation is required to assure security in the state service against subversive activities," Dewey said. "I am asking the State Civil Service Commission to present a legislative program to set up procedures to assure the loyalty of state civil service personnel working sensitive areas."

Other Developments

Meanwhile, as the Legislature pointed toward adjournment March 16:

1—Odds seemed to rise against a G.O.P.-proposed state investigation of alleged underworld influence in New York city's government and Democratic politics. Some high Republican sources said Democratic district attorneys in Manhattan and Brooklyn were doing a good job uncovering corruption and other irregularities.

2—Dewey and the G.O.P. leaders discussed a pay raise formula for the state's 70,000 regular employes, whose spokesmen last week rejected an offer of $300 or 10 per cent, whichever was greater.

3—Lt. Gov. Frank C. Moore and a special commission worked on recommendations for pay increases for the state's 80,000 public school teachers.

'Rough Going' Predicted

4 — G.O.P. sources predicted "rough going" but probable approval of the Hughes-Brees bill to reduce the unemployment insurance tax rate for employers with stable employment records and to increase the maximum weekly benefit for employes from $26 to $30.

J. Edward Conway, president of the State Civil Service Commission, said members of his staff and Governor Dewey's counsel, Lawrence E. Walsh, had worked on several drafts of a proposed loyalty program for state employes.

He declined to discuss details but said "substantial progress has been made."

The loyalty program architects have been troubled in defining "sensitive areas" of state government to which the procedures would apply.

No Request Received

Republican legislative leaders, meanwhile, said they had received no request for legislative payroll records and other data from the U. S. Senate's Kefauver Crime Investigating Committee.

The committee counsel, Rudolph Talley, announced in New York city last Thursday that he wanted to see the Legislature's "whole payroll." He added that the committee was interested in "recent appointments."

G.O.P. Leader Arthur H. Wicks of the Senate reiterated that he would not honor a subpoena for the records but would allow the Kefauver staff to examine the records here in Albany.

There were conflicting opinions

House Committee May Probe Reports

Communists Are Entering as Farm Laborers, Group Is Told

Washington, Feb. 26 (AP)—The House Un-American Activities Committee may investigate reports that Communist agents are slipping into the United States from Mexico in the garb of imported farm laborers.

Chairman Wood (D.-Ga.) said today information had reached him that a "serious situation" appeared to have arisen in the far west and especially in California, where Mexican nationals cross the border legally for work in the fruit and vegetable fields.

Wood said two committee investigators now in the Los Angeles area may be directed to investigate the reports while laying the groundwork for an inquiry into possible Communist influences in the motion picture industry.

Almond Claims Sino Rout From Threatened UN Trap

Russia Claim Only Half of West's Power

Moscow, Feb. 26 (AP)—Russia told Britain during the week-end that she has less than half as many men under arms as the western Big Three. She added that she was ready to negotiate her differences with the British.

She made these statements in a note, published yesterday, repeating previous Soviet charges that the Attlee government "crudely tramples on the 1942 Anglo-Soviet alliance by joining the Atlantic coalition "aimed directly against the U.S.S.R."

The note declared that the forces of Britain, France and the United States total more than 5,000,000 men and that Soviet forces are less than half that size.

Regarded as Significant

Observers here regarded as significant this indication that Russia counts only about 2,500,000 men in her navy, air force and army. It is the nearest she has come in several years to offering any figures on her military strength.

It was also noted that the figure fell far below estimates of the size of the Soviet army alone that have been published in the west.

The U. S. Senate Foreign Relations Committee on Feb. 14 estimated the Soviet army at 4,000,000 men and said Russia's European satellites had another 1,000,000, as opposed to a total of 4,500,000 for all 12 Atlantic Pact nations. Red China's army is generally placed at 3,000,000.

Will Present Figures

Observers concluded from this that if the proposed Big-Four foreign ministers conference is held to discuss existing armament levels, as suggested by the west, Russia will present figures to maintain that the western powers, not she, are preparing for aggression.

The latest Soviet note was in reply to Britain's communication of Feb. 17 answering the Russian charge that Britain is violating the British-Soviet alliance of 1942.

Repeating the charge, Russia declared Britain "has fallen under the subjugation of the United States" and is being turned into an American military base by Washington's financial "handouts."

Two Hurt Slightly In Three-Car Accident

State police of the Highland station investigated a three-car accident which slightly injured two persons on Route 9W one mile north of Marlborough at 6:25 p. m. Sunday.

Frank Pizza, 37, and his wife, Carrie, 34, were treated at St. Luke's Hospital for multiple lacerations and contusions, troopers said.

Drivers could not state exactly how the accident happened, but troopers' investigation showed that apparently an automobile driven by Albert Oates, 35, of Milton struck the rear of the automobile driven by Pizza, forcing Pizza to lose control and his car to overturn on the highway. The Oates vehicle then collided with a vehicle driven by Cecil A. Shippee, 34, of Sunside, Greene county, troopers said.

All three vehicles were badly damaged. No arrests were made.

Meat Packers Threaten Strike in Wage Talks

New York, Feb. 26 (AP)—About 200,000 AFL Packinghouse Workers threaten to strike if recent wage agreements are not approved by the government.

The international executive board of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen (AFL) made the strike threat in telegrams to President Truman, Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson and Economic Stabilization head Eric Johnston.

No time limit was set on the strike threat yesterday.

Union President Earl W. Jimerson said negotiated contracts providing nine-cent hourly wage increases had been on file with the Stabilization Board since Feb. 15.

Jimerson's announcement did not mention present wage scales.

Emspak Convicted

Washington, Feb. 26 (AP)—Julius Emspak was convicted today of contempt of Congress. The national secretary of the left-wing United Electrical Workers Union was found guilty of refusing to answer questions of the House Un-American Activities Committee. He faces a possible maximum sentence of a year in jail and $10,000 fine. Emspak was the first of six UE officers to be tried on the contempt charge.

Auto Plunges Off Bridge

Four Boston skiers escaped serious injuries when their automobile crashed through a railing on the Hinsdale-Brattleboro, Vt., bridge and plunged 25 feet to the ice-covered Connecticut river at Hinsdale. The youths, Owen McEleney, 20; Paul Beichel, 21; James Boylan, 21, and John Jankun, 20, were en route to Montreal for a week-end of skiing when the accident occurred. (AP Wirephoto)

Police Arrest Two Following Crashes

Youth Is Charged With Larceny, Driving While Drunk

Police arrested two drivers over the week-end after the alleged wrecking of automobiles and a shot was fired during a chase of one of them.

Cornelius O'Neil, 17, of 147 Abeel street, was arrested on charges of second degree grand larceny and driving while intoxicated after allegedly ditching a car on West O'Reilly street Sunday.

Officers George Dougherty and Henry Ronnenberg reported at 8:15 p. m., that they were almost struck in a police patrol car by a sedan on the O'Reilly street hill by a car that was apparently out of control before it ended up in a ditch.

Officers Gave Chase

The officers said that "when they went to the aid of the driver," he attempted to run away and was apprehended after being chased "on foot" by Officer Dougherty. Ronnenberg, meanwhile, had fired a shot.

Police learned later that the car was reported missing by Joseph Mitchell, 212 Foxhall avenue, who said it had been taken from in front of Cozy Tavern. It was towed by wrecker from the

Indian Relic Cache Stolen by Youths Is Found in Tent

A cache of Indian relics and other items was discovered by authorities in a tent near Lucas avenue extension on Saturday.

Investigation disclosed that the items, including the tent, had been taken earlier that morning from two vacant houses in the area, and three teen-age boys were apprehended as those responsible for the thefts. County Investigator Leonard Belmore, of the sheriff's office, who made the investigation, said the matter of what action, if any, is to be taken against the youngsters is still under consideration. All are under 16 years of age.

Included in Cache

Included in the cache were two stone peacepipe bowls, one a large intricately carved piece believed to be of substantial value. Tomahawk heads, arrowheads and other items were found, along with several old coins, boxes of matches, pencils, axes and a hammer.

Belmore said the articles were taken from the former Crispell home, now owned by Mrs. James W. Riggins, and from the home of the late Minnie Bush. All merchandise was recovered and will be returned to the proper owners.

Adviser Says Ban Could Become 'Greatest Surrender in History'

Washington, Feb. 26 (AP)—John Sherman Cooper, adviser to the State Department, said today that if Congress bars or limits sending of U. S. ground troops to Europe it may "kill the effort and the confidence" of Europeans to defend themselves against Soviet aggression.

If that happened, he said, it could well be the greatest surrender in history."

Cooper, former Republican Senator from Kentucky, was before the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees. He opposed a resolution by Senate Republican Leader Wherry of Nebraska designed to hold up any transfer of troops to Europe until Congress passes on the policy.

May Be Side-Tracked

The odds were strong that the Wherry resolution would be side-tracked in favor of a new proposal by Senators Connally (D-Tex.) and Russell (D-Ga.) Their resolution would put the Senate on record as favoring sending U. S. ground units to join the North Atlantic defense force. It also would call for keeping tab on Europe's own contributions to its defense.

They included in their resolution this provision:

"It is the sense of the Senate that, in sending additional units of ground troops to Europe, the President should make certain that our North Atlantic treaty partners are making contributions to the joint defense of western Europe commensurate with their ability, geographic position and general economic condition."

This didn't go as far, however,

Attlee Says Deputy Boss Will Be British

London, Feb. 26 (AP)—Prime Minister Attlee announced today it has been agreed that the deputy supreme commander of Atlantic pact naval forces in the Atlantic Ocean will be British.

Accordingly, Attlee told the House of Commons, he is "entirely satisfied" with the nomination of U. S. Vice Admiral William N. Fechteler to be supreme commander for the area.

Attlee made his statement in response to a loud outcry in Commons and the press which greeted word last week of Fechteler's forthcoming appointment.

Conservative Leader Winston Churchill asserted then that Britain, with its long and honorable navy tradition, had been "brushed out of the way."

Collazo Is Placed On Trial on Charge Of Killing Guard

Puerto Rican Nationalist Listens With Interest to Preliminaries in Court

Washington, Feb. 26 (AP)—Oscar Collazo went on trial for his life today on a charge of killing a White House guard during an attempt to assassinate President Truman last Nov. 1.

The 37-year-old Puerto Rican Nationalist, neatly dressed in a dark brown suit, was brought to the courtroom of Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough handcuffed and under heavy guard. The handcuffs were removed, however, as he entered the room.

Collazo sat directly behind his three court-appointed attorneys, listening with apparent interest to the trial preliminaries. Two deputy marshals sat behind him.

Courtroom Is Packed

The courtroom was jam-packed as the trial got under way. Most of the persons in the courtroom, however, were members of various jury panels who had been ordered to Judge Goldsborough's court. More than 20 prospective jurors were on hand.

Twenty-six of them were quickly excused on grounds that they had conscientious scruples against capital punishment.

Approximately 90 others also were eliminated by agreement between prosecuting and defense lawyers to excuse all government workers from duty on the jury. Government workers serve on juries here but attorneys may, through agreement, decide not to call them to the jury box.

For the most part, Collazo looked straight ahead. He turned around once when Judge Goldsborough asked about scruples against capital punishment.

Collazo faces a possible sentence of death in the electric chair if convicted on either of two counts in the indictment against him.

Plane Is Crashed

Kelheim, Germany, Feb. 26 (AP)—Two Hungarian air force mechanics fleeing Communist arrest crash-landed a stolen Russian-built training plane in western Germany last Saturday, an American official disclosed today. The 21-year-old mechanics ran out of gas and set down their plane in a wheat field near here, U. S. resident officer E. L. Owen reported.

14,000 Reds Escape Big Allied Push

US Fighter-Bombers Go After Fleeing Troops as Ground Soldiers Drive Ahead

Movements From North Indicate Buildup for New Fight

Tokyo, Feb. 26 (AP)—Doughboys of the U. S. Seventh Division knifed ahead today on the right flank of the 8th Army offensive in central Korea to a point six miles north of Pangnim.

A patrol of the crack division met rifle and anti-tank fire, but air observers reported the Reds were withdrawing.

Today's action was the first time the Seventh Division, only American unit to reach the Manchurian border, has been identified in combat since it withdrew from the Changjin reservoir to the Hungnam beachhead last December.

The American Second Division, slogging north through the mud-bound mountains on the left flank of the Seventh, reached a point 18 miles north of Chenchon, its jumping off place when "Operation Killer" began last Wednesday.

The Second and Seventh were spearheading the cautious Tenth Corps advance along the mountain spines of central Korea.

Rearguard Actions

Retreating Reds fought only rearguard actions. Nevertheless they lost another estimated 1,861 killed and wounded Sunday as United Nations forces advanced as much as 3½ miles.

The Red pullback from a threatened U.N. trap was so rapid that Lt. Gen. Edward M. Almond, Tenth Corps commander, called it "a virtual rout."

An estimated 14,000 Korean Reds escaped as a giant allied pincers bogged down in deep mud left by heavy rains and an early thaw. They continued to flee northward—in groups of 100 to 1,000—pounded by U. S. fighter-bombers.

Communists were also pressed by U.N. infantrymen, sometimes so far in advance of truck supply lines they had to get food and ammunition from air drops of Korean peasants with pack harnesses.

Stand Is Prepared

But Red buildups, truck convoys slipping down from the north at night, and new entrenchments indicated the Communists were preparing to make a stand in the mountains ahead to halt the creeping advance of the 100,000 man U.N. army.

Similar defense preparations were observed around Seoul, Red-held former South Korean capital.

Three small, but day-long fights were reported on the eastern flank near Pangnim. Pangnim, now in allied hands, is a road junction five miles north of Pyongchang. Associated Press Correspondent Nate Polowetzky reported a new Red concentration appeared to be shaping up 12 miles to the north.

Targets Are Found

Fifteen miles to the west fighter-bombers found many targets near Haanhung where large Communist concentrations were reported. An air strike ended a skirmish between an American platoon and a withdrawing North Korean force six miles northwest of Haanhung on the road to Hoengsong.

Planes and artillery helped South Koreans recapture a ridge overlooking Hoengsong, from which grenade throwing Reds had driven them the day before.

Six miles to the west, two counterattacking Chinese battalions had temporarily halted a U.N. advance Sunday. The fight was to keep the allies off the road leading from Hoengsong toward Seoul, 50 miles to the west.

In 9th Corps Sector

This is in the Ninth Corps sector where Marine Maj. Gen. Oliver P. Smith became temporary commander. He succeeds Maj. Gen. Bryant E. Moore who died Saturday after his helicopter crashed.

American tanks and infantrymen fought virtually to the outskirts of Seoul Monday but withdrew under heavy Red fire.

The foray across the Han river was made four miles east of the old burned-out South Korean capital. The American patrol forded the stream and entered into the town of Kwangjang, shot up Red

Stalin Interview Regarded As Chinese Plea Rejection

Tokyo, Feb. 26 (AP)—Stalin's recent interview with Pravda was interpreted here today as public rejection of a Chinese Communist plea to withdraw from the Korean war.

Responsible and usually informed quarters expressed belief that Mao Tze-tung, the No. 1 Chinese Communist, had gone to Moscow and had protested against Red China's heavy losses in Korea. They said he is believed to have asked for a way to end the drain on Peiping.

Stalin's answer, the informants added, was believed to be contained in the Pravda quotation which said: "If Britain and the United States reject finally the proposal made by the peoples government of China, the war in Korea can only end in defeat of the interventionist."

The sources, who cannot be identified, said this phrase was not propaganda but a clear warning to Red China that it would have to continue fighting.

At the time the Pravda interview was broadcast, Allied forces had just smashed the latest Chinese offensive aimed at Chipyong on the central front. U. N. firepower piled up a terrific casualty toll which in one action alone was estimated at 22,000 dead and wounded.

Usually informed sources said Russia has ringed Japan with perhaps a 500,000-man army and a 2,000-plane air force and, by drawing the Chinese Reds into the Ko-

National Emergency Brings New Telephone Problems

New York, Feb. 26 (AP)—The national emergency has brought a new tide of telephone demand, LeRoy A. Wilson, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., says in the annual report to stockholders.

Wilson indicated it was becoming harder to get a new telephone.

"Defense construction requirements and related problems, including shortages of copper, nickel and other essential materials, make it more difficult to meet all civilian needs," he said, "but substantial construction is programmed and every effort will be continued."

The Bell System subsidiaries of A.T. and T. added 1,955,000 telephones in 1950 to bring the system's total in operation to 35,300,000 — but they still have around 800,000 unfilled orders on hand.

Consolidated net income of the eleven and one-half billion dollar Bell System applicable to A.T. and T. stock was $346,962,051 or $12.58 a share in 1950 compared with $232,855,465 or $9.70 a share in 1949.

Income of the parent A.T. and T., including earnings of the subsidiaries only to the extent they have been received by the company as dividends, totalled $286,802,293 or $10.40 a share in 1950 against $228,003,399 or $9.49 a share in 1949.

The Bell System spent nearly $900,000,000 in 1950 in its expansion and improvement program that has cost nearly five and one-half billion dollars since the war.

The number of stockholders in the parent A.T. and T. increased during the year by 156,000 to

"Legislation is required to assure security in the state service against subversive activities," Dewey said. "I am asking the State Civil Service Commission to present a legislative program to set up procedures to assure the loyalty of state civil service personnel working sensitive areas."

Other Developments

Meanwhile, as the Legislature pointed toward adjournment March 16:

1—Odds seemed to rise against a G.O.P.-proposed state investigation of alleged underworld influence in New York city's government and Democratic politics. Some high Republican sources said Democratic district attorneys in Manhattan and Brooklyn were doing a good job uncovering corruption and other irregularities.

2—Dewey and the G.O.P. leaders discussed a pay raise formula for the state's 70,000 regular employes, whose spokesmen last week rejected an offer of $300 or 10 per cent, whichever was greater.

3—Lt. Gov. Frank C. Moore and a special commission worked on recommendations for pay increases for the state's 80,000 public school teachers.

'Rough Going' Predicted

4 — G.O.P. sources predicted "rough going" but probable approval of the Hughes-Brees bill to reduce the unemployment insurance tax rate for employers with stable employment records and to increase the maximum weekly benefit for employes from $26 to $30.

J. Edward Conway, president of the State Civil Service Commission, said members of his staff and Governor Dewey's counsel, Lawrence E. Walsh, had worked on several drafts of a proposed loyalty program for state employes.

He declined to discuss details but said "substantial progress has been made."

The loyalty program architects have been troubled in defining "sensitive areas" of state government to which the procedures would apply.

No Request Received

Republican legislative leaders, meanwhile, said they had received no request for legislative payroll records and other data from the U. S. Senate's Kefauver Crime Investigating Committee.

The committee counsel, Rudolph Talley, announced in New York city last Thursday that he wanted to see the Legislature's "whole payroll." He added that the committee was interested in "recent appointments."

G.O.P. Leader Arthur H. Wicks of the Senate reiterated that he would not honor a subpoena for the records but would allow the Kefauver staff to examine the records here in Albany.

Russia Claim Only Half of West's Power

Moscow, Feb. 26 (AP)—Russia told Britain during the week-end that she has less than half as many men under arms as the western Big Three. She added that she was ready to negotiate her differences with the British.

She made these statements in a note, published yesterday, repeating previous Soviet charges that the Attlee government "crudely tramples on the 1942 Anglo-Soviet alliance by joining the Atlantic coalition "aimed directly against the U.S.S.R."

The note declared that the forces of Britain, France and the United States total more than 5,000,000 men and that Soviet forces are less than half that size.

Regarded as Significant

Observers here regarded as significant this indication that Russia counts only about 2,500,000 men in her navy, air force and army. It is the nearest she has come in several years to offering any figures on her military strength.

It was also noted that the figure fell far below estimates of the size of the Soviet army alone that have been published in the west.

The U. S. Senate Foreign Relations Committee on Feb. 14 estimated the Soviet army at 4,000,000 men and said Russia's European satellites had another 1,000,000, as opposed to a total of 4,500,000 for all 12 Atlantic Pact nations. Red China's army is generally placed at 3,000,000.

Will Present Figures

Observers concluded from this that if the proposed Big-Four foreign ministers conference is held to discuss existing armament levels, as suggested by the west, Russia will present figures to maintain that the western powers, not she, are preparing for aggression.

The latest Soviet note was in reply to Britain's communication of Feb. 17 answering the Russian charge that Britain is violating the British-Soviet alliance of 1942.

Repeating the charge, Russia declared Britain "has fallen under the subjugation of the United States" and is being turned into an American military base by Washington's financial "handouts."

Two Hurt Slightly In Three-Car Accident

State police of the Highland station investigated a three-car accident which slightly injured two persons on Route 9W one mile north of Marlborough at 6:25 p. m. Sunday.

Frank Pizza, 37, and his wife, Carrie, 34, were treated at St. Luke's Hospital for multiple lacerations and contusions, troopers said.

Drivers could not state exactly how the accident happened, but troopers' investigation showed that apparently an automobile driven by Albert Oates, 35, of Milton struck the rear of the automobile driven by Pizza, forcing Pizza to lose control and his car to overturn on the highway. The Oates vehicle then collided with a vehicle driven by Cecil A. Shippee, 34, of Sunside, Greene county, troopers said.

All three vehicles were badly damaged. No arrests were made.

Meat Packers Threaten Strike in Wage Talks

New York, Feb. 26 (AP)—About 200,000 AFL Packinghouse Workers threaten to strike if recent wage agreements are not approved by the government.

The international executive board of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen (AFL) made the strike threat in telegrams to President Truman, Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson and Economic Stabilization head Eric Johnston.

No time limit was set on the strike threat yesterday.

Union President Earl W. Jimerson said negotiated contracts providing nine-cent hourly wage increases had been on file with the Stabilization Board since Feb. 15.

Jimerson's announcement did not mention present wage scales.

Emspak Convicted

Washington, Feb. 26 (AP)—Julius Emspak was convicted today of contempt of Congress. The national secretary of the left-wing United Electrical Workers Union was found guilty of refusing to answer questions of the House Un-American Activities Committee. He faces a possible maximum sentence of a year in jail and $10,000 fine. Emspak was the first of six UE officers to be tried on the contempt charge.

Auto Plunges Off Bridge

Four Boston skiers escaped serious injuries when their automobile crashed through a railing on the Hinsdale-Brattleboro, Vt., bridge and plunged 25 feet to the ice-covered Connecticut river at Hinsdale. The youths, Owen McEleney, 20; Paul Beichel, 21; James Boylan, 21, and John Jankun, 20, were en route to Montreal for a week-end of skiing when the accident occurred. (AP Wirephoto)

Police Arrest Two Following Crashes

Youth Is Charged With Larceny, Driving While Drunk

Police arrested two drivers over the week-end after the alleged wrecking of automobiles and a shot was fired during a chase of one of them.

Cornelius O'Neil, 17, of 147 Abeel street, was arrested on charges of second degree grand larceny and driving while intoxicated after allegedly ditching a car on West O'Reilly street Sunday.

Officers George Dougherty and Henry Ronnenberg reported at 8:15 p. m., that they were almost struck in a police patrol car by a sedan on the O'Reilly street hill by a car that was apparently out of control before it ended up in a ditch.

Officers Gave Chase

The officers said that "when they went to the aid of the driver," he attempted to run away and was apprehended after being chased "on foot" by Officer Dougherty. Ronnenberg, meanwhile, had fired a shot.

Police learned later that the car was reported missing by Joseph Mitchell, 212 Foxhall avenue, who said it had been taken from in front of Cozy Tavern. It was towed by wrecker from the

Adviser Says Ban Could Become 'Greatest Surrender in History'

Washington, Feb. 26 (AP)—John Sherman Cooper, adviser to the State Department, said today that if Congress bars or limits sending of U. S. ground troops to Europe it may "kill the effort and the confidence" of Europeans to defend themselves against Soviet aggression.

If that happened, he said, it could well be the greatest surrender in history."

Cooper, former Republican Senator from Kentucky, was before the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees. He opposed a resolution by Senate Republican Leader Wherry of Nebraska designed to hold up any transfer of troops to Europe until Congress passes on the policy.

May Be Side-Tracked

The odds were strong that the Wherry resolution would be sidetracked in favor of a new proposal by Senators Connally (D-Tex.) and Russell (D-Ga.) Their resolution would put the Senate on record as favoring sending U. S. ground units to join the North Atlantic defense force. It also would call for keeping tab on Europe's own contributions to its defense.

They included in their resolution this provision:

"It is the sense of the Senate that, in sending additional units of ground troops to Europe, the President should make certain that our North Atlantic treaty partners are making contributions to the joint defense of western Europe commensurate with their ability, geographic position and general economic condition."

This didn't go as far, however,

Indian Relic Cache Stolen by Youths Is Found in Tent

A cache of Indian relics and other items was discovered by authorities in a tent near Lucas avenue extension on Saturday.

Investigation disclosed that the items, including the tent, had been taken earlier that morning from two vacant houses in the area, and three teen-age boys were apprehended as those responsible for the thefts. County Investigator Leonard Belmore, of the sheriff's office, who made the investigation, said the matter of what action, if any, is to be taken against the youngsters is still under consideration. All are under 16 years of age.

Included in Cache

Included in the cache were two stone peacepipe bowls, one a large intricately carved piece believed to be of substantial value. Tomahawk heads, arrowheads and other items were found, along with several old coins, boxes of matches, pencils, axes and a hammer.

Belmore said the articles were taken from the former Crispell home, now owned by Mrs. James W. Riggins, and from the home of the late Minnie Bush. All merchandise was recovered and will be returned to the proper owners.

Attlee Says Deputy Boss Will Be British

London, Feb. 26 (AP)—Prime Minister Attlee announced today it has been agreed that the deputy supreme commander of Atlantic pact naval forces in the Atlantic Ocean will be British.

Accordingly, Attlee told the House of Commons, he is "entirely satisfied" with the nomination of U. S. Vice Admiral William N. Fechteler to be supreme commander for the area.

Attlee made his statement in response to a loud outcry in Commons and the press which greeted word last week of Fechteler's forthcoming appointment.

Conserative Leader Winston Churchill asserted then that Britain, with its long and honorable navy tradition, had been "brushed out of the way."

Puerto Rican Nationalist Listens With Interest to Preliminaries in Court

Washington, Feb. 26 (AP)—Oscar Collazo went on trial for his life today on a charge of killing a White House guard during an attempt to assassinate President Truman last Nov. 1.

The 37-year-old Puerto Rican Nationalist, neatly dressed in a dark brown suit, was brought to the courtroom of Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough handcuffed and under heavy guard. The handcuffs were removed, however, as he entered the room.

Collazo sat directly behind his three court-appointed attorneys, listening with apparent interest to the trial preliminaries. Two deputy marshals sat behind him.

Courtroom Is Packed

The courtroom was jam-packed as the trial got under way. Most of the persons in the courtroom, however, were members of various jury panels who had been ordered to Judge Goldsborough's court. More than 20 prospective jurors were on hand.

Twenty-six of them were quickly excused on grounds that they had conscientious scruples against capital punishment.

Approximately 90 others also were eliminated by agreement between prosecuting and defense lawyers to excuse all government workers from duty on the jury. Government workers serve on juries here but attorneys may, through agreement, decide not to call them to the jury box.

For the most part, Collazo looked straight ahead. He turned around once when Judge Goldsborough asked about scruples against capital punishment.

Collazo faces a possible sentence of death in the electric chair if convicted on either of two counts in the indictment against him.

Plane Is Crashed

Kelheim, Germany, Feb. 26 (AP) —Two Hungarian air force mechanics fleeing Communist arrest crash-landed a stolen Russian-built training plane in western Germany last Saturday, an American official disclosed today. The 21-year-old mechanics ran out of gas and set down their plane in a wheat field near here, U. S. resident officer E. L. Owen reported.

National Emergency Brings New Telephone Problems

New York, Feb. 26 (AP)—The national emergency has brought a new tide of telephone demand, LeRoy A. Wilson, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., says in the annual report to stockholders.

Wilson indicated it was becoming harder to get a new telephone.

"Defense construction requirements and related problems, including shortages of copper, nickel and other essential materials, make it more difficult to meet all civilian needs," he said, "but substantial construction is programmed and every effort will be continued."

The Bell System subsidiaries of A.T. and T. added 1,955,000 telephones in 1950 to bring the system's total in operation to 35,300,000 — but they still have around 800,000 unfilled orders on hand.

Consolidated net income of the eleven and one-half billion dollar Bell System applicable to A.T. and T. stock was $346,962,051 or $12.58 a share in 1950 compared with $232,855,465 or $9.70 a share in 1949.

Income of the parent A.T. and T., including earnings of the subsidiaries only to the extent they have been received by the company as dividends, totalled $286,802,293 or $10.40 a share in 1950 against $228,003,399 or $9.49 a share in 1949.

The Bell System spent nearly $900,000,000 in 1950 in its expansion and improvement program that has cost nearly five and one-half billion dollars since the war.

The number of stockholders in the parent A.T. and T. increased during the year by 156,000 to

Movements From North Indicate Buildup for New Fight

Tokyo, Feb. 26 (AP)—Doughboys of the U. S. Seventh Division knifed ahead today on the right flank of the 8th Army offensive in central Korea to a point six miles north of Pangnim.

A patrol of the crack division met rifle and anti-tank fire, but air observers reported the Reds were withdrawing.

Today's action was the first time the Seventh Division, only American unit to reach the Manchurian border, has been identified in combat since it withdrew from the Changjin reservoir to the Hungnam beachhead last December.

The American Second Division, slogging north through the mud-bound mountains on the left flank of the Seventh, reached a point 18 miles north of Chenchon, its jumping off place when "Operation Killer" began last Wednesday.

The Second and Seventh were spearheading the cautious Tenth Corps advance along the mountain spines of central Korea.

Rearguard Actions

Retreating Reds fought only rearguard actions. Nevertheless they lost another estimated 1,861 killed and wounded Sunday as United Nations forces advanced as much as 3½ miles.

The Red pullback from a threatened U.N. trap was so rapid that Lt. Gen. Edward M. Almond, Tenth Corps commander, called it "a virtual rout."

An estimated 14,000 Korean Reds escaped as a giant allied pincers bogged down in deep mud left by heavy rains and an early thaw. They continued to flee northward—in groups of 100 to 1,000—pounded by U. S. fighter-bombers.

Communists were also pressed by U.N. infantrymen, sometimes so far in advance of truck supply lines they had to get food and ammunition from air drops of Korean peasants with pack harnesses.

Stand Is Prepared

But Red buildups, truck convoys slipping down from the north at night, and new entrenchments indicated the Communists were preparing to make a stand in the mountains ahead to halt the creeping advance of the 100,000 man U.N. army.

Similar defense preparations were observed around Seoul, Red-held former South Korean capital.

Three small, but day-long fights were reported on the eastern flank near Pangnim. Pangnim, now in allied hands, is a road junction five miles north of Pyongchang. Associated Press Correspondent Nate Polowetzky reported a new Red concentration appeared to be shaping up 12 miles to the north.

Targets Are Found

Fifteen miles to the west fighter-bombers found many targets near Haanhung where large Communist concentrations were reported. An air strike ended a skirmish between an American platoon and a withdrawing North Korean force six miles northwest of Haanhung on the road to Hoengsong.

Planes and artillery helped South Koreans recapture a ridge overlooking Hoengsong, from which grenade throwing Reds had driven them the day before.

Six miles to the west, two counterattacking Chinese battalions had temporarily halted a U.N. advance Sunday. The fight was to keep the allies off the road leading from Hoengsong toward Seoul, 50 miles to the west.

In 9th Corps Sector

This is in the Ninth Corps sector where Marine Maj. Gen. Oliver P. Smith became temporary commander. He succeeds Maj. Gen. Bryant E. Moore who died Saturday after his helicopter crashed.

American tanks and infantrymen fought virtually to the outskirts of Seoul Monday but withdrew under heavy Red fire.

The foray across the Han river was made four miles east of the old burned-out South Korean capital. The American patrol forded the stream and entered into the town of Kwangjang, shot up Red

Stalin Interview Regarded As Chinese Plea Rejection

Tokyo, Feb. 26 (AP)—Stalin's recent interview with Pravda was interpreted here today as public rejection of a Chinese Communist plea to withdraw from the Korean war.

Responsible and usually informed quarters expressed belief that Mao Tze-tung, the No. 1 Chinese Communist, had gone to Moscow and had protested against Red China's heavy losses in Korea. They said he is believed to have asked for a way to end the drain on Peiping.

Stalin's answer, the informants added, was believed to be contained in the Pravda quotation which said: "If Britain and the United States reject finally the proposal made by the peoples government of China, the war in Korea can only end in defeat of the interventionist."

The sources, who cannot be identified, said this phrase was not propaganda but a clear warning to Red China that it would have to continue fighting.

At the time the Pravda interview was broadcast, Allied forces had just smashed the latest Chinese offensive aimed at Chipyong on the central front. U. N. firepower piled up a terrific casualty toll which in one action alone was estimated at 22,000 dead and wounded.

Usually informed sources said Russia has ringed Japan with perhaps a 500,000-man army and a 2,000-plane air force and, by drawing the Chinese Reds into the Ko-

Switz Served U. S. As Counter-Spy 12 Years Upon Reds

His Widow Tells of Assisting Congress, F.B.I., After Return Here in 1938, to Uncover Russian Spying Activities in United States

Mrs. Marjorie T. Switz, of Hurley, widow of Robert Gordon Switz, 46, who died in Kingston Hospital January 23 of a cerebral hemorrhage, said flatly today neither she nor her husband ever had been Communists, but instead served the United States patriotically in counter-espionage.

In addition Mrs. Switz gave The Freeman a prepared statement, which she reported had been made ready after consultation with the Federal Bureau of Investigation in New York.

Served as Counter-Spies

Both she and her husband, Mrs. Switz said, worked for 12 years with the United States Government in counter-espionage against Russian spy organizations. She cited her husband particularly for "giving his best energies and literally thousands of hours of his time to assist them (the government) in their work of counter-espionage." He was, she said, an ardent anti-Communist.

No Connection With Hiss

The statement by Mrs. Switz was prompted by the January 16 article by Walter Winchell, New York Mirror columnist, in which it was reported that Switz had been a member of the same Communist underground organization as Alger Hiss, convicted perjurer.

In the interview Mrs. Switz admitted both her husband's and her former connection with a Communist underground organization, but said at no time did she or her husband ever know Hiss.

Winchell in his column said Switz had been arrested in Paris in 1933 by the French Duexieme Bureau, and that secret military information was found in his possession, including detailed plans of the Maginot Line defenses.

Evidence Was 'Planted'

Mrs. Switz said the material pertaining to the Maginot Line, and other military information, was "planted" in their hotel room in Paris, because the police needed evidence to secure their arrest as Communist agents. For some time prior to their seizure, Mrs. Switz said she and her husband had been trying to get out of the web of international intrigue set up by the Soviets.

As a result of their arrest both

Pay Raise Ceiling May Go Upward For Great Majority

Eric Johnston Reported Ready to Sign New Formula; Nothing Drastic Seen

Washington, Feb. 26 (AP) — The month-old ceiling on pay raises may be pried upward a little today or tomorrow for the great majority of wage earners.

Eric Johnston, head of the Economic Stabilization Agency, was reported about ready to sign the pending 10 per cent "catch-up" formula, and informed officials predicted that in doing so he would order this further relaxation:

Wage boosts provided in "escalator" clauses would be honored up to June 30, provided they were written into contracts signed before the wage-prize freeze of a month ago.

However, aides of Johnston cautioned against reports there would be any "extensive" alternative of the formula set to him 10 days ago by a 6-3 vote of the Wage Stabilization Board headed by Cyrus S. Ching.

Would Allow Increase

That formula would permit an increase of up to 10 per cent between January 15, 1951 and mid-year, when a review is scheduled, with revision if that is found necessary.

After days of behind-scenes meetings involving Johnston, Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson, wage board members and labor leaders, Johnston was reported to be "well along" toward a decision.

An announcement this afternoon or tomorrow is probable, some officials said. They did not disclose whether the reported relaxation of the formula is being made with or without approval of the wage board.

Neither did they predict any immediate decision affecting the controversy-riddled wage board itself. The board's three labor members resigned in protest against the 10 per cent formula. They had held out for 12 per cent.

With only its three public and three industry members remaining, the board is considered to be virtually impotent to command labor compliance with future policy decisions on wage ceilings — and disputes arising under them.

State Tax Aid Will Be Available

Representatives of the State Income Tax Bureau will again visit Kingston this year to assist state income taxpayers with preparation of their returns for 1950, George P. Klein, director of the bureau said today.

The tax experts will be at the Ulster County Court House, Wall street, February 26 through March 3 and April 2 through April 16.

State income tax returns must be filed on or before April 16 by single persons who had net income and net capital gain of $1,000 or more last year and by married couples who had net income and net capital gain of $2,500 or more.

Washington, Feb. 26 (AP) — The position of the treasury Feb. 21. Net budget receipts $202,359,874,96. Budget expenditures $161,970,491.88. Cash balance $5,539,231,776.81. House Committee May Probe Reports

Communists Are Entering as Farm Laborers, Group Is Told

Washington, Feb. 26 (AP)—The House Un-American Activities Committee may investigate reports that Communist agents are slipping into the United States from Mexico in the garb of imported farm laborers.

Chairman Wood (D.-Ga.) said today information had reached him that a "serious situation" appeared to have arisen in the far west and especially in California, where Mexican nationals cross the border legally for work in the fruit and vegetable fields.

Wood said two committee investigators now in the Los Angeles area may be directed to investigate the reports while laying the groundwork for an inquiry into possible Communist influences in the motion picture industry.

Tests Ahead For Certain State Aides

Probe May Drop

New York Investigation Might Be Passed Due to Job Underway

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 26 (AP)—Governor Dewey and his Republican legislative strategists reportedly mapped plans today to set up "loyalty" tests for state employes in "sensitive areas."

There was no indication of the type of procedure under consideration as Dewey and the G.O.P. leaders went into a huddle to discuss unsettled legislative problems.

An informed source said the loyalty program would require legislation and would not be undertaken by executive order.

In his annual message to the lawmakers Jan. 3, Dewey called for "security" legislation as part of his far-flung civil defense program.

"Legislation is required to assure security in the state service against subversive activities," Dewey said. "I am asking the State Civil Service Commission to present a legislative program to set up procedures to assure the loyalty of state civil service personnel working sensitive areas."

Other Developments

Meanwhile, as the Legislature pointed toward adjournment March 16:

1—Odds seemed to rise against a G.O.P.-proposed state investigation of alleged underworld influence in New York city's government and Democratic politics. 3—Lt. Gov. Frank C. Moore and a special commission worked on recommendations for pay increases for the state's 80,000 public school teachers.

'Rough Going' Predicted

4 — G.O.P. sources predicted "rough going" but probable approval of the Hughes-Brees bill to reduce the unemployment insurance tax rate for employers with stable employment records and to increase the maximum weekly benefit for employes from $26 to $30.

J. Edward Conway, president of the State Civil Service Commission, said members of his staff and Governor Dewey's counsel, Lawrence E. Walsh, had worked on several drafts of a proposed loyalty program for state employes.

He declined to discuss details but said "substantial progress has been made."

The loyalty program architects have been troubled in defining "sensitive areas" of state government to which the procedures would apply.

No Request Received

Republican legislative leaders, meanwhile, said they had received no request for legislative payroll records and other data from the U. S. Senate's Kefauver Crime Investigating Committee.

The committee counsel, Rudolph Talley, announced in New York city last Thursday that he wanted to see the Legislature's "whole payroll." He added that the committee was interested in "recent appointments."

G.O.P. Leader Arthur H. Wicks of the Senate reiterated that he would not honor a subpoena for the records but would allow the Kefauver staff to examine the records here in Albany.

Russia Claim Only Half of West's Power

Moscow, Feb. 26 (AP)—Russia told Britain during the week-end that she has less than half as many men under arms as the western Big Three. She added that she was ready to negotiate her differences with the British.

She made these statements in a note, published yesterday, repeating previous Soviet charges that the Attlee government "crudely tramples on the 1942 Anglo-Soviet alliance by joining the Atlantic coalition "aimed directly against the U.S.S.R."

The note declared that the forces of Britain, France and the United States total more than 5,000,000 men and that Soviet forces are less than half that size.

Regarded as Significant

Observers here regarded as significant this indication that Russia counts only about 2,500,000 men in her navy, air force and army. It is the nearest she has come in several years to offering any figures on her military strength.

It was also noted that the figure fell far below estimates of the size of the Soviet army alone that have been published in the west.

The U. S. Senate Foreign Relations Committee on Feb. 14 estimated the Soviet army at 4,000,000 men and said Russia's European satellites had another 1,000,000, as opposed to a total of 4,500,000 for all 12 Atlantic Pact nations. Red China's army is generally placed at 3,000,000.

Will Present Figures

Observers concluded from this that if the proposed Big-Four foreign ministers conference is held to discuss existing armament levels, as suggested by the west, Russia will present figures to maintain that the western powers, not she, are preparing for aggression.

The latest Soviet note was in reply to Britain's communication of Feb. 17 answering the Russian charge that Britain is violating the British-Soviet alliance of 1942.

Repeating the charge, Russia declared Britain "has fallen under the subjugation of the United States" and is being turned into an American military base by Washington's financial "handouts."

Two Hurt Slightly In Three-Car Accident

State police of the Highland station investigated a three-car accident which slightly injured two persons on Route 9W one mile north of Marlborough at 6:25 p. m. Sunday.

Police Arrest Two Following Crashes

Youth Is Charged With Larceny, Driving While Drunk

Police arrested two drivers over the week-end after the alleged wrecking of automobiles and a shot was fired during a chase of one of them.

Cornelius O'Neil, 17, of 147 Abeel street, was arrested on charges of second degree grand larceny and driving while intoxicated after allegedly ditching a car on West O'Reilly street Sunday.

Officers George Dougherty and Henry Ronnenberg reported at 8:15 p. m., that they were almost struck in a police patrol car by a sedan on the O'Reilly street hill by a car that was apparently out of control before it ended up in a ditch.

Officers Gave Chase

The officers said that "when they went to the aid of the driver," he attempted to run away and was apprehended after being chased "on foot" by Officer Dougherty. Ronnenberg, meanwhile, had fired a shot.

Police learned later that the car was reported missing by Joseph Mitchell, 212 Foxhall avenue, who said it had been taken from in front of Cozy Tavern. It was towed by wrecker from the

Indian Relic Cache Stolen by Youths Is Found in Tent

A cache of Indian relics and other items was discovered by authorities in a tent near Lucas avenue extension on Saturday.

Investigation disclosed that the items, including the tent, had been taken earlier that morning from two vacant houses in the area, and three teen-age boys were apprehended as those responsible for the thefts. County Investigator Leonard Belmore, of the sheriff's office, who made the investigation, said the matter of what action, if any, is to be taken against the youngsters is still under consideration. All are under 16 years of age.

Included in Cache

Included in the cache were two stone peacepipe bowls, one a large intricately carved piece believed to be of substantial value. Tomahawk heads, arrowheads and other items were found, along with several old coins, boxes of matches, pencils, axes and a hammer.

Belmore said the articles were taken from the former Crispell home, now owned by Mrs. James W. Riggins, and from the home of the late Minnie Bush. All merchandise was recovered and will be returned to the proper owners.

Adviser Says Ban Could Become 'Greatest Surrender in History'

Washington, Feb. 26 (AP)—John Sherman Cooper, adviser to the State Department, said today that if Congress bars or limits sending of U. S. ground troops to Europe it may "kill the effort and the confidence" of Europeans to defend themselves against Soviet aggression.

If that happened, he said, it could well be the greatest surrender in history."

Cooper, former Republican Senator from Kentucky, was before the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees. He opposed a resolution by Senate Republican Leader Wherry of Nebraska designed to hold up any transfer of troops to Europe until Congress passes on the policy.

May Be Side-Tracked

The odds were strong that the Wherry resolution would be sidetracked in favor of a new proposal by Senators Connally (D-Tex.) and Russell (D-Ga.) Their resolution would put the Senate on record as favoring sending U. S. ground units to join the North Atlantic defense force. It also would call for keeping tab on Europe's own contributions to its defense.

They included in their resolution this provision:

"It is the sense of the Senate that, in sending additional units of ground troops to Europe, the President should make certain that our North Atlantic treaty partners are making contributions to the joint defense of western Europe commensurate with their ability, geographic position and general economic condition."

This didn't go as far, however,

Attlee Says Deputy Boss Will Be British

London, Feb. 26 (AP)—Prime Minister Attlee announced today it has been agreed that the deputy supreme commander of Atlantic pact naval forces in the Atlantic Ocean will be British.

Accordingly, Attlee told the House of Commons, he is "entirely satisfied" with the nomination of U. S. Vice Admiral William N. Fechteler to be supreme commander for the area.

Attlee made his statement in response to a loud outcry in Commons and the press which greeted word last week of Fechteler's forthcoming appointment.

Conserative Leader Winston Churchill asserted then that Britain, with its long and honorable navy tradition, had been "brushed out of the way."

Collazo Is Placed On Trial on Charge Of Killing Guard

Puerto Rican Nationalist Listens With Interest to Preliminaries in Court

Washington, Feb. 26 (AP)—Oscar Collazo went on trial for his life today on a charge of killing a White House guard during an attempt to assassinate President Truman last Nov. 1.

The 37-year-old Puerto Rican Nationalist, neatly dressed in a dark brown suit, was brought to the courtroom of Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough handcuffed and under heavy guard. The handcuffs were removed, however, as he entered the room.

Collazo sat directly behind his three court-appointed attorneys, listening with apparent interest to the trial preliminaries. Two deputy marshals sat behind him.

Courtroom Is Packed

The courtroom was jam-packed as the trial got under way. Most of the persons in the courtroom, however, were members of various jury panels who had been ordered to Judge Goldsborough's court. More than 20 prospective jurors were on hand.

Twenty-six of them were quickly excused on grounds that they had conscientious scruples against capital punishment.

Approximately 90 others also were eliminated by agreement between prosecuting and defense lawyers to excuse all government workers from duty on the jury. Government workers serve on juries here but attorneys may, through agreement, decide not to call them to the jury box.

For the most part, Collazo looked straight ahead. He turned around once when Judge Goldsborough asked about scruples against capital punishment.

Collazo faces a possible sentence of death in the electric chair if convicted on either of two counts in the indictment against him.

Plane Is Crashed

Kelheim, Germany, Feb. 26 (AP)—Two Hungarian air force mechanics fleeing Communist arrest crash-landed a stolen Russian-built training plane in western Germany last Saturday, an American official disclosed today. The 21-year-old mechanics ran out of gas and set down their plane in a wheat field near here, U. S. resident officer E. L. Owen reported.

National Emergency Brings New Telephone Problems

New York, Feb. 26 (AP)—The national emergency has brought a new tide of telephone demand, LeRoy A. Wilson, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., says in the annual report to stockholders.

Wilson indicated it was becoming harder to get a new telephone.

"Defense construction requirements and related problems, including shortages of copper, nickel and other essential materials, make it more difficult to meet all civilian needs," he said, "but substantial construction is programmed and every effort will be continued."

The Bell System subsidiaries of A.T. and T. added 1,955,000 telephones in 1950 to bring the system's total in operation to 35,300,000 — but they still have around 800,000 unfilled orders on hand.

Consolidated net income of the eleven and one-half billion dollar Bell System applicable to A.T. and T. stock was $346,962,051 or $12.58 a share in 1950 compared with $232,855,465 or $9.70 a share in 1949.

Income of the parent A.T. and T., including earnings of the subsidiaries only to the extent they have been received by the company as dividends, totalled $286,802,293 or $10.40 a share in 1950 against $228,003,399 or $9.49 a share in 1949.

The Bell System spent nearly $900,000,000 in 1950 in its expansion and improvement program that has cost nearly five and one-half billion dollars since the war.

The number of stockholders in the parent A.T. and T. increased during the year by 156,000 to

14,000 Reds Escape Big Allied Push

Stand Is Prepared

Movements From North Indicate Buildup for New Fight

Tokyo, Feb. 26 (AP)—Doughboys of the U. S. Seventh Division knifed ahead today on the right flank of the 8th Army offensive in central Korea to a point six miles north of Pangnim.

A patrol of the crack division met rifle and anti-tank fire, but air observers reported the Reds were withdrawing.

Today's action was the first time the Seventh Division, only American unit to reach the Manchurian border, has been identified in combat since it withdrew from the Changjin reservoir to the Hungnam beachhead last December.

The American Second Division, slogging north through the mud-bound mountains on the left flank of the Seventh, reached a point 18 miles north of Chenchon, its jumping off place when "Operation Killer" began last Wednesday.

The Second and Seventh were spearheading the cautious Tenth Corps advance along the mountain spines of central Korea.

Rearguard Actions

Retreating Reds fought only rearguard actions. Nevertheless they lost another estimated 1,861 killed and wounded Sunday as United Nations forces advanced as much as 3½ miles.

The Red pullback from a threatened U.N. trap was so rapid that Lt. Gen. Edward M. Almond, Tenth Corps commander, called it "a virtual rout."

An estimated 14,000 Korean Reds escaped as a giant allied pincers bogged down in deep mud left by heavy rains and an early thaw. They continued to flee northward—in groups of 100 to 1,000—pounded by U. S. fighter-bombers.

Communists were also pressed by U.N. infantrymen, sometimes so far in advance of truck supply lines they had to get food and ammunition from air drops of Korean peasants with pack harnesses.

Stand Is Prepared

But Red buildups, truck convoys slipping down from the north at night, and new entrenchments indicated the Communists were preparing to make a stand in the mountains ahead to halt the creeping advance of the 100,000 man U.N. army.

Similar defense preparations were observed around Seoul, Red-held former South Korean capital.

Three small, but day-long fights were reported on the eastern flank near Pangnim. Pangnim, now in allied hands, is a road junction five miles north of Pyongchang. Associated Press Correspondent Nate Polowetzky reported a new Red concentration appeared to be shaping up 12 miles to the north.

Targets Are Found

Fifteen miles to the west fighter-bombers found many targets near Haanhung where large Communist concentrations were reported. An air strike ended a skirmish between an American platoon and a withdrawing North Korean force six miles northwest of Haanhung on the road to Hoengsong.

Planes and artillery helped South Koreans recapture a ridge overlooking Hoengsong, from which grenade throwing Reds had driven them the day before.

Six miles to the west, two counterattacking Chinese battalions had temporarily halted a U.N. advance Sunday. The fight was to keep the allies off the road leading from Hoengsong toward Seoul, 50 miles to the west.

In 9th Corps Sector

This is in the Ninth Corps sector where Marine Maj. Gen. Oliver P. Smith became temporary commander. He succeeds Maj. Gen. Bryant E. Moore who died Saturday after his helicopter crashed.

American tanks and infantrymen fought virtually to the outskirts of Seoul Monday but withdrew under heavy Red fire.

The foray across the Han river was made four miles east of the old burned-out South Korean capital. The American patrol forded the stream and entered into the town of Kwangjang, shot up Red

1951 Easter Seals Symbolize Help to Crippled Children

A helping hand dominates the 1951 Easter Seal, it was disclosed today by Clarence W. Dumm, Ulster County chairman fof the 1951 Easter Seal Appeal for Crippled Ghildren.

In this advance description of the colorful seals, which have been mailed to more than twenty-six and a half million American homes, Mr. Dumm said that the seal shows a little crippled girl reaching up to grasp a helping adult hand. The adult hand is symbolic of the help given crippled children by the American people through their Easter Seal contributions. The seal also bears the slogan "Help Crippled Children."

Two and a half million sheets of these seals will be mailed to residents of New York State, Mr. Dumm declared. It was pointed out that for weeks and months a staff of a hundred and forty-eight handicapped persons have been kept busy preparing the Annual Easter Seal Appeal letters for mailing.

The state-wide Easter Seal Appeal, which is conducted by the New York State Association for Crippled Children, Inc., is part of a nationwide campaign to provide funds to help fill the unmet needs of the handicapped. During the past year the New York State Association for Crippled Children provided technical personnel, grants, or special equipment to sixteen centers throughout the state. Among these were the Hudson River Speech Center at Tarrytown, the Cerebral Palsy Treatment Center of the Cerebral Palsy Association of the Capital District in Albany, and the Lenox Hill Hospital Cerebral Palsy Pre-School Treatment Center in New York City.

Gard Is Questioned

New York, Feb. 26 (AP)—Edward Gard, former Long Island University basketball team captain and accused go-between in the big "fix" scandal, was under new questioning today by investigators. Gard has been in protective custody at his own request since his arrest a week ago in the cage bribery plot. With a grand jury now hearing evidence in the case, Gard was called in for interviews with Assistant District Attorney Vincent A. G. O'Connor. Ed Roman, star of the City College of New York's team, also was scheduled for new questioning.

Rationing Is Resumed

Prague, Czechoslovakia, Feb. 26 (AP)—Persistent wheat shortages brought a return of bread and flour rationing today to Czechoslovakia for the first time since September, 1949. This week's ration was set at 2.2 pounds of flour, 3.3 pounds of bread and 1.1 pounds of rolls. A free market, selling all three in unrestricted quantities but at prices much higher than the rationed items, also will be allowed to operate.

First Brush Fire Checked

Fast on the heels of last week's spring-like weather came the season's first reported brush fire. The fire broke out about 11 a. m. Sunday on the Calvin Swart property on the Flatbush road, Route 32, and was discovered by Miss Guido DiMicco, who summoned the East Kingston Fire Department, according to Fire Chief James Costello. A booster line was used in extinguishing the blaze, and no damage was reported except to the brush. Chief Costello listed the probable cause as a cigarette thrown from a passing vehicle. Someone also summoned Ulster Hose Company, which responded but was not needed, Chief Costello said.

New York, Feb. 26 (AP)—A score of investigators from the regional office of Price Stabilization today began a price checkup on used car dealers in the New York metropolitan area. James G. Lyons, acting director of the regional office, said the survey was to determine that price ceilings on cars were being enforced. New York, Feb. 26 (AP)—Jack Jeavons, 45, of 6 North Eighth avenue, Mount Vernon, N. Y., a wire repair man employed on the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad, was killed by a train while on the job this morning. Police said Jeavons apparently failed to step back far enough when a Washington-to-Boston train went past at 2:50 a. m. He had been working with a crew repairing wires near Wilkinson avenue, the Bronx, on the Hell Gate route connecting road which joins Pennsylvania Station with the New Haven's Shore Line.

The Shandaken tunnel which at times diverts water from the Schoharie Creek and Mohawk river to the great Ashokan Reservoir, was formally opened 27 years ago this month. The 18.2 mile conduit, through which a freight train could run shoots Gilboa water into the upper Esopus at the rate of 600 million gallons a day; it took eight years to build, and a half million pounds of dynamite was used to blast out over half a million cubic yards of rock. Cement used in what once was the longest tunnel in the world would fill a train 20 miles long.

Skiles was before a Senate investigating committee which is digging into conflicting stories from Bohannon and E. Merle Young of Washington as to who first suggested to whom that the granting of the loan might be influenced for a fee. Bohannon testified last week that Young proposed to help him for an $85,000 fee. Young denied that. He said Bohannon approached him. Both agreed they never made a deal.

Gardner Lands Back in Jail

Clinton Gardner, 38, was returned to the Ulster county jail Friday afternoon to finish serving a 90-day sentence which was interrupted when he took advantage of the fact that he was a trusty and escaped through a rear window in the court house on January 18, the sheriff's office reported.

Gardner was arrested by Kingston police on January 3 on a public intoxication charge, and was given a 90-day sentence on January 4. He was sought for about a week following his escape on January 18, until Albany authorities reported he was in jail in that city on another public intoxication charge. He was returned here on completion of his 30-day term in Albany.

Committed to finish his term, he was also arraigned before County Judge John M. Cashin as a magistrate and was ordered to face grand jury action on an escape charge, an indictable misdemeanor.

Hearings to Open In New York City

New York, Feb. 26 (AP)—The U. S. Senate Crime Investigating Committee, probing the nation's vice and rackets activities, will open a week of public hearings here March 12.

The committee's chief counsel, Rudolph Halley, said more than 50 witnesses, including former Mayor William O'Dwyer, would be called before the body.

The crime probers, Halley said, will delve into these subjects: Waterfront rackets, political links with criminals, gambling, gangster infiltration into legitimate business, narcotics, and the Mafia, an underworld organization imported from Sicily.

Halley said that other witnesses besides O'Dwyer—now U. S. As long ago as 1948, the Federal Reserve Board estimated that about 9,000,000 Americans held stock in our country's corporations. Other estimates range as high as 20,000,000.

A big public utility company recently announced that its stock is held by 1 out of every 50 families in the United States.

No wonder newspaper reports of transactions on the New York Stock Exchange interest millions of Americans. It's their companies they're reading about.

These Americans have discovered an important fact: investing in stock is a satisfying way to put surplus savings to work. They've found that money invested in stock, besides earning dividends, gives them a sense of sharing in the achievements of American production.

If you've ever wondered about owning stock—how much money you need, how it's done, what it means—come in to see us for a few minutes some day. We'll be glad to answer your questions.

1951 Easter Seals Symbolize Help to Crippled Children

A helping hand dominates the 1951 Easter Seal, it was disclosed today by Clarence W. Dumm, Ulster County chairman for the 1951 Easter Seal Appeal for Crippled Ghildren.

In this advance description of the colorful seals, which have been mailed to more than twenty-six and a half million American homes, Mr. Dumm said that the seal shows a little crippled girl reaching up to grasp a helping adult hand. The adult hand is symbolic of the help given crippled children by the American people through their Easter Seal contributions. The seal also bears the slogan "Help Crippled Children."

Two and a half million sheets of these seals will be mailed to residents of New York State, Mr. Dumm declared. It was pointed out that for weeks and months a staff of a hundred and forty-eight handicapped persons have been kept busy preparing the Annual Easter Seal Appeal letters for mailing.

The state-wide Easter Seal Appeal, which is conducted by the New York State Association for Crippled Children, Inc., is part of a nationwide campaign to provide funds to help fill the unmet needs of the handicapped. During the past year the New York State Association for Crippled Children provided technical personnel, grants, or special equipment to sixteen centers throughout the state. Among these were the Hudson River Speech Center at Tarrytown, the Cerebral Palsy Treatment Center of the Cerebral Palsy Association of the Capital District in Albany, and the Lenox Hill Hospital Cerebral Palsy Pre-School Treatment Center in New York City.

Gardner was arrested by Kingston police on January 3 on a public intoxication charge, and was given a 90-day sentence on January 4. He was sought for about a week following his escape on January 18, until Albany authorities reported he was in jail in that city on another public intoxication charge. He was returned here on completion of his 30-day term in Albany.

Committed to finish his term, he was also arraigned before County Judge John M. Cashin as a magistrate and was ordered to face grand jury action on an escape charge, an indictable misdemeanor.

Hearings to Open In New York City

New York, Feb. 26 (AP)—The U. S. Senate Crime Investigating Committee, probing the nation's vice and rackets activities, will open a week of public hearings here March 12.

The crime probers, Halley said, will delve into these subjects: Waterfront rackets, political links with criminals, gambling, gangster infiltration into legitimate business, narcotics, and the Mafia, an underworld organization imported from Sicily.

Halley said that other witnesses besides O'Dwyer—now U. S. Ambassador to Mexico—will include gambler Frank Costello, underworld figure Joe Adonis, Joseph Profaci, olive oil importer, Thomas (Three-Finger) Brown, Virginia Hill, friend of the late Benjamin "Bugsy" Siegel, and Albert and Anthony Anastasia, waterfront figures.

Halley asserted that the committee had not yet decided whether to call Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri, State Industrial Commissioner Edward Corsi, or Official Referee Ferdinand Pecora.

Rationing Is Resumed

EVERY ONE A SOLDIER—A tiny battle line of miniature soldiers is the shrine that Mrs. Edna Koch has created in the front window of her home in Detroit. Each wooden soldier represents a real soldier. Those on the left represent Mrs. Koch's son, Roy, and his buddies fighting in Korea. Figures to the right of the angel are for two other sons and the neighbor boys serving in this country. A light in the tiny church at left shines night and day.

Merle Young of Washington as to who first suggested to whom that the granting of the loan might be influenced for a fee. ALKALINES

Without my permission . . . an acid condition
Quite suddenly made itself known
The following morning, I heeded the warning
To build up an alkaline tone.

It's hard being placid . . . when systems are acid
According to pamphlets we read
And by the same token . . . our ailments are broken
By filling the alkaline need.

For weeks I existed on foods that were listed
And banished the starches I crave;
I daily grew thinner for lack of a dinner.
To make my digestion behave.

By chance I was reading . . . how very misleading
These alkaline diets can be;
A little is splendid . . . if there it is ended
(Which sounded like music to me.)

I'm eating my starches . . . and stealing the marches
That pamphlets had warned me about
I wouldn't be quoted . . . but this much I've noted . . .
If I'm feeling so well I could shout!

Financial and Commercial

New York, Feb. 26 (AP) — The stock market clung to a steady course today with the aid of selected automotive, aircraft and utilty shares.

Dealings were at a relatively slow pace. Gains and losses were about equal, but only a few extended to a dollar a share or more.

Despite a generally favorable diet of week-end news developments, many traders were inclined to be wary of large committments, awaiting the disclosure in Washington of a new formula for relaxing wage ceilings.

Chrysler was a feature of the motors, with a rise of as much as 2 points at times. Other auto shares held pretty close to previous levels.

American Telephone climbed in response to the report of record 1950 earnings. International telephone also advanced, along with American Cable and Radio which it controls.

Others ahead at times included Douglas Aircraft, Consolidated Vultee, Westinghouse Electric, Johns-Manville, Trans World Airline, Goodyear, U. S. Rubber, du-Pont, American Cyanamid and Sears Roebuck.

Copper mining issues were depressed, including Anaconda Copper, Kennecott, American Smelting and Phelps Dodge. Others lower were U. S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Southern Oil (N. J.), Allied Chemical, Montgomery Ward, and Air Reduction.

Gardner Lands Back in Jail

Clinton Gardner, 38, was returned to the Ulster county jail Friday afternoon to finish serving a 90-day sentence which was interrupted when he took advantage of the fact that he was a trusty and escaped through a rear window in the court house on January 18, the sheriff's office reported.

Gardner was arrested by Kingston police on January 3 on a public intoxication charge, and was given a 90-day sentence on January 4. He was sought for about a week following his escape on January 18, until Albany authorities reported he was in jail in that city on another public intoxication charge. He was returned here on completion of his 30-day term in Albany.

Committed to finish his term, he was also arraigned before County Judge John M. Cashin as a magistrate and was ordered to face grand jury action on an escape charge, an indictable misdemeanor.

Hearings to Open In New York City

New York, Feb. 26 (AP)— The U. S. Senate Crime Investigating Committee, probing the nation's vice and rackets activities, will open a week of public hearings here March 12.

The committee's chief counsel, Rudolph Halley, said more than 50 witnesses, including former Mayor William O'Dwyer, would be called before the body.

The crime probers, Halley said, will delve into these subjects: Waterfront rackets, political links with criminals, gambling, gangster infiltration into legitimate business, narcotics, and the Mafia, an underworld organization imported from Sicily.

Halley said that other witnesses besides O'Dwyer—now U. S. Ambassador to Mexico—will include gambler Frank Costello, underworld figure Joe Adonis, Joseph Profaci, olive oil importer, Thomas (Three-Finger) Brown, Virginia Hill, friend of the late Benjamin "Bugsy" Siegel and Albert and Anthony Anastasia, waterfront figures.

Halley asserted that the committee had not yet decided whether to call Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri, State Industrial Commissioner Edward Corsi or Official Referee Ferdinand Pecora.

Greek to you?
. . . it shouldn't be!

As long ago as 1948, the Federal Reserve Board estimated that about 9,000,000 Americans held stock in our country's corporations. Other estimates range as high as 20,000,000.

A big public utility company recently announced that its stock is held by 1 out of every 50 families in the United States.

No wonder newspaper reports of transactions on the New York Stock Exchange interest millions of Americans. It's their companies they're reading about.

These Americans have discovered an important fact: investing in stock is a satisfying way to put surplus savings to work. They've found that money invested in stock, besides earning dividends, gives them a sense of sharing in the achievements of American production.

If you've ever wondered about owning stock—how much money you need, how it's done, what it means—come in to see us for a few minutes some day. We'll be glad to answer your questions.

Texans Settle Old Feud Frontier Way

Mineola, Tex., Feb. 26 (AP)—Two tough Texans settled a mysterious feud in frontier fashion with blazing guns that left both dead.

Standing ten feet apart in a hotel cafe early yesterday they shot it out before just one witness—a wide-eyed waitress.

The gunfighters were Rufus Browning, 55, a cattle dealer, and Joe Henderson, 45, a railroad conductor.

The dying Browning crawled to the already dead Henderson and with his last strength "cut up" the conductor with a long-bladed knife.

Justice of the Peace Dick Pendleton called it double homicide in an inquest verdict.

Police Chief Bill Knippol said the men had been enemies for some time, but he didn't know why.

She 'Warn't Scared'

"I warn't scared," said Mrs. Kate Womack, the waitress, "I didn't duck behind no counter."

She wouldn't talk further to reporters.

"You talk to the law," she said. "I gave my report to the law."

This was the story she told Knippol:

Browning came into the cafe for a cup of coffee. A few minutes later Henderson entered.

"Keep your hands right where they're at," said Henderson. "I'm going to kill you."

"I'm just going to drink my coffee," Browning said.

While he drank, Henderson cursed him.

Browning drained his cup and backed toward the door.

Shooting Starts

Henderson drew a 9-mm German pistol and started shooting. Browning whipped out a .38 calibre revolver and fired back.

Browning was hit in the heart. Henderson was hit in the heart and stomach.

After both fell to the floor, Browning drew his knife, opened it, crawled to Henderson and slashed the dead conductor.

Knippol said he found Henderson doubled up on his hands and knees, dead. Browning was lying on his side next to Henderson.

Knippol said Browning "asked me to turn him off his side. I told him, 'Rufus, the stiller you lie the better off you'll be.'

"He asked me if a doctor was coming.

"'He's on his way now,' I said.

"Then he squeezed my hand and said 'goodbye, Bill,' and he died, too."

Both men lived here.

Browning, a widower, is survived by two sons and two daughters, all of Mineola.

Henderson, divorced, is survived by two sons.

Says Flying Saucers Not 'Just Balloons'

Dr. Anthony O. Mirarchi, former Air Force scientist, uses a blackboard drawing at his Scituate, Mass., home to explain his theory of flying saucers. He disputes the explanation of a Navy scientist that objects people saw were plastic balloons used in radiation research. Dr. Mirarchi said that after an extensive study of eyewitness reports he concluded the objects had "maneuvered motion," as though guided by some mechanism.

Almond Says Red Retreat Is Turned Into Virtual Rout

U. S. 10th Corps Headquarters, Korea, Feb. 26 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Edward M. Almond declared today his 10th Corps troops had killed or wounded 64,000 Reds on the central Korean front since Jan. 4.

The U. S. Eighth Army, of which the 10th Corps is a third component, has announced an estimated 133,760 Red casualties inflicted through ground action in the period Jan. 17-Feb. 20.

Almond said the Communist retreat before the 10th Corps advance had become a "virtual rout."

Two Corps Routed

The North Korean Third and Fifth Corps, he told a news conference, were routed in the fighting north of Chechon and "won't be worth a damn for days and possibly weeks. Furthermore we've destroyed their equipment, which is harder for them to replace than men."

Before that, he continued, his troops ruined the combat effectiveness of two North Korean corps and destroyed the best part of two Chinese divisions at Chipyong.

Almond estimated his corps inflicted between 3,000 and 4,000 casualties on the Communists in the last five days.

(These figures greatly exceeded previous reports from the front and Eighth Army headquarters. An official 10th Corps report two days ago claimed 466 casualties inflicted. Yesterday, there was little enemy contact as the corps advanced up to four miles into territory from which the Reds already had withdrawn.)

Some Reds Escaped

Almond said large numbers of Reds managed to escape an allied pincer on the Hoengsong-Pyongchang-Chechon triangle. What began as an orderly enemy withdrawal after the failure of the Red offensive on Chechon soon became one of disorder, he said, and "by now the enemy's action may be termed a virtual rout.

"We believe the Fifth Corps is out of food and ammunition and that the shiny new Third Corps—the hell pounded out of them—doesn't have many soldiers left."

Didn't Know How to Swim, Man Saves Son From River

New York, Feb. 26 (AP)—A 51-year-old father sat shivering at Bellevue Hospital after rescuing his six-year-old son from drowning in the East river.

"It was a miracle of God," said the father, Martin Byrne. "I don't know how to swim."

The son, Bruce was swept into the river yesterday after he fell into an open manhole and was pulled through a 100-foot drainpipe by the rush of water into the river.

His father jumped into the manhole after him and waded through the drainpipe, plunging from its opening in a retaining wall into the river. Then somehow Byrne managed to paddle almost 100 feet to the boy, and then back with him.

Texans Settle Old Feud Frontier Way

Mineola, Tex., Feb. 26 (AP)—Two tough Texans settled a mysterious feud in frontier fashion with blazing guns that left both dead.

Standing ten feet apart in a hotel cafe early yesterday they shot it out before just one witness—a wide-eyed waitress.

The gunfighters were Rufus Browning, 55, a cattle dealer, and Joe Henderson, 45, a railroad conductor.

The dying Browning crawled to the already dead Henderson and with his last strength "cut up" the conductor with a long-bladed knife.

Justice of the Peace Dick Pendleton called it double homicide in an inquest verdict.

Police Chief Bill Knippol said the men had been enemies for some time, but he didn't know why.

She 'Warn't Scared'

"I warn't scared," said Mrs. Kate Womack, the waitress, "I didn't duck behind no counter."

She wouldn't talk further to reporters.

"You talk to the law," she said. "I gave my report to the law."

This was the story she told Knippol:

Browning came into the cafe for a cup of coffee. A few minutes later Henderson entered.

"Keep your hands right where they're at," said Henderson. "I'm going to kill you."

"I'm just going to drink my coffee," Browning said.

While he drank, Henderson cursed him.

Browning drained his cup and backed toward the door.

Shooting Starts

Henderson drew a 9-mm German pistol and started shooting. Browning whipped out a .38 calibre revolver and fired back.

Browning was hit in the heart. Henderson was hit in the heart and stomach.

After both fell to the floor, Browning drew his knife, opened it, crawled to Henderson and slashed the dead conductor.

Knippol said he found Henderson doubled up on his hands and knees, dead. Browning was lying on his side next to Henderson.

Knippol said Browning "asked me to turn him off his side. I told him, 'Rufus, the stiller you lie the better off you'll be.'

"He asked me if a doctor was coming.

"He's on his way now,' I said.

"Then he squeezed my hand and said 'goodbye, Bill,' and he died, too."

Both men lived here.

Browning, a widower, is survived by two sons and two daughters, all of Mineola.

Henderson, divorced, is survived by two sons.

Says Flying Saucers Not 'Just Balloons'

Dr. Anthony O. Mirarchi, former Air Force scientist, uses a blackboard drawing at his Scituate, Mass., home to explain his theory of flying saucers. He disputes the explanation of a Navy scientist that objects people saw were plastic balloons used in radiation research. Dr. Mirarchi said that after an extensive study of eyewitness reports he concluded the objects had "maneuvered motion," as though guided by some mechanism.

Almond Says Red Retreat Is Turned Into Virtual Rout

U. S. 10th Corps Headquarters, Korea, Feb. 26 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Edward M. Almond declared today his 10th Corps troops had killed or wounded 64,000 Reds on the central Korean front since Jan. 4.

The U. S. Eighth Army, of which the 10th Corps is a third component, has announced an estimated 133,760 Red casualties inflicted through ground action in the period Jan. 17-Feb. 20.

Almond said the Communist retreat before the 10th Corps advance had become a "virtual rout."

Two Corps Routed

The North Korean Third and Fifth Corps, he told a news conference, were routed in the fighting north of Chechon and "won't be worth a damn for days and possibly weeks. Furthermore we've destroyed their equipment, which is harder for them to replace than men."

Before that, he continued, his troops ruined the combat effectiveness of two North Korean corps and destroyed the best part of two Chinese divisions at Chipyong.

Almond estimated his corps inflicted between 3,000 and 4,000 casualties on the Communists in the last five days.

(These figures greatly exceeded previous reports from the front and Eighth Army headquarters. An official 10th Corps report two days ago claimed 466 casualties inflicted. Yesterday, there was little enemy contact as the corps advanced up to four miles into territory from which the Reds already had withdrawn.)

Some Reds Escaped

Almond said large numbers of Reds managed to escape an allied pincer on the Hoengsong-Pyongchang-Chechon triangle. What began as an orderly enemy withdrawal after the failure of the Red offensive on Chechon soon became one of disorder, he said, and "by now the enemy's action may be termed a virtual rout.

"We believe the Fifth Corps is out of food and ammunition and that the shiny new Third Corps—the hell pounded out of them—doesn't have many soldiers left."

Didn't Know How to Swim, Man Saves Son From River

New York, Feb. 26 (AP)—A 51-year-old father sat shivering at Bellevue Hospital after rescuing his six-year-old son from drowning in the East river.

"It was a miracle of God," said the father, Martin Byrne. "I don't know how to swim."

The son, Bruce was swept into the river yesterday after he fell into an open manhole and was pulled through a 100-foot drainpipe by the rush of water into the river.

His father jumped into the manhole after him and waded through the drainpipe, plunging from its opening in a retaining wall into the river. Then somehow Byrne managed to paddle almost 100 feet to the boy, and then back with him.

Browning was hit in the heart. Henderson was hit in the heart and stomach.

After both fell to the floor, Browning drew his knife, opened it, crawled to Henderson and slashed the dead conductor.

Knippol said he found Henderson doubled up on his hands and knees, dead. Browning was lying on his side next to Henderson.

Knippol said Browning "asked me to turn him off his side. I told him, 'Rufus, the stiller you lie the better off you'll be.'

"He asked me if a doctor was coming.

"He's on his way now,' I said.

"Then he squeezed my hand and said 'goodbye, Bill,' and he died, too."

Both men lived here.

Browning, a widower, is survived by two sons and two daughters, all of Mineola.

Henderson, divorced, is survived by two sons.

Says Flying Saucers Not 'Just Balloons'

Dr. Anthony O. Mirarchi, former Air Force scientist, uses a blackboard drawing at his Scituate, Mass., home to explain his theory of flying saucers. He disputes the explanation of a Navy scientist that objects people saw were plastic balloons used in radiation research. Dr. Mirarchi said that after an extensive study of eyewitness reports he concluded the objects had "maneuvered motion," as though guided by some mechanism.

Almond Says Red Retreat Is Turned Into Virtual Rout

U. S. 10th Corps Headquarters, Korea, Feb. 26 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Edward M. Almond declared today his 10th Corps troops had killed or wounded 64,000 Reds on the central Korean front since Jan. 4.

The U. S. Eighth Army, of which the 10th Corps is a third component, has announced an estimated 133,760 Red casualties inflicted through ground action in the period Jan. 17-Feb. 20.

Almond said the Communist retreat before the 10th Corps advance had become a "virtual rout."

Two Corps Routed

The North Korean Third and Fifth Corps, he told a news conference, were routed in the fighting north of Chechon and "won't be worth a damn for days and possibly weeks. Furthermore we've destroyed their equipment, which is harder for them to replace than men."

Before that, he continued, his troops ruined the combat effectiveness of two North Korean corps and destroyed the best part of two Chinese divisions at Chipyong.

Almond estimated his corps inflicted between 3,000 and 4,000 casualties on the Communists in the last five days.

(These figures greatly exceeded previous reports from the front and Eighth Army headquarters. An official 10th Corps report two days ago claimed 466 casualties inflicted. Yesterday, there was little enemy contact as the corps advanced up to four miles into territory from which the Reds already had withdrawn.)

Some Reds Escaped

Almond said large numbers of Reds managed to escape an allied pincer on the Hoengsong-Pyongchang-Chechon triangle. What began as an orderly enemy withdrawal after the failure of the Red offensive on Chechon soon became one of disorder, he said, and "by now the enemy's action may be termed a virtual rout.

"We believe the Fifth Corps is out of food and ammunition and that the shiny new Third Corps—the hell pounded out of them—doesn't have many soldiers left."

Didn't Know How to Swim, Man Saves Son From River

New York, Feb. 26 (AP)—A 51-year-old father sat shivering at Bellevue Hospital after rescuing his six-year-old son from drowning in the East river.

"It was a miracle of God," said the father, Martin Byrne. "I don't know how to swim."

The son, Bruce was swept into the river yesterday after he fell into an open manhole and was pulled through a 100-foot drainpipe by the rush of water into the river.

His father jumped into the manhole after him and waded through the drainpipe, plunging from its opening in a retaining wall into the river. Then somehow Byrne managed to paddle almost 100 feet to the boy, and then back with him.

NICKING THE GOVERNMENT

"When you steal from the government you're stealing from yourself, you Dope!" says a line in the play "Born Yesterday." Perhaps the play had not been seen by the group of some 200 postal clerks employed in Boston who participated in a scheme to collect their pay without going to work. It was simple enough. They merely hired one man to put their time cards through the clock while they went on about their personal affairs.

This was an amazing group fraud against the government by ordinary working people. There is almost a temptation to call it a mass fraud. The scheme itself was not remarkable; someone is always trying to get money without working for it. But it is startling that so many workers joined it. This must have been a manifestation of the often-heard idea that one might as well get what he can from the government—"the government can afford it."

This idea is wrong, not only morally wrong but also economically and politically wrong. The government can not afford it. Every fraud against the government, whether a little fraud or a big one, adds to the burden of its cost, subtracts from its efficiency, and weakens its structures. Our form of government depends constitutionally on the consent of the people, and in actual operation it depends also on the moral integrity of the people. The person who steals from the government takes not merely money, but mortar from between the foundation stones.

SLOW ON TAXES

Th House Ways and Means Committee has indicated that it intends to move without haste in drafting legislation to set up tax increases which have been recommended by the administration. All possible sources of revenue are to be explored before a tax bill is written. With such a deliberate mood prevailing in the committee, it may be supposed that the House itself also may be inclined to debate the matter fully when it reaches the floor.

Despite the air of urgency which hangs over Washington these days, it is good to approach the matter of tax increases, as well as that of the budget, with caution, with deliberation and above all with questioning. There is a theory among economists that only a certain portion of the national income may be drawn off for the purposes of government, if the nation's economic health is to remain good. We have already passed the point they set. The administration proposals call for federal taxes which, before addition of state and local taxes, would be more than this theory holds should be taken for all taxation. We are moving, in short, into a rate of taxation which some thoughtful economists regard as dangerous.

Therefore Congress should move with great care. It is not enough to explore all possible sources with a view to determining how much revenue can be raised. Each source ought also to be examined very carefully with the question in mind of how much additional burden it can bear without danger. This is an appropriate time to recall the fable of the goose which laid the golden egg.

MODERNIZING AFRICA

Many persons still living can recall when Africa was the great unknown continent in which anything mysterious might be found. "Out of Africa there always comes forth something new," said the old Roman, and his state of mind has persisted until only the other day.

Now Africa is being modernized. Word comes of a British project to build a military superhighway all the way across the continent from Nigeria on the Atlantic to the port of Mombasa on the Indian Ocean.

A good road running through the African jungles will be an innovation indeed. It may have signs, "Detour: Leopards ahead."

TAXES AND INFLATION

The House Ways and Means Committee is getting much criticism for failing to push through the administration's requested $10,000,000,000 tax increase in jig time. It is complained that the committee thereby interferes with the fight against inflation, since the tax presumably would be anti-inflationary.

If it is desired to combat inflation by taxation, why not tax all income one hundred per cent? The government then could provide shelter, food, clothing and entertainment for the people, and nobody would ever have to worry about inflation.

'These Days'

WHAT WAR CAN COST

The 1952 budget, whch may or may not be passed as is, amounts to $71,594,000,000. That compares with the 1951 budget of $47,210,000,000. Receipts for 1951 were estimated at $44,512,000,000; for 1952 at $55,138,000,000. That means that the government will run short about $16,456,000,000, which will have to be added to the national debt.

Of the $71,594,000,000 which the government plans to expend in 1952, $41,421,000,000 will be expended by the military forces.

The President is employing the double budget method, which means that he adds to the budget separate appropriations, loan and contract authorizations part of which will be spent in 1952 and part in subsequent years. These bring the amount up to $94,400,000,000 to which is to be added an additional $4,100,000,000 that is to liquidate contract authorizations approved by Congress in prior years, for which he needs funds. The total will be $98,500,000,000.

This is the third largest appropriation in American history, being exceeded only by 1943 and 1944 when we were actually at war and spending like mad against time. No one in those years could tell how long the war would last or where we would be hit and therefore we spent our money on the assumption that by that means we would save American lives. It was war budgeting, frankly so accepted.

Then this same administration, which is now asking for so much, demobilized our armed forces, destroyed billions of dollars of usable materials, drove tanks into the ocean, put our fleet in moth balls, sold salvage goods everywhere, left deserted dumps of supplies—and now it all is to be started all over again. And, unfortunately for us, it must be done all over again.

Meanwhile, the President wants to use our money to play politics as usual. So the items for social security, welfare and benefits rise in 1952 over 1951 by $100,000,000, although there certainly could be a cut, in view of the fact that we cannot afford luxuries at a time when the people are being taxed beyond their capacity to pay taxes. The Hoover reports are ignored.

Similarly, the President advocates a vast increase in socialist power development, which not only adds to the citizen's tax burdens but takes off the tax roll government-owned corporations. These tax-free corporations, owned by the government, are luxuries which we cannot afford.

The most amazing fact about this budget is that it includes a concealed Brannan plan which the President knows that the country and the Congress reject but which turns up constantly like a privately minted bad penny. Nobody has yet been able to estimate the actual cost of the Brannan plan. To add that onto a war budget is sheer financial madness.

The constitutional responsibility for the budget is in Congress, not in the presidency. Congress cannot dodge this responsibility. It alone has the power of the purse and must stand before the electorate in 1952 to answer for its conduct. The wasteful expenditure of the taxpayers' money is unjustified at any time. It becomes criminal at a time of rising prices, depreciated currency and war expenditures.

Congress has the final word in all this and should speak loud and clear and with a sense of responsibility to the electorate.

One of the tricks developed during the New Deal was to bring noble brass before a congressional committee who solemnly declare that they always need more and more money. To doubt the word or impugn the wisdom of brass is tantamount to treason in the eyes of many. So, we bow our heads and bend our knees and wait for the years to pass when we learn, from the course of events, that what we were told just ain't so. It would be interesting to go over all the congressional hearings since 1939 to compare statements made with the facts as they have disclosed themselves in due course.

Congressional investigations need to be conducted not to confuse the people. For instance, when Senator Connally sent his vulgarly insulting invitation to Herbert Hoover, requesting Mr. Hoover to attend his committee's investigation of the "great debate," he disclosed a desire not to get at the truth but to offend Mr. Hoover. He got a sharp response for his pains. Yet, the congressional committee exists for an examination of all the data to lay a truthful foundation for legislation.

That Body of Yours

DANGERS OF OVERWEIGHT

I write often about the disadvantages and dangers of overweight because of its importance to health. The disadvantages are well known: loss of the figure, inability to take part in games and dancing, awkwardness, early tiredness after slight effort.

While these are serious enough, especially to a sensitive person, the real dangers of overweight are that that can cause such diseases as diabetes and high blood pressure, and so greatly shorten the life span. All insurance companies are very careful about insuring overweights and if they accept them, put up the price of the premium by a number of years.

It would be well to consider again the report from one of our highest authorities, the Mayo Clinic and the Mayo Foundation, as given in the Journal of the American Medical Association several months ago by Drs. Clifford E. Gastineau, Edward H. Rynearson and Alice Karslake Irmisch.

"Even moderate obesity (overweight) in the latter half of life increases the number or percentage of cases of many degenerative diseases including hypertension (high blood pressure), diabetes, cancer, heart disease, nephritis (inflammation of kidneys), hardening of the arteries, cirrhosis of the liver, blocking or stretching of the tiny air sacs, with loss of elasticity, in the lungs (emphysema) and varicose veins."

Overweight in the majority of cases, especially at or after midde age, comes on slowly and often unnoticed until the individual has a good opportunity of seeing himself in the mirror. Overweight can be removed slowly and surely in just the reverse of the manner in which it went on the body.

Excess fat accumulates in and on the body from eating more than the body needed for its daily work. It can be removed by eating less food than the body really needs, because the body processes will take the balance of the food it needs daily from the excess fat already there.

If, after two months of cutting down on foods and liquids by not less than 25 per cent, there is little or no loss of weight, the overweight is justified in consulting his physician regarding a metabolism test and the possible use of gland extracts.

Which One Will He Drop Next?

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — Mobilization boss Charles Wilson will assume drastic powers over aluminum, copper and steel, beginning the middle of June. He will put these strategic metals under a controlled material plan, which will give the government authority to regulate their use down to the last pound.

Wilson spelled out his plan behind closed doors to the Joint Congressional Committee on defense production.

"The controlled materials plan is one that will operate on scarce materials absolutely," the mobilization boss explained. "I mean, it will have the control of all the material in the particular line that is short."

However, Wilson added ruefully: "Once you start to control things, it is a terrific job. That is why I hate controls, and from the very bottom of my heart I hate controls."

The reason for this drastic control plan, Wilson said, was the dangerously short supply of aluminum shortage for this current year of maybe as much as 180,000 or 190,000 tons. . . . But by 1953, when these American plants of ours come in and begin to produce, we will have a plusage of aluminum, not much, may be 50,000 tons in 1953."

"Does that mean that, in 1953, alumnium will be in reasonably good supply for civilian use as well as military?" asked Utah's GOP Sen. Wallace Bennett.

"Yes sir," smiled Wilson.

G.I. Gripes

Letters pour into this column every day from G.I.'s exercising their time-honored American privilege to kick. It is impossible to investigate all their complaints, but from time to time, this column will publish the most serious G.I. gripes and try to give them a straight steer. Names will be withheld upon request.

A Draftee, Ft. Story, Va.—"There are 500 of us at Ft. Story who haven't been home since we were drafted. Now we are supposed to be shipped overseas. We were promised ten days leave, but this has been cut to three days. This isn't even enough time to go home and tell our folks goodbye."

Ans.—Investigation reveals that several camps have cut furloughs in order to complete training schedules and still meet shipping schedules. However, this column protested to the army which promised to send a directive to all camps, ordering at least a seven-day furlough for every G.I. before he is shipped overseas.

Capt. Roger C. White, Jr., somewhere in Korea—"I wish the people of the U. S. could see the horror of war as exhibited in Korea. Hundreds of men, women and children are dying daily from lack of food and the intense cold. Is there no way to aid them?"

Ans.—"CARE" is now rushing food and clothing to Korean refugees.

A Sergeant, Camp Stoneman, Calif.—"Whatever happened to the much-publicized point system announced last fall, under which enlisted reservists with sufficient points would not be sent overseas?"

Ans.—The point system was hastily abandoned Nov. 7, 1950, less than two weeks after it was adopted. An army spokesman explained it was scrapped because of Chinese intervention in Korea. Reminded that the Chinese didn't intervene until late November, he consulted his superiors and came back with the story that the critical military situation had caused the plan to be dropped. However, it was pointed out that the military situation was more critical on Oct. 28 when the point system was announced than on Nov. 7 when it was dropped. The army had no further alibis.

Elmer Hency, Sr., Oran, Mo.—"Can't anything be done to help my three boys in uniform? They sacrificed high civilian wages to serve Uncle Sam, but they have to pay income taxes even on their small army incomes."

Ans.—Enlisted men in combat zones are exempt from paying income taxes. If they are stationed in noncombat areas, however, they must pay taxes the same as civilians. Meanwhile, several bills have been introduced in Congress to exempt all enlisted men from paying income taxes. The best thing you can do is write to the House Ways and Means Committee, urging tax relief for all G.I.'s.

A Paratrooper, Ft. Campbell, Ky.—"We have been ordered to sign forms that we 'may not own, or maintain, or operate a motor vehicle that is not registered at Ft. Campbell.' I have a car in my name, but it is being driven by my wife at home. If this form is legal, then what is to stop the army from telling me that I should sell my home or divorce my wife and send my children to on orphanage?"

Ans.—This form was issued in the hope of reducing accidents around Ft. Campbell. The only legal grounds for it is the authority of the army to maintain safety at its installations. The army cannot take away your automobile, and probably won't try.

'Job Selling' Scandal

Here is the inside story on the Mississippi "job-selling" scandal. Mississippi's two senators have affidavits from 20 rural mail carriers, postmasters and contractors who say they were charged as high as $1,500 for jobs and favors. The senators' constituents claim to have been approached by representatives of the so-called Truman faction of the Democratic party.

Jobs were sold at the following prices: $1,500 for rural mail carrier, a position not requiring Senate confirmation; $300 to $400 for acting postmaster (this payment is small, since postmasters must be confirmed by the Senate); $300 for County Director of Price Stabilization.

Contractors also paid $200 to be placed on a nonexistent eligible list for war contracts. A Columbus, Miss., contractor reported he did not pay the fee.

Churchill Is Pictured as Not Having Facts When Flag-Waving Debate Was Begun

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Feb. 26—Winston Churchill, usually well-informed, simply didn't have the facts when he stirred up in the House of Commons a flag-waving debate bemoaning the appointment of an American admiral to a post which the former British Prime Minister believed was to be a command over all the 12 navies of the North Atlantic treaty countries.

Actually there is not to be any over-all naval commander at all, either now or in the future. The setup doesn't call for it. The official plan, carefully worked out by committees from the 12 governments during the last several weeks, calls for a supreme allied commander in Europe and that's General Eisenhower. His principal deputy or second in command is British General Montgomery. Whatever naval forces are utilized by General Eisenhower will be under his command along with all air forces and ground forces in Europe.

There will be subordinate naval commanders in the European area working with General Eisenhower and doubtless a British admiral will command the ships of the British home fleet and any other allied units working in that particular vicinity.

There is as yet to be appointed a naval commander for the Mediterranean and another for the North Sea area. Perhaps two British admirals will command two of these three divisions. But both will be under General Eisenhower, anyway.

The command given to Admiral William M. Fechteler of the United States navy, which was the subject of the Churchill blast, is to coordinate all naval operations in the Atlantic—that is, between this country and the waters immediately surrounding Europe. The area of this command ranges from our own Atlantic coast northward along the Canadian coast to Iceland and across to the Azores and other Portuguese islands. It does not include British home waters.

Admiral Fechteler will not report to or be a part of General Eisenhower's command. His headquarters will be at Norfolk, Va.—a better point than any place in Europe from which to watch Atlantic ocean operations apart from the immediate approaches to Europe. The Fechteler command will have primary responsibility for any anti-submarine campaign and the transport of troops to Europe.

As for the Mediterranean, it is unlikely that the American carrier task forces which are essential to that area's operations would be placed under the command of any British admiral. Unfortunately, Great Britain has not built up her carrier aviation and her commanders do not have the breadth of experience which American naval commanders got in carrier-based aviation during the last war.

Incidentally the professional servicemen of the 12 countries who have been mapping out the details of the various naval commands are working harmoniously together and, until the Churchill outburst, no problems of national pride had arisen to impair the practicability of the decisions made.

When Mr. Churchill asks 'Where is the British admiral?" he might have been asked in turn "and where are the British ships?" For it is a fact that since 1945 the British navy has been starved by the Labor government and, if he were looking for a basis for political attack, that subject might have been of more pertinent interest to the world than the protest about an over-all command appointment that hasn't been and never will be made. Incidentally, speaking of traditions, Mr. Churchill is a devoted friend of America but in his speech pointing to the "tradifions" of the British navy, he overlooked the fact that the American navy isn't so lacking in "traditions" either, even going as far back as John Paul Jones, Commodore Perry, James Lawrence and Stephen Decatur.

Surely the British government which is now relying on the United States Navy to police the seven seas is well aware, though maybe Mr. Churchill forgot it, that where there is power there must be commensurate responsibility. American seapower which today is basically airpower has in technical advancement gone far beyond those achievements of surface, undersea and air warfare which they pursued so gloriously when Mr. Churchill was prime minister.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

You may have wondered what I have been driving at in my plodding expose of the phony congressional investigation of "lobbying" which was conducted last summer by a special committee of the House under the chairmanship of a poor hack from McKeesport, Pa., named Frank Buchanan.

I am going to show you that this was a scheme to railroad a few individuals to jail for operating anti-Communist propaganda societies.

I challenged the committee while it still had some time to run, and promised to blow the whole thing wide open. Recently, I called on Buchanan, who somehow got himself mired in this thing, and confronted him with three indictments charging him with cheap fraud. He said they were not real indictments but just informations. He is a liar. They were true bills by grand juries. Then he said he was cleared when the true bills were nolle prossed. Again he lied. On the back of each true bill the statement is written that the indictment was dismissed on the payment of the costs by the defendant.

Chester Harris, of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, who covered that end of these cases, wrote that he interviewed Grant L. Stoner, an engineer, of 1511 Prescott avenue, McKeesport, where Buchanan formerly was mayor, and Stoner told him: "He (Buchanan) straightened up with my son. And he also paid the costs of the case."

The son, George Stoner, a minor at the time, had bought an automobile from Buchanan.

By Harris: "Was this Buchanan the same man who later became mayor of McKeesport and is now congressman?"

By Stoner: "Yes, the very same man."

Buchanan declined to examine photographs of the indictments when I offered them to him.

Congressman Clarence J. Brown of Ohio, a Republican, was amazed when I showed him the indictments. He said he wished that he had had them during the phony inquiry into "lobbying" which was instigated by some force outside Congress. Congressman Joseph P. O'Hara, of Minnesota, also a Republican, expressed similar reaction. They both believed the inquiry was an outside job.

Lucien Hilmer, the "staff director" of the committee, was counsel for George Shaw Wheeler, the American who turned against the United States after serving in the American Military Government in Germany, and went over the hill to Communist Czechoslovakia. There he was reported to have asked for asylum. Before joining the American Military Government, Wheeler had been employed in the Department of Labor, the War Production Board and the Foreign Economic Administration.

Hilmer represented Wheeler before a Loyalty Board of the Civil Cervice Commission in a hearing held on October 29, 1945. Five men in army uniform testified that Wheeler was of good character. The case was founded on a report from the Civil Service Commission to the Foreign Economic Administration that Wheeler had been found ineligible for government employment according to data gathered by the F.B.I. and the Civil Service Commisson. Hilmer was assigned by the F.E.A. to defend Wheeler.

The Civil Service Commission sent a report to the House Committee on Un-American Activities which said Hilmer immediately attacked the commission, stating that the hearings were "un-American and totalitarian." Hilmer demanded that Wheeler's

"When you steal from the government you're stealing from yourself, you Dope!" says a line in the play "Born Yesterday." Perhaps the play had not been seen by the group of some 200 postal clerks employed in Boston who participated in a scheme to collect their pay without going to work. It was simple enough. They merely hired one man to put their time cards through the clock while they went on about their personal affairs.

This was an amazing group fraud against the government by ordinary working people. There is almost a temptation to call it a mass fraud. The scheme itself was not remarkable; someone is always trying to get money without working for it. But it is startling that so many workers joined it. This must have been a manifestation of the often-heard idea that one might as well get what he can from the government—"the government can afford it."

This idea is wrong, not only morally wrong but also economically and politically wrong. The government can not afford it. Every fraud against the government, whether a little fraud or a big one, adds to the burden of its cost, subtracts from its efficiency, and weakens its structures. Our form of government depends constitutionally on the consent of the people, and in actual operation it depends also on the moral integrity of the people. The person who steals from the government takes not merely money, but mortar from between the foundation stones.

SLOW ON TAXES

Th House Ways and Means Committee has indicated that it intends to move without haste in drafting legislation to set up tax increases which have been recommended by the administration. All possible sources of revenue are to be explored before a tax bill is written. With such a deliberate mood prevailing in the committee, it may be supposed that the House itself also may be inclined to debate the matter fully when it reaches the floor.

Despite the air of urgency which hangs over Washington these days, it is good to approach the matter of tax increases, as well as that of the budget, with caution, with deliberation and above all with questioning. There is a theory among economists that only a certain portion of the national income may be drawn off for the purposes of government, if the nation's economic health is to remain good. We have already passed the point they set. The administration proposals call for federal taxes which, before addition of state and local taxes, would be more than this theory holds should be taken for all taxation. We are moving, in short, into a rate of taxation which some thoughtful economists regard as dangerous.

Therefore Congress should move with great care. It is not enough to explore all possible sources with a view to determining how much revenue can be raised. Each source ought also to be examined very carefully with the question in mind of how much additional burden it can bear without danger. This is an appropriate time to recall the fable of the goose which laid the golden egg.

MODERNIZING AFRICA

Many persons still living can recall when Africa was the great unknown continent in which anything mysterious might be found. "Out of Africa there always comes forth something new," said the old Roman, and his state of mind has persisted until only the other day.

Now Africa is being modernized. Word comes of a British project to build a military superhighway all the way across the continent from Nigeria on the Atlantic to the port of Mombasa on the Indian Ocean.

A good road running through the African jungles will be an innovation indeed. It may have signs, "Detour: Leopards ahead."

TAXES AND INFLATION

The House Ways and Means Committee is getting much criticism for failing to push through the administration's requested $10,000,000,000 tax increase in jig time. It is complained that the committee thereby interferes with the fight against inflation, since the tax presumably would be anti-inflationary.

If it is desired to combat inflation by taxation, why not tax all income one hundred per cent? The government then could provide shelter, food, clothing and entertainment for the people, and nobody would ever have to worry about inflation.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

WHAT WAR CAN COST

The 1952 budget, whch may or may not be passed as is, amounts to $71,594,000,000. That compares with the 1951 budget of $47,210,000,000. Receipts for 1951 were estimated at $44,512,000,000; for 1952 at $55,138,000,000. That means that the government will run short about $16,456,000,000, which will have to be added to the national debt.

Of the $71,594,000,000 which the government plans to expend in 1952, $41,421,000,000 will be expended by the military forces.

The President is employing the double budget method, which means that he adds to the budget separate appropriations, loan and contract authorizations part of which will be spent in 1952 and part in subsequent years. These bring the amount up to $94,400,000,000 to which is to be added an additional $4,100,000,000 that is to liquidate contract authorizations approved by Congress in prior years, for which he needs funds. The total will be $98,500,000,000.

This is the third largest appropriation in American history, being exceeded only by 1943 and 1944 when we were actually at war and spending like mad against time. No one in those years could tell how long the war would last or where we would be hit and therefore we spent our money on the assumption that by that means we would save American lives. It was war budgeting, frankly so accepted.

Then this same administration, which is now asking for so much, demobilized our armed forces, destroyed billions of dollars of usable materials, drove tanks into the ocean, put our fleet in moth balls, sold salvage goods everywhere, left deserted dumps of supplies—and now it all is to be started all over again. And, unfortunately for us, it must be done all over again.

Meanwhile, the President wants to use our money to play politics as usual. So the items for social security, welfare and benefits rise in 1952 over 1951 by $100,000,000, although there certainly could be a cut, in view of the fact that we cannot afford luxuries at a time when the people are being taxed beyond their capacity to pay taxes. The Hoover reports are ignored.

Similarly, the President advocates a vast increase in socialist power development, which not only adds to the citizen's tax burdens but takes off the tax roll government-owned corporations. These tax-free corporations, owned by the government, are luxuries which we cannot afford.

The most amazing fact about this budget is that it includes a concealed Brannan plan which the President knows that the country and the Congress reject but which turns up constantly like a privately minted bad penny. Nobody has yet been able to estimate the actual cost of the Brannan plan. To add that onto a war budget is sheer financial madness.

The constitutional responsibility for the budget is in Congress, not in the presidency. Congress cannot dodge this responsibility. It alone has the power of the purse and must stand before the electorate in 1952 to answer for its conduct. The wasteful expenditure of the taxpayers' money is unjustified at any time. It becomes criminal at a time of rising prices, depreciated currency and war expenditures.

Congress has the final word in all this and should speak loud and clear and with a sense of responsibility to the electorate.

One of the tricks developed during the New Deal was to bring noble brass before a congressional committee who solemnly declare that they always need more and more money. To doubt the word or impugn the wisdom of brass is tantamount to treason in the eyes of many. So, we bow our heads and bend our knees and wait for the years to pass when we learn, from the course of events, that what we were told just ain't so. It would be interesting to go over all the congressional hearings since 1939 to compare statements made with the facts as they have disclosed themselves in due course.

Congressional investigations need to be conducted not to confuse the people. For instance, when Senator Connally sent his vulgarly insulting invitation to Herbert Hoover, requesting Mr. Hoover to attend his committee's investigation of the "great debate," he disclosed a desire not to get at the truth but to offend Mr. Hoover. He got a sharp response for his pains. Yet, the congressional committee exists for an examination of all the data to lay a truthful foundation for legislation.

That Body of Yours

DANGERS OF OVERWEIGHT

I write often about the disadvantages and dangers of overweight because of its importance to health. The disadvantages are well known: loss of the figure, inability to take part in games and dancing, awkwardness, early tiredness after slight effort.

While these are serious enough, especially to a sensitive person, the real dangers of overweight are that that can cause such diseases as diabetes and high blood pressure, and so greatly shorten the life span. All insurance companies are very careful about insuring overweights and if they accept them, put up the price of the premium by a number of years.

It would be well to consider again the report from one of our highest authorities, the Mayo Clinic and the Mayo Foundation, as given in the Journal of the American Medical Association several months ago by Drs. Clifford E. Gastineau, Edward H. Rynearson and Alice Karslake Irmisch.

"Even moderate obesity (overweight) in the latter half of life increases the number or percentage of cases of many degenerative diseases including hypertension (high blood pressure), diabetes, cancer, heart disease, nephritis (inflammation of kidneys), hardening of the arteries, cirrhosis of the liver, blocking or stretching of the tiny air sacs, with loss of elasticity, in the lungs (emphysema) and varicose veins."

Overweight in the majority of cases, especially at or after midde age, comes on slowly and often unnoticed until the individual has a good opportunity of seeing himself in the mirror. Overweight can be removed slowly and surely in just the reverse of the manner in which it went on the body.

Excess fat accumulates in and on the body from eating more than the body needed for its daily work. It can be removed by eating less food than the body really needs, because the body processes will take the balance of the food it needs daily from the excess fat already there.

If, after two months of cutting down on foods and liquids by not less than 25 per cent, there is little or no loss of weight, the overweight is justified in consulting his physician regarding a metabolism test and the possible use of gland extracts.

Which One Will He Drop Next?

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — Mobilization boss Charles Wilson will assume drastic powers over aluminum, copper and steel, beginning the middle of June. He will put these strategic metals under a controlled material plan, which will give the government authority to regulate their use down to the last pound.

Wilson spelled out his plan behind closed doors to the Joint Congressional Committee on defense production.

"The controlled materials plan is one that will operate on scarce materials absolutely," the mobilization boss explained. "I mean, it will have the control of all the material in the particular line that is short."

However, Wilson added ruefully: "Once you start to control things, it is a terrific job. That is why I hate controls, and from the very bottom of my heart I hate controls."

The reason for this drastic control plan, Wilson said, was the dangerously short supply of aluminum shortage for this current year of maybe as much as 180,000 or 190,000 tons. . . . But by 1953, when these American plants of ours come in and begin to produce, we will have a plusage of aluminum, not much, may be 50,000 tons in 1953."

"Does that mean that, in 1953, alumnium will be in reasonably good supply for civilian use as well as military?" asked Utah's GOP Sen. Wallace Bennett.

"Yes sir," smiled Wilson.

G.I. Gripes

Letters pour into this column every day from G.I.'s exercising their time-honored American privilege to kick. It is impossible to investigate all their complaints, but from time to time, this column will publish the most serious G.I. gripes and try to give them a straight steer. Names will be withheld upon request.

A Draftee, Ft. Story, Va.—"There are 500 of us at Ft. Story who haven't been home since we were drafted. Now we are supposed to be shipped overseas. We were promised ten days leave, but this has been cut to three days. This isn't even enough time to go home and tell our folks goodbye."

Ans.—Investigation reveals that several camps have cut furloughs in order to complete training schedules and still meet shipping schedules. However, this column protested to the army which promised to send a directive to all camps, ordering at least a seven-day furlough for every G.I. before he is shipped overseas.

Capt. Roger C. White, Jr., somewhere in Korea—"I wish the people of the U. S. could see the horror of war as exhibited in Korea. Hundreds of men, women and children are dying daily from lack of food and the intense cold. Is there no way to aid them?"

Ans.—"CARE" is now rushing food and clothing to Korean refugees.

A Sergeant, Camp Stoneman, Calif.—"Whatever happened to the much-publicized point system announced last fall, under which enlisted reservists with sufficient points would not be sent overseas?"

Ans.—The point system was hastily abandoned Nov. 7, 1950, less than two weeks after it was adopted. An army spokesman explained it was scrapped because of Chinese intervention in Korea. Reminded that the Chinese didn't intervene until late November, he consulted his superiors and came back with the story that the critical military situation had caused the plan to be dropped. However, it was pointed out that the military situation was more critical on Oct. 28 when the point system was announced than on Nov. 7 when it was dropped. The army had no further alibis.

Elmer Hency, Sr., Oran, Mo.—"Can't anything be done to help my three boys in uniform? They sacrificed high civilian wages to serve Uncle Sam, but they have to pay income taxes even on their small army incomes."

Ans.—Enlisted men in combat zones are exempt from paying income taxes. If they are stationed in noncombat areas, however, they must pay taxes the same as civilians. Meanwhile, several bills have been introduced in Congress to exempt all enlisted men from paying income taxes. The best thing you can do is write to the House Ways and Means Committee, urging tax relief for all G.I.'s.

A Paratrooper, Ft. Campbell, Ky.—"We have been ordered to sign forms that we 'may not own, or maintain, or operate a motor vehicle that is not registered at Ft. Campbell.' I have a car in my name, but it is being driven by my wife at home. If this form is legal, then what is to stop the army from telling me that I should sell my home or divorce my wife and send my children to on orphanage?"

Ans.—This form was issued in the hope of reducing accidents around Ft. Campbell. The only legal grounds for it is the authority of the army to maintain safety at its installations. The army cannot take away your automobile, and probably won't try.

'Job Selling' Scandal

Here is the inside story on the Mississippi "job-selling" scandal. Mississippi's two senators have affidavits from 20 rural mail carriers, postmasters and contractors who say they were charged as high as $1,500 for jobs and favors. The senators' constituents claim to have been approached by representatives of the so-called Truman faction of the Democratic party.

Jobs were sold at the following prices: $1,500 for rural mail carrier, a position not requiring Senate confirmation; $300 to $400 for acting postmaster (this payment is small, since postmasters must be confirmed by the Senate); $300 for County Director of Price Stabilization.

Contractors also paid $200 to be placed on a nonexistent eligible list for war contracts. A Columbus, Miss., contractor reported he did not pay the fee.

He called himself "Emperor of the West" and, after invading the Chinese province of Szechuan, ordered thirty million Chinese executed between 1643 and 1648. The mass executions ordered by him were called "Decrees of Heaven." They included 90,000 of his own soldiers whom he did not trust and 30,000 students whom he lured to his capital by a false promise of literary examinations. Chinese mothers still frighten their children with the "Yellow Tiger," the name popularly applied to the great murderer.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Feb. 26—Winston Churchill, usually well-informed, simply didn't have the facts when he stirred up in the House of Commons a flag-waving debate bemoaning the appointment of an American admiral to a post which the former British Prime Minister believed was to be a command over all the 12 navies of the North Atlantic treaty countries.

Actually there is not to be any over-all naval commander at all, either now or in the future. The setup doesn't call for it. The official plan, carefully worked out by committees from the 12 governments during the last several weeks, calls for a supreme allied commander in Europe and that's General Eisenhower. His principal deputy or second in command is British General Montgomery. Whatever naval forces are utilized by General Eisenhower will be under his command along with all air forces and ground forces in Europe.

There will be subordinate naval commanders in the European area working with General Eisenhower and doubtless a British admiral will command the ships of the British home fleet and any other allied units working in that particular vicinity.

There is as yet to be appointed a naval commander for the Mediterranean and another for the North Sea area. Perhaps two British admirals will command two of these three divisions. But both will be under General Eisenhower, anyway.

The command given to Admiral William M. Fechteler of the United States navy, which was the subject of the Churchill blast, is to coordinate all naval operations in the Atlantic—that is, between this country and the waters immediately surrounding Europe. The area of this command ranges from our own Atlantic coast northward along the Canadian coast to Iceland and across to the Azores and other Portuguese islands. It does not include British home waters.

Admiral Fechteler will not report to or be a part of General Eisenhower's command. His headquarters will be at Norfolk, Va.—a better point than any place in Europe from which to watch Atlantic ocean operations apart from the immediate approaches to Europe. The Fechteler command will have primary responsibility for any anti-submarine campaign and the transport of troops to Europe.

As for the Mediterranean, it is unlikely that the American carrier task forces which are essential to that area's operations would be placed under the command of any British admiral. Unfortunately, Great Britain has not built up her carrier aviation and her commanders do not have the breadth of experience which American naval commanders get in carrier-based aviation during the last war.

Incidentally the professional servicemen of the 12 countries who have been mapping out the details of the various naval commands are working harmoniously together and, until the Churchill outburst, no problems of national pride had arisen to impair the practicability of the decisions made.

When Mr. Churchill asks "Where is the British admiral?" he might have been asked in turn "and where are the British ships?" For it is a fact that since 1945 the British navy has been starved by the Labor government and, if he were looking for a basis for political attack, that subject might have been of more pertinent interest to the world than the protest about an over-all command appointment that hasn't been and never will be made. Incidentally, speaking of traditions, Mr. Churchill is a devoted friend of America but in his speech pointing to the "traditions" of the British navy, he overlooked the fact that the American navy isn't so lacking in "traditions" either, even going as far back as John Paul Jones, Commodore Perry, James Lawrence and Stephen Decatur.

Surely the British government which is now relying on the United States Navy to police the seven seas is well aware, though maybe Mr. Churchill forgot it, that where there is power there must be commensurate responsibility. American seapower which today is basically airpower has in technical advancement gone far beyond those achievements of surface, undersea and air warfare which they pursued so gloriously when Mr. Churchill was prime minister.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

You may have wondered what I have been driving at in my plodding expose of the phony congressional investigation of "lobbying" which was conducted last summer by a special committee of the House under the chairmanship of a poor hack from McKeesport, Pa., named Frank Buchanan.

I am going to show you that this was a scheme to railroad a few individuals to jail for operating anti-Communist propaganda societies.

I challenged the committee while it still had some time to run, and promised to blow the whole thing wide open. Recently, I called on Buchanan, who somehow got himself mired in this thing, and confronted him with three indictments charging him with cheap fraud. He said they were not real indictments but just informations. He is a liar. They were true bills by grand juries. Then he said he was cleared when the true bills were nolle prossed. Again he lied. On the back of each true bill the statement is written that the indictment was dismissed on the payment of the costs by the defendant.

Chester Harris, of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, who covered that end of these cases, wrote that he interviewed Grant L. Stoner, an engineer, of 1511 Prescott avenue, McKeesport, where Buchanan formerly was mayor, and Stoner told him: "He (Buchanan) straightened up with my son. And he also paid the costs of the case."

The son, George Stoner, a minor at the time, had bought an automobile from Buchanan.

By Harris: "Was this Buchanan the same man who later became mayor of McKeesport and is now congressman?"

By Stoner: "Yes, the very same man."

Buchanan declined to examine photographs of the indictments when I offered them to him.

Congressman Clarence J. Brown of Ohio, a Republican, was amazed when I showed him the indictments. He said he wished that he had had them during the phony inquiry into "lobbying" which was instigated by some force outside Congress. Congressman Joseph P. O'Hara, of Minnesota, also a Republican, expressed similar reaction. They both believed the inquiry was an outside job.

Lucien Hilmer, the "staff director" of the committee, was counsel for George Shaw Wheeler, the American who turned against the United States after serving in the American Military Government in Germany, and went over the hill to Communist Czechoslovakia. There he was reported to have asked for asylum. Before joining the American Military Government, Wheeler had been employed in the Department of Labor, the War Production Board and the Foreign Economic Administration.

Himler represented Wheeler before a Loyalty Board of the Civil Service Commission in a hearing held on October 29, 1945. Five men in army uniform testified that Wheeler was of good character. The case was founded on a report from the Civil Service Commission to the Foreign Economic Administration that Wheeler had been found ineligible for government employment according to data gathered by the F.B.I. and the Civil Service Commission. Hilmer was assigned by the F.E.A. to defend Wheeler.

The Civil Service Commission sent a report to the House Committee on Un-American Activities which said Hilmer immediately attacked the commission, stating that the hearings were "un-American and totalitarian." Hilmer demanded that Wheeler's

"When you steal from the government you're stealing from yourself, you Dope!" says a line in the play "Born Yesterday." Perhaps the play had not been seen by the group of some 200 postal clerks employed in Boston who participated in a scheme to collect their pay without going to work. It was simple enough. They merely hired one man to put their time cards through the clock while they went on about their personal affairs.

This was an amazing group fraud against the government by ordinary working people. There is almost a temptation to call it a mass fraud. The scheme itself was not remarkable; someone is always trying to get money without working for it. But it is startling that so many workers joined it. This must have been a manifestation of the often-heard idea that one might as well get what he can from the government—"the government can afford it."

This idea is wrong, not only morally wrong but also economically and politically wrong. The government can not afford it. Every fraud against the government, whether a little fraud or a big one, adds to the burden of its cost, subtracts from its efficiency, and weakens its structures. Our form of government depends constitutionally on the consent of the people, and in actual operation it depends also on the moral integrity of the people. The person who steals from the government takes not merely money, but mortar from between the foundation stones.

SLOW ON TAXES

Th House Ways and Means Committee has indicated that it intends to move without haste in drafting legislation to set up tax increases which have been recommended by the administration. All possible sources of revenue are to be explored before a tax bill is written. With such a deliberate mood prevailing in the committee, it may be supposed that the House itself also may be inclined to debate the matter fully when it reaches the floor.

Despite the air of urgency which hangs over Washington these days, it is good to approach the matter of tax increases, as well as that of the budget, with caution, with deliberation and above all with questioning. There is a theory among economists that only a certain portion of the national income may be drawn off for the purposes of government, if the nation's economic health is to remain good. We have already passed the point they set. The administration proposals call for federal taxes which, before addition of state and local taxes, would be more than this theory holds should be taken for all taxation. We are moving, in short, into a rate of taxation which some thoughtful economists regard as dangerous.

Therefore Congress should move with great care. It is not enough to explore all possible sources with a view to determining how much revenue can be raised. Each source ought also to be examined very carefully with the question in mind of how much additional burden it can bear without danger. This is an appropriate time to recall the fable of the goose which laid the golden egg.

MODERNIZING AFRICA

Many persons still living can recall when Africa was the great unknown continent in which anything mysterious might be found. "Out of Africa there always comes forth something new," said the old Roman, and his state of mind has persisted until only the other day.

Now Africa is being modernized. Word comes of a British project to build a military superhighway all the way across the continent from Nigeria on the Atlantic to the port of Mombasa on the Indian Ocean.

A good road running through the African jungles will be an innovation indeed. It may have signs, "Detour: Leopards ahead."

TAXES AND INFLATION

The House Ways and Means Committee is getting much criticism for failing to push through the administration's requested $10,000,000,000 tax increase in jig time. It is complained that the committee thereby interferes with the fight against inflation, since the tax presumably would be anti-inflationary.

If it is desired to combat inflation by taxation, why not tax all income one hundred per cent? The government then could provide shelter, food, clothing and entertainment for the people, and nobody would ever have to worry about inflation.

'These Days'

WHAT WAR CAN COST

The 1952 budget, whch may or may not be passed as is, amounts to $71,594,000,000. That compares with the 1951 budget of $47,210,000,000. Receipts for 1951 were estimated at $44,512,000,000; for 1952 at $55,138,000,000. That means that the government will run short about $16,456,000,000, which will have to be added to the national debt.

Of the $71,594,000,000 which the government plans to expend in 1952, $41,421,000,000 will be expended by the military forces.

The President is employing the double budget method, which means that he adds to the budget separate appropriations, loan and contract authorizations part of which will be spent in 1952 and part in subsequent years. These bring the amount up to $94,400,000,000 to which is to be added an additional $4,100,000,000 that is to liquidate contract authorizations approved by Congress in prior years, for which he needs funds. The total will be $98,500,000,000.

This is the third largest appropriation in American history, being exceeded only by 1943 and 1944 when we were actually at war and spending like mad against time. No one in those years could tell how long the war would last or where we would be hit and therefore we spent our money on the assumption that by that means we would save American lives. It was war budgeting, frankly so accepted.

Then this same administration, which is now asking for so much, demobilized our armed forces, destroyed billions of dollars of usable materials, drove tanks into the ocean, put our fleet in moth balls, sold salvage goods everywhere, left deserted dumps of supplies—and now it all is to be started all over again. And, unfortunately for us, it must be done all over again.

Meanwhile, the President wants to use our money to play politics as usual. So the items for social security, welfare and benefits rise in 1952 over 1951 by $100,000,000, although there certainly could be a cut, in view of the fact that we cannot afford luxuries at a time when the people are being taxed beyond their capacity to pay taxes. The Hoover reports are ignored.

Similarly, the President advocates a vast increase in socialist power development, which not only adds to the citizen's tax burdens but takes off the tax roll government-owned corporations. These tax-free corporations, owned by the government, are luxuries which we cannot afford.

The most amazing fact about this budget is that it includes a concealed Brannan plan which the President knows that the country and the Congress reject but which turns up constantly like a privately minted bad penny. Nobody has yet been able to estimate the actual cost of the Brannan plan. To add that onto a war budget is sheer financial madness.

The constitutional responsibility for the budget is in Congress, not in the presidency. Congress cannot dodge this responsibility. It alone has the power of the purse and must stand before the electorate in 1952 to answer for its conduct. The wasteful expenditure of the taxpayers' money is unjustified at any time. It becomes criminal at a time of rising prices, depreciated currency and war expenditures.

Congress has the final word in all this and should speak loud and clear and with a sense of responsibility to the electorate.

One of the tricks developed during the New Deal was to bring noble brass before a congressional committee who solemnly declare that they always need more and more money. To doubt the word or impugn the wisdom of brass is tantamount to treason in the eyes of many. So, we bow our heads and bend our knees and wait for the years to pass when we learn, from the course of events, that what we were told just ain't so. It would be interesting to go over all the congressional hearings since 1939 to compare statements made with the facts as they have disclosed themselves in due course.

Congressional investigations need to be conducted not to confuse the people. For instance, when Senator Connally sent his vulgarly insulting invitation to Herbert Hoover, requesting Mr. Hoover to attend his committee's investigation of the "great debate," he disclosed a desire not to get at the truth but to offend Mr. Hoover. He got a sharp response for his pains. Yet, the congressional committee exists for an examination of all the data to lay a truthful foundation for legislation.

That Body of Yours

DANGERS OF OVERWEIGHT

I write often about the disadvantages and dangers of overweight because of its importance to health. The disadvantages are well known: loss of the figure, inability to take part in games and dancing, awkwardness, early tiredness after slight effort.

While these are serious enough, especially to a sensitive person, the real dangers of overweight are that that can cause such diseases as diabetes and high blood pressure, and so greatly shorten the life span. All insurance companies are very careful about insuring overweights and if they accept them, put up the price of the premium by a number of years.

It would be well to consider again the report from one of our highest authorities, the Mayo Clinic and the Mayo Foundation, as given in the Journal of the American Medical Association several months ago by Drs. Clifford E. Gastineau, Edward H. Rynearson and Alice Karslake Irmisch.

"Even moderate obesity (overweight) in the latter half of life increases the number or percentage of cases of many degenerative diseases including hypertension (high blood pressure), diabetes, cancer, heart disease, nephritis (inflammation of kidneys), hardening of the arteries, cirrhosis of the liver, blocking or stretching of the tiny air sacs, with loss of elasticity, in the lungs (emphysema) and varicose veins."

Overweight in the majority of cases, especially at or after midde age, comes on slowly and often unnoticed until the individual has a good opportunity of seeing himself in the mirror. Overweight can be removed slowly and surely in just the reverse of the manner in which it went on the body.

Excess fat accumulates in and on the body from eating more than the body needed for its daily work. It can be removed by eating less food than the body really needs, because the body processes will take the balance of the food it needs daily from the excess fat already there.

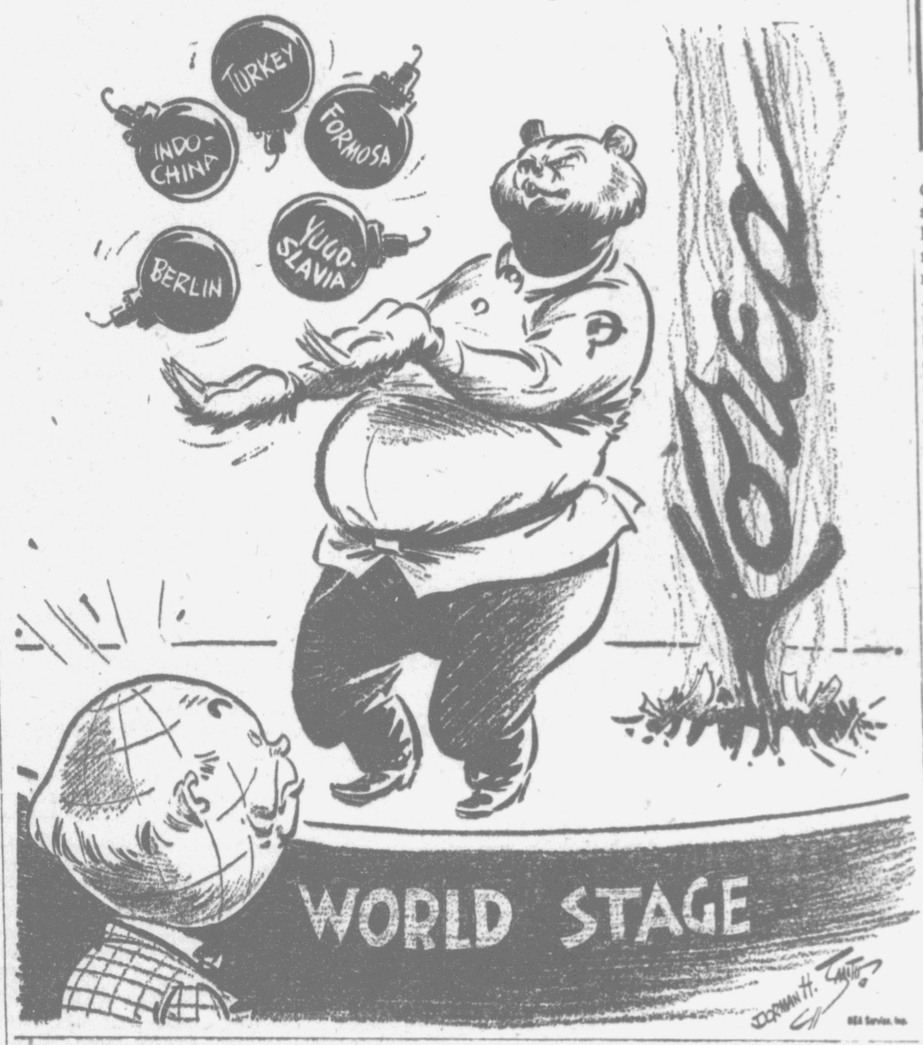

If, after two months of cutting down on foods and liquids by not less than 25 per cent, there is little or no loss of weight, the overweight is justified in consulting his physician regarding a metabolism test and the possible use of gland extracts.

Which One Will He Drop Next?

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — Mobilization boss Charles Wilson will assume drastic powers over aluminum, copper and steel, beginning the middle of June. He will put these strategic metals under a controlled material plan, which will give the government authority to regulate their use down to the last pound.

Wilson spelled out his plan behind closed doors to the Joint Congressional Committee on defense production.

"The controlled materials plan is one that will operate on scarce materials absolutely," the mobilization boss explained. "I mean, it will have the control of all the material in the particular line that is short."

However, Wilson added ruefully: "Once you start to control things, it is a terrific job. That is why I hate controls, and from the very bottom of my heart I hate controls."

The reason for this drastic control plan, Wilson said, was the dangerously short supply of aluminum shortage for this current year of maybe as much as 180,000 or 190,000 tons. . . . But by 1953, when these American plants of ours come in and begin to produce, we will have a plusage of aluminum, not much, may be 50,000 tons in 1953."

"Does that mean that, in 1953, alumnium will be in reasonably good supply for civilian use as well as military?" asked Utah's GOP Sen. Wallace Bennett.

"Yes sir," smiled Wilson.

G.I. Gripes

Letters pour into this column every day from G.I.'s exercising their time-honored American privilege to kick. It is impossible to investigate all their complaints, but from time to time, this column will publish the most serious G.I. gripes and try to give them a straight steer. Names will be withheld upon request.

A Draftee, Ft. Story, Va.—"There are 500 of us at Ft. Story who haven't been home since we were drafted. Now we are supposed to be shipped overseas. We were promised ten days leave, but this has been cut to three days. This isn't even enough time to go home and tell our folks goodbye."

Ans.—Investigation reveals that several camps have cut furloughs in order to complete training schedules and still meet shipping schedules. However, this column protested to the army which promised to send a directive to all camps, ordering at least a seven-day furlough for every G.I. before he is shipped overseas.

Capt. Roger C. White, Jr., somewhere in Korea—"I wish the people of the U. S. could see the horror of war as exhibited in Korea. Hundreds of men, women and children are dying daily from lack of food and the intense cold. Is there no way to aid them?"

Ans.—"CARE" is now rushing food and clothing to Korean refugees.

A Sergeant, Camp Stoneman, Calif.—"Whatever happened to the much-publicized point system announced last fall, under which enlisted reservists with sufficient points would not be sent overseas?"

Ans.—The point system was hastily abandoned Nov. 7, 1950, less than two weeks after it was adopted. An army spokesman explained it was scrapped because of Chinese intervention in Korea. Reminded that the Chinese didn't intervene until late November, he consulted his superiors and came back with the story that the critical military situation had caused the plan to be dropped. However, it was pointed out that the military situation was more critical on Oct. 28 when the point system was announced than on Nov. 7 when it was dropped. The army had no further alibis.

Elmer Hency, Sr., Oran, Mo.—"Can't anything be done to help my three boys in uniform? They sacrificed high civilian wages to serve Uncle Sam, but they have to pay income taxes even on their small army incomes."

Ans.—Enlisted men in combat zones are exempt from paying income taxes. If they are stationed in noncombat areas, however, they must pay taxes the same as civilians. Meanwhile, several bills have been introduced in Congress to exempt all enlisted men from paying income taxes. The best thing you can do is write to the House Ways and Means Committee, urging tax relief for all G.I.'s.

A Paratrooper, Ft. Campbell, Ky.—"We have been ordered to sign forms that we 'may not own, or maintain, or operate a motor vehicle that is not registered at Ft. Campbell.' I have a car in my name, but it is being driven by my wife at home. If this form is legal, then what is to stop the army from telling me that I should sell my home or divorce my wife and send my children to on orphanage?"

Ans.—This form was issued in the hope of reducing accidents around Ft. Campbell. The only legal grounds for it is the authority of the army to maintain safety at its installations. The army cannot take away your automobile, and probably won't try.

'Job Selling' Scandal

Here is the inside story on the Mississippi "job-selling" scandal. Mississippi's two senators have affidavits from 20 rural mail carriers, postmasters and contractors who say they were charged as high as $1,500 for jobs and favors. The senators' constituents claim to have been approached by representatives of the so-called Truman faction of the Democratic party.

Jobs were sold at the following prices: $1,500 for rural mail carrier, a position not requiring Senate confirmation; $300 to $400 for acting postmaster (this payment is small, since postmasters must be confirmed by the Senate); $300 for County Director of Price Stabilization.

Contractors also paid $200 to be placed on a nonexistent eligible list for war contracts. A Columbus, Miss., contractor reported he did not pay the fee.

Note—The Truman faction of the Democratic party in Mississippi is headed by Clarence Hood, acting national committeeman.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Feb. 26—Winston Churchill, usually well-informed, simply didn't have the facts when he stirred up in the House of Commons a flag-waving debate bemoaning the appointment of an American admiral to a post which the former British Prime Minister believed was to be a command over all the 12 navies of the North Atlantic treaty countries.

Actually there is not to be any over-all naval commander at all, either now or in the future. The setup doesn't call for it. The official plan, carefully worked out by committees from the 12 governments during the last several weeks, calls for a supreme allied commander in Europe and that's General Eisenhower. His principal deputy or second in command is British General Montgomery. Whatever naval forces are utilized by General Eisenhower will be under his command along with all air forces and ground forces in Europe.

There will be subordinate naval commanders in the European area working with General Eisenhower and doubtless a British admiral will command the ships of the British home fleet and any other allied units working in that particular vicinity.

There is as yet to be appointed a naval commander for the Mediterranean and another for the North Sea area. Perhaps two British admirals will command two of these three divisions. But both will be under General Eisenhower, anyway.

The command given to Admiral William M. Fechteler of the United States navy, which was the subject of the Churchill blast, is to coordinate all naval operations in the Atlantic—that is, between this country and the waters immediately surrounding Europe. The area of this command ranges from our own Atlantic coast northward along the Canadian coast to Iceland and across to the Azores and other Portuguese islands. It does not include British home waters.

Admiral Fechteler will not report to or be a part of General Eisenhower's command. His headquarters will be at Norfolk, Va.—a better point than any place in Europe from which to watch Atlantic ocean operations apart from the immediate approaches to Europe. The Fechteler command will have primary responsibility for any anti-submarine campaign and the transport of troops to Europe.

As for the Mediterranean, it is unlikely that the American carrier task forces which are essential to that area's operations would be placed under the command of any British admiral. Unfortunately, Great Britain has not built up her carrier aviation and her commanders do not have the breadth of experience which American naval commanders got in carrier-based aviation during the last war.

Incidentally the professional servicemen of the 12 countries who have been mapping out the details of the various naval commands are working harmoniously together and, until the Churchill outburst, no problems of national pride had arisen to impair the practicability of the decisions made.

When Mr. Churchill asks "Where is the British admiral?" he might have been asked in turn "and where are the British ships?" For it is a fact that since 1945 the British navy has been starved by the Labor government and, if he were looking for a basis for political attack, that subject might have been of more pertinent interest to the world than the protest about an over-all command appointment that hasn't been and never will be made. Incidentally, speaking of traditions, Mr. Churchill is a devoted friend of America but in his speech pointing to the "traditions" of the British navy, he overlooked the fact that the American navy isn't so lacking in "traditions" either, even going as far back as John Paul Jones, Commodore Perry, James Lawrence and Stephen Decatur.

Surely the British government which is now relying on the United States Navy to police the seven seas is well aware, though maybe Mr. Churchill forgot it, that where there is power there must be commensurate responsibility. America's seapower which today is basically airpower has in technical advancement gone far beyond those achievements of surface, undersea and air warfare which they pursued so gloriously when Mr. Churchill was prime minister.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

You may have wondered what I have been driving at in my plodding expose of the phony congressional investigation of "lobbying" which was conducted last summer by a special committee of the House under the chairmanship of a poor hack from McKeesport, Pa., named Frank Buchanan.

I am going to show you that this was a scheme to railroad a few individuals to jail for operating anti-Communist propaganda societies.

I challenged the committee while it still had some time to run, and promised to blow the whole thing wide open. Recently, I called on Buchanan, who somehow got himself mired in this thing, and confronted him with three indictments charging him with cheap fraud. He said they were not real indictments but just informations. He is a liar. They were true bills by grand juries. Then he said he was cleared when the true bills were nolle prossed. Again he lied. On the back of each true bill the statement is written that the indictment was dismissed on the payment of the costs by the defendant.

Chester Harris, of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, who covered that end of these cases, wrote that he interviewed Grant L. Stoner, an engineer, of 1511 Prescott avenue, McKeesport, where Buchanan formerly was mayor, and Stoner told him: "He (Buchanan) straightened up with my son. And he also paid the costs of the case."

The son, George Stoner, a minor at the time, had bought an automobile from Buchanan.

By Harris: "Was this Buchanan the same man who later became mayor of McKeesport and is now congressman?"

By Stoner: "Yes, the very same man."

Buchanan declined to examine photographs of the indictments when I offered them to him.

Congressman Clarence J. Brown of Ohio, a Republican, was amazed when I showed him the indictments. He said he wished that he had had them during the phony inquiry into "lobbying" which was instigated by some force outside Congress. Congressman Joseph P. O'Hara, of Minnesota, also a Republican, expressed similar reaction. They both believed the inquiry was an outside job.

Lucien Hilmer, the "staff director" of the committee, was counsel for George Shaw Wheeler, the American who turned against the United States after serving in the American Military Government in Germany, and went over the hill to Communist Czechoslovakia. There he was reported to have asked for asylum. Before joining the American Military Government, Wheeler had been employed in the Department of Labor, the War Production Board and the Foreign Economic Administration.

Himler represented Wheeler before a Loyalty Board of the Civil Cervice Commission in a hearing held on October 29, 1945. Five men in army uniform testified that Wheeler was of good character. The case was founded on a report from the Civil Service Commission to the Foreign Economic Administration that Wheeler had been found ineligible for government employment according to data gathered by the F.B.I. and the Civil Service Commission. Hilmer was assigned by the F.E.A. to defend Wheeler.

The Civil Service Commission sent a report to the House Committee on Un-American Activities which said Hilmer immediately attacked the commission, stating that the hearings were "un-American and totalitarian." Hilmer demanded that Wheeler's

Coach House Players' One-Act Play Shows Fine Comedy Spirit

A talented interpretation of fine comedy earmarked Stanley Houghton's "The Dear Departed," a one act play, which was presented Thursday night by the Coach House Players to their members.

Outstanding in the cast was Mrs. Slater, the mother, played by Maureen Rice. When the small actress wasn't conniving with her words, she was conniving with her eyes; an instance when calm facial expressions spoke louder than words.

Her lovable husband was played to perfection by Howard Honig, a drama major at Bard College. His acting ability, the Players feel, is tangible proof of his love for the theatre, and the group has demanded repeat appearances.

Meanwhile Marie Costello, in the role of Mrs. Jordan, kept the blue smoke of the family feud floating evenly, in the sly sort of manner difficult for any actor or actress to accomplish.

Marilyn Maines, cast in the role of the young daughter, displayed an enthusiastically received dramatic ability. Peak of her performance came when her grandfather, who was thought to be dead, suddenly became very much alive.

Other members of the cast included Dennis Brady as Mrs. Jordon's henpecked husband and Dick Becker who captivated his audience with his portrayal of Grandfather Merryweather.

Congratulations also go to Terry Roberts and her makeup committee who so convincingly changed youthful actors into older characters.

The play, which over 200 members attended was under the direction of George Hard, with Elizabeth Swope and Carolyn Gross in charge of properties. Refreshments were served by Dannie Loomis and her committee.

Meanwhile, Irving Rose, president of the Coach House Players, has announced the group's next two productions, with one scheduled for mid-April, and the other for June. The next production, "The Alarm Clock," is a family story that has topped the comedy list for several years. The second play will be "Strange Bedfellows," a political comedy, requiring a large cast, which rolls time back to the 1900 era. This production, slated for June, will be held in the Woodstock Theatre if the Coach House Theatre is still unready for occupancy.

New members, it has been reported, are joining the Players at each meeting, and all active members are prepared to supply applications for membership.

Good Taste Today

THE MEANING OF DEBUTANTE

A question very often asked and very hard to answer comes from a mother: "What is the sense of having a daughter of 17 or 18 'come out' at a special party? Not long ago we had such a party sponsored by a woman's club for the so-called debutantes of our city. This actually was for a small group whose families were socially prominent and could afford to buy them correct clothes, etc. Our daughter and her friends were not invited and they are all nice girls. If the term 'coming out' means a girl is now old enough to go about in public places and have dates, then all in this group of young girls have been out for for several years. Many of them are still away at college and most of them travel extensively. So what are the meanings of the words debutante and 'coming out' and why all the fuss?"

It is a "fuss" that has been the custom in the greater cities for generations. In small communities it is less usual. A debutante is simply a young girl who, having reached the age of eighteen, is considered old enough to go to that winter's grown-up receptions, teas, dances and other parties. This usually is announced by her appearance at a tea or other party given for her, or by her appearance at a debutante dance given by her parents, or perhaps by the members of a certain club for their own daughters. In this last case, other young girls whose parents happen not to be members of that special club could not be included, no matter how lovely they may be. Obviously, the larger the city, the less general the invitations.

Individual Baking Dishes

Dear Mrs. Post: In a restaurant, when chicken pie or something of that sort is served in individual baking dishes, how should it be eaten?

Answer: Usually these individual serving dishes are put down beside your plate and you take half of the contents at a time, the remaining half staying hot in the dish.

Using 'Informals'

Dear Mrs. Post: I have an abundant supply of large-size folded cards called "informals" I think. These have my full name and title on them. In what manner can I use these up in connection with my wedding? I'll soon be Mrs. . . . and won't be able to use the cards.

Answer: You might write your thank-you notes (before marriage) on them and other short notes or brief invitations.

Her lovable husband was played to perfection by Howard Honig, a drama major at Bard College. His acting ability, the Players feel, is tangible proof of his love for the theatre, and the group has demanded repeat appearances.

Meanwhile Marie Costello, in the role of Mrs. Jordan, kept the blue smoke of the family feud floating evenly, in the sly sort of manner difficult for any actor or actress to accomplish.

Marilyn Maines, cast in the role of the young daughter, displayed an enthusiastically received dramatic ability. Peak of her performance came when her grandfather, who was thought to be dead, suddenly became very much alive.

Other members of the cast included Dennis Brady as Mrs. Jordon's henpecked husband and Dick Becker who captivated his audience with his portrayal of Grandfather Merryweather.

Congratulations also go to Terry Roberts and her makeup committee who so convincingly changed youthful actors into older characters.

The play, which over 200 members attended was under the direction of George Hard, with Elizabeth Swope and Carolyn Gross in charge of properties. Refreshments were served by Dannie Loomis and her committee.

Meanwhile, Irving Rose, president of the Coach House Players, has announced the group's next two productions, with one scheduled for mid-April, and the other for June. The next production, "The Alarm Clock," is a family story that has topped the comedy list for several years. The second play will be "Strange Bedfellows," a political comedy, requiring a large cast, which rolls time back to the 1900 era. This production, slated for June, will be held in the Woodstock Theatre if the Coach House Theatre is still unready for occupancy.

New members, it has been reported, are joining the Players at each meeting, and all active members are prepared to supply applications for membership.

THE MEANING OF DEBUTANTE

A question very often asked and very hard to answer comes from a mother: "What is the sense of having a daughter of 17 or 18 'come out' at a special party? Not long ago we had such a party sponsored by a woman's club for the so-called debutantes of our city. This actually was for a small group whose families were socially prominent and could afford to buy them correct clothes, etc. Our daughter and her friends were not invited and they are all nice girls. If the term 'coming out' means a girl is now old enough to go about in public places and have dates, then all in this group of young girls have been out for several years. Many of them are still away at college and most of them travel extensively. So what are the meanings of the words debutante and 'coming out' and why all the fuss?"

It is a "fuss" that has been the custom in the greater cities for generations. In small communities it is less usual. A debutante is simply a young girl who, having reached the age of eighteen, is considered old enough to go to that winter's grown-up receptions, teas, dances and other parties. This usually is announced by her appearance at a tea or other party given for her, or by her appearance at a debutante dance given by her parents, or perhaps by the members of a certain club for their own daughters. In this last case, other young girls whose parents happen not to be members of that special club could not be included, no matter how lovely they may be. Obviously, the larger the city, the less general the invitations.

Individual Baking Dishes

Dear Mrs. Post: In a restaurant, when chicken pie or something of that sort is served in individual baking dishes, how should it be eaten?

Answer: Usually these individual serving dishes are put down beside your plate and you take half of the contents at a time, the remaining half staying hot in the dish.

Using 'Informals'

Dear Mrs. Post: I have an abundant supply of large-size folded cards called "informals" I think. These have my full name and title on them. In what manner can I use these up in connection with my wedding? I'll soon be Mrs. . . . . and won't be able to use the cards.

Answer: You might write your thank-you notes (before marriage) on them and other short notes or brief invitations.

Coach House Players' One-Act Play Shows Fine Comedy Spirit

A talented interpretation of fine comedy earmarked Stanley Houghton's "The Dear Departed," a one act play, which was presented Thursday night by the Coach House Players to their members.

Outstanding in the cast was Mrs. Slater, the mother, played by Maureen Rice. When the small actress wasn't conniving with her words, she was conniving with her eyes; an instance when calm facial expressions spoke louder than words.

Her lovable husband was played to perfection by Howard Honig, a drama major at Bard College. His acting ability, the Players feel, is tangible proof of his love for the theatre, and the group has demanded repeat appearances.

Using 'Informals'

Dear Mrs. Post: I have an abundant supply of large-size folded cards called "informals" I think. These have my full name and title on them. In what manner can I use these up in connection with my wedding? I'll soon be Mrs. . . . and won't be able to use the cards.

Answer: You might write your thank-you notes (before marriage) on them and other short notes or brief invitations.

What shall I serve for refreshments for an afternoon bridge party? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. However, her leaflet E-25, "Menus for Every Occasion," includes the answer to the above question. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to her, care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Red Cross Aid Up 250 Per Cent Since Korean War

War in Korea has caused a 250 per cent increase in monthly financial help to servicemen and their families from American Red Cross chapters all over the United States, it was disclosed here by G. Wallace Codwise, chairman of the Ulster County chapter of the Red Cross.

The local chapter Home Service case load has increased about 100 per cent since the Korean war. Financial assistance about 150 per cent. Fifty per cent of the total case load has involved financial assistance to active servicemen's dependents while awaiting receipt of government allotments.

The nationwide figures were received in a report from Red Cross National Headquarters in Washington, D. C., Codwise said. The figures, based on an adjusted comparison of November and July reports from about half of the 3,728 Red Cross chapters in the country, revealed that total chapter service to servicemen and their families was up 73 per cent.

Reports for last November, Codwise said, listed 22,241 financial assistance cases—more than 13,000 being active service families. A total of $675,717 in financial help was given during the month, $540,135 of it to the service group.

Describing the type of service engaged in by the Red Cross, Codwise said most of the financial help was extended to meet emergencies in the families of servicemen while awaiting receipt of allotment checks or other government benefits. Assistance was given also in cases of unexpected illness and for medical and hospital care of servicemen's dependants.

Total Home Service cases handled by Red Cross chapters throughout the country in November (including those requiring financial aid) reached 140,906 of which 981,572 were servicemen and their families, 50,318 veterans and their dependents, and 8,836 civilians, Codwise concluded. Aid included counseling on personal and family problems, reporting and communications service and other welfare assistance.

ONLY FOUR MORE TO GO—Thirty-two states out of the necessary 36 have now ratified the proposed 22nd amendment to the Constitution which would limit any future president to two terms. The proposal, passed by Congress in March, 1947, has until March, 1954, to secure ratification and become a part of the Constitution. However, eight states have already approved proposal this year, and at least four more are considered likely to ratify at an early date. Although President Truman is specifically exempted from the proposal, some politicians believe it is building up an ethical obstacle to his nomination in 1952.

Thursday Is Last Day for Employers To File Reports

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 26 (AP)—Thursday is the deadline for employers to file state income tax withholding reports covering workers who live outside the state.

The State Tax Commission also reminded employers yesterday that state income tax information reports of resident employes also are due Thursday. More than 400,000 employers must file such reports, on forms 105 and 106, on resident workers who last year received more than $1,100, if single, or more than $2,750, if married.

The tax will be payable on a basis of 90 per cent of the "full" rate, the State Tax Commission said yesterday.

Employers of workers who live outside the state must withhold the personal income tax from the employes' pay.

The withholding reports, filed on Forms 102 and 103, and the amount of tax withheld, previously were due Feb. 15. The 1950 Legislature, however, changed the deadline to March 1.

About 155,000 non-resident employes paid a total of $17,854,000 in state income taxes last year.

Do You Remember

by SOPHIE MILLER

Suppose someone asked you, what carried the front page of the "Freeman" in 1936—what would you answer? I have before me, a Saturday, March 21, 1936 Freeman which my father had saved among other papers. One of the headlines read: "Father Divine buys Sweeney property in Wilbur, as broker foresees many local benefits . . ." This made four farms and one city residence which Divine bought in Ulster county at the time. Remember at a later date when the steamer docked down at Ferry street and brought thousands of his "angels" to his "heaven"? How they marched through the streets of Broadway and up Abeel street. Now it's all like a dream, as though it never happened. I remember as I stood on the pier to watch the excitement, suddenly I saw "Father Divine" on one of the decks, recognized him from seeing him in movie news and cried out, "There's Father Divine." One of the lady "angels" put her arms around me, thinking I was also a follower and rocked back and forth with me, using endearing terms. I smiled back and soon was able to get free and lost in the crowd so I could watch him go down the gangplank.

Another front page heading reads: "Bruno's coounsel feel sure of saving him from electric chair." That was the famous Bruno Richard Hauptmann-Lindbergh baby kidnap slaying cast at Trenton, N. J. Governor Harold G. Hoffman, at the time was trying to arrange an interview with Dr. Condon to settle some of the intricate details of this mystery. Remember the name "Jafsie" was used for communications.

In the European situation, Britain was having trouble with Hitler, offering a counter plan for the Rhineland problem. The WPA was in full swing at that time. But what really pushed everything off the front page was the "unabated flood" which carried new paths of destruction through the Pittsburgh, Johnstown and Wheeling areas. The Connecticut river was flooding over, and some 167 people were dead or missing. There were some $3,000,000 damages. In the Binghamton and Albany sections alone some 8,000 persons were homeless. State forces and W.P.A. were aiding as well as the Red Cross. The WPA was even treating county of Ulster water with chloride of lime as well as other nearby counties.

Now 15 years later, wild floods still remain unconquered. The Hitler situation grew from a mere British discussion into one of the cruelest wars. Of course everyone knows what happened to Hauptmann. And Father Divine is hardly remembered not only in Ulster county but in the news as well. Thus time marches on, for better or for worse.

Reading "Spinny's" adv. of Port Ewen, made me look twice, which I now pass on to you good readers. "Roast beef, mashed potatoes, bread, butter, and a large glass of beer—15 cents," and, music for dancing by "Gondoliers." Why that's even cheaper than "free lunch" of the gay ninety era. Don't you think?

Scout Camp Movie Depicts Activities At East Jewett

A 20-minute film of activities at Camp Tri-Mount, Boy Scout camp at East Jewett, is available to scout troops, sponsoring institutions or any groups of persons interested in scouting and camping, it was announced today by the Rip Van Winkle Boy Scout Council.

The film was previewed by the Kingston district leaders at a meeting Tuesday night at the Kingston City Laboratory. Following its showing, Walter Tremper led a discussion on ways of getting a larger representation of troops to attend the camp.

Reporting on an executive meeting of the council, President George Matthews said that the number of registered scouts in the Kingston district is increasing. He also announced that the new scout executive will assume his duties here "in the near future."

Troop activity reports given at the Tuesday night meeting included the following:

Troop 12 had 30 scouts on a hike, won first place at the district rally, and continued to operate a troop newspaper and drum corps.

Troop 9 entertained Troops 11 and 32 at an inter-troop night, and recommends more such events.

Troop 11 reported 23 of its 24 scouts participated in Scout Week church service. One troop project was the distribution of Easter Seal posters.

Troop 26's exhibit in Port Ewen at the Esopus Town Hall was one of the troop's highlights. The troop took second place in the rally, and participated in Scout Week services.

Troop 6 acknowledged the addition of a volunteer leader through the district organization. It participated in Scout Week church service, scout rally and paper drive.

Troop 5 participated in scout rally, paper drive, and its members attended Friday night services at the Synagogue as part of Scout Week. Two of its First Class Scouts have earned five merit badges. The troop now has 22 scouts and expects more registrants.

Also at Tuesday night's meeting, Harry Rigby, Jr., discussed the organizational structure and function of the district, terming it "the most important link in scouting." David Mendel, vice chairman, and Samuel Trull, chairman, presided at the meeting.

Announcement was made that the March meeting of the district will be a dinner meeting at the First Baptist Church on March 19.

accusers be brought to face him. The commission explained that the loyalty board had neither power of subpoena nor money to pay the transportation and other costs of witnesses.

"Attorney Hilmer was abusive all through the hearing," the report said, "and at every opportunity would belittle the Civil Service Commission, insult the board members and attempt to bulldoze the board.

Hilmer formerly was assistant to Max Lowenthal, the mysterious, ubiquitous figure only recently introduced to public notice by Jonathan Daniels, one of President Truman's selfless secretaries, in his Truman biography entitled "Man of Independence." Daniels depicted Lowenthal as a dominating personality who had spotted a promising, or pliable, character in the petty county commissioner from Kansas City. Lowenthal had had a hand in molding Truman's beliefs, which abruptly turned radical socialistic. In Daniels' description, Truman was a sort of Mortimer Snerd who got an attack of intelect after Lowenthal introduced him to Louis D. Brandeis. Daniels portrayed Lowenthal as a modest man, but Lowenthal's own testimony disclosed an arrogant, boastful fellow when he appeared before the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

Unlike George Shaw Wheeler, who appeared with Lowenthal's assistant, Lucien Hilmer, as his counsel, Lowenthal refused to be examined at all by the Civil Service Commission. Lowenthal spoke scornfully of a "little" investigator for the commission. He said it would be beneath his dignity to answer. Lowenthal substantially refused to tell the committee on un-American activities the names of mysterious private organizations which procured his appointment to an important financial position on the staff of General Lucius Clay in Berlin or the names of individuals who approached him to that purpose. The committee let Lowenthal get away with this defiance. But Buchanan's committee caused the indictment of Edward Rumely and Joseph Kamp for refusing to make public the names of individuals who bought books from them advocating their concept of constitutional government.

Louis Little, of Pittsburgh, counsel for Buchanan's committee, came under fire from Congressman Clare Hoffman, of Michigan. He retired from the inquiry before the committee expired.

Red Cross Aid Up 250 Per Cent Since Korean War

War in Korea has caused a 250 per cent increase in monthly financial help to servicemen and their families from American Red Cross chapters all over the United States, it was disclosed here by G. Wallace Codwise, chairman of the Ulster County chapter of the Red Cross.

The local chapter Home Service case load has increased about 100 per cent since the Korean war. Financial assistance about 150 per cent. Fifty per cent of the total case load has involved financial assistance to active servicemen's dependents while awaiting receipt of government allotments.

The nationwide figures were received in a report from Red Cross National Headquarters in Washington, D. C., Codwise said. The figures, based on an adjusted comparison of November and July reports from about half of the 3,728 Red Cross chapters in the country, revealed that total chapter service to servicemen and their families was up 73 per cent.

Reports for last November, Codwise said, listed 22,241 financial assistance cases—more than 13,000 being active service families A total of $675,717 in financial help was given during the month, $540,135 of it to the service group.

Describing the type of service engaged in by the Red Cross, Codwise said most of the financial help was extended to meet emergencies in the families of servicemen while awaiting receipt of allotment checks or other government benefits. Assistance was given also in cases of unexpected illness and for medical and hospital care of servicemen's dependants.

Total Home Service cases handled by Red Cross chapters throughout the country in November (including those requiring financial aid) reached 140,906 of which $81,572 were servicemen and their families, 50,318 veterans and their dependents, and 8,836 civilians, Codwise concluded. Aid included counseling on personal and family problems, reporting and communications service and other welfare assistance.

Thursday Is Last Day for Employers To File Reports

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 26 (AP)—Thursday is the deadline for employers to file state income tax withholding reports covering workers who live outside the state.

The State Tax Commission also reminded employers yesterday that state income tax information reports of resident employes also are due Thursday. More than 400,000 employers must file such reports, on forms 105 and 106, on resident workers who last year received more than $1,100, if single, or more than $2,750, if married.

The tax will be payable on a basis of 90 per cent of the "full" rate, the State Tax Commission said yesterday.

Employers of workers who live outside the state must withhold the personal income tax from the employes' pay.

The withholding reports, filed on Forms 102 and 103, and the amount of tax withheld, previously were due Feb. 15. The 1950 Legislature, however, changed the deadline to March 1.

About 155,000 non-resident employes paid a total of $17,854,000 in state income taxes last year.

Do You Remember

by SOPHIE MILLER

Suppose someone asked you, what carried the front page of the "Freeman" in 1936—what would you answer? I have before me, a Saturday, March 21, 1936 Freeman which my father had saved among other papers. One of the headlines read: "Father Divine buys Sweeney property in Wilbur, as broker foresees many local benefits . . ." This made four farms and one city residence which Divine bought in Ulster county at the time. Remember at a later date when the steamer docked down at Ferry street and brought thousands of his "angels" to his "heaven"? How they marched through the streets of Broadway and up Abeel street. Now it's all like a dream, as though it never happened. I remember as I stood on the pier to watch the excitement, suddenly I saw "Father Divine" on one of the decks, recognized him from seeing him in movie news and cried out, "There's Father Divine." One of the lady "angels" put her arms around me, thinking I was also a follower and rocked back and forth with me, using endearing terms. I smiled back and soon was able to get free and lost in the crowd so I could watch him go down the gangplank.

Another front page heading reads: "Bruno's coounsel feel sure of saving him from electric chair." That was the famous Bruno Richard Hauptmann-Lindbergh baby kidnap slaying cast at Trenton, N. J. Governor Harold G. Hoffman, at the time was trying to arrange an interview with Dr. Condon to settle some of the intricate details of this mystery. Remember the name "Jafsie" was used for communications.

In the European situation, Britain was having trouble with Hitler, offering a counter plan for the Rhineland problem. The WPA was in full swing at that time. But what really pushed everything off the front page was the "unabated flood" which carried new paths of destruction through the Pittsburgh, Johnstown and Wheeling areas. The Connecticut river was flooding over, and some 167 people were dead or missing. There were some $3,000,000 damages. In the Binghamton and Albany sections alone some 8,000 persons were homeless. State forces and W.P.A. were aiding as well as the Red Cross. The WPA was even treating county of Ulster water with chloride of lime as well as other nearby counties.

Now 15 years later, wild floods still remain unconquered. The Hitler situation grew from a mere British discussion into one of the cruelest wars. Of course everyone knows what happened to Hauptmann. And Father Divine is hardly remembered not only in Ulster county but in the news as well. Thus time marches on, for better or for worse.

Reading "Spinny's" adv. of Port Ewen, made me look twice, which I now pass on to you good readers. "Roast beef, mashed potatoes, bread, butter, and a large glass of beer—15 cents," and, music for dancing by "Gondoliers." Why that's even cheaper than "free lunch" of the gay ninety era. Don't you think?

Scout Camp Movie Depicts Activities At East Jewett

A 20-minute film of activities at Camp Tri-Mount, Boy Scout camp at East Jewett, is available to scout troops, sponsoring institutions or any groups of persons interested in scouting and camping, it was announced today by the Rip Van Winkle Boy Scout Council.

The film was previewed by the Kingston district leaders at a meeting Tuesday night at the Kingston City Laboratory. Following its showing, Walter Tremper led a discussion on ways of getting a larger representation of troops to attend the camp.

Reporting on an executive meeting of the council, President George Matthews said that the number of registered scouts in the Kingston district is increasing. He also announced that the new scout executive will assume his duties here "in the near future."

Troop activity reports given at the Tuesday night meeting included the following:

Troop 12 had 30 scouts on a hike, won first place at the district rally, and continued to operate a troop newspaper and drum corps.

Troop 9 entertained Troops 11 and 32 at an inter-troop night, and recommends more such events.

Troop 11 reported 23 of its 24 scouts participated in Scout Week church service. One troop project was the distribution of Easter Seal posters.

Troop 26's exhibit in Port Ewen at the Esopus Town Hall was one of the troop's highlights. The troop took second place in the rally, and participated in Scout Week services.

Troop 6 acknowledged the addition of a volunteer leader through the district organization. It participated in Scout Week church service, scout rally and paper drive.

Troop 5 participated in scout rally, paper drive, and its members attended Friday night services at the Synagogue as part of Scout Week. Two of its First Class Scouts have earned five merit badges. The troop now has 22 scouts and expects more registrants.

Also at Tuesday night's meeting, Harry Rigby, Jr., discussed the organizational structure and function of the district, terming it "the most important link in scouting." David Mendel, vice chairman, and Samuel Trull, chairman, presided at the meeting.

Announcement was made that the March meeting of the district will be a dinner meeting at the First Baptist Church on March 19.

Red Cross Aid Up 250 Per Cent Since Korean War

War in Korea has caused a 250 per cent increase in monthly financial help to servicemen and their families from American Red Cross chapters all over the United States, it was disclosed here by G. Wallace Codwise, chairman of the Ulster County chapter of the Red Cross.

The local chapter Home Service case load has increased about 100 per cent since the Korean war. Financial assistance about 150 per cent. Fifty per cent of the total case load has involved financial assistance to active servicemen's dependents while awaiting receipt of government allotments.

The nationwide figures were received in a report from Red Cross National Headquarters in Washington, D. C., Codwise said. The figures, based on an adjusted comparison of November and July reports from about half of the 3,728 Red Cross chapters in the country, revealed that total chapter service to servicemen and their families was up 73 per cent.

Reports for last November, Codwise said, listed 22,241 financial assistance cases—more than 13,000 being active service families A total of $675,717 in financial help was given during the month, $540,135 of it to the service group.

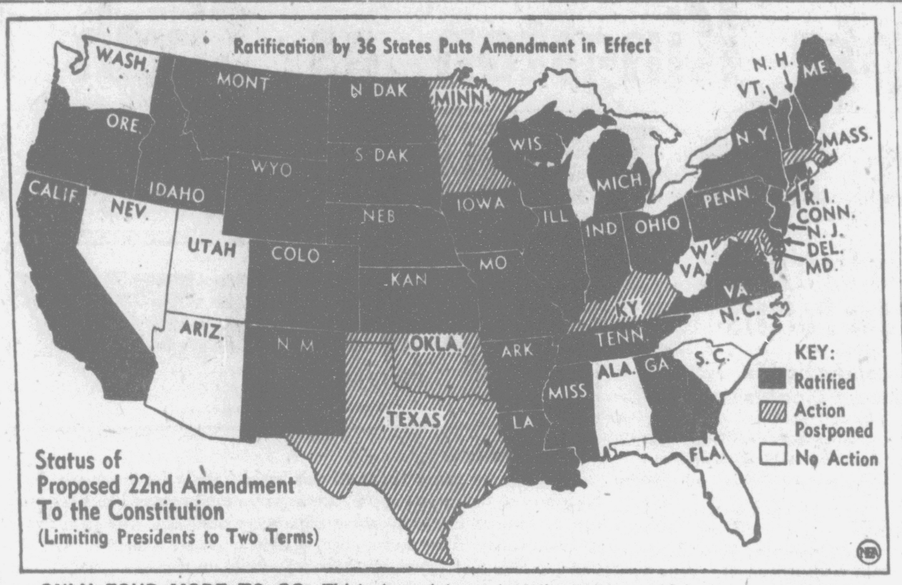

Describing the type of service engaged in by the Red Cross, Codwise said most of the financial help was extended to meet emergencies in the families of servicemen while awaiting receipt of allotment checks or other government benefits. Assistance was given also in cases of unexpected illness and for medical and hospital care of servicemen's dependants.

Total Home Service cases handled by Red Cross chapters throughout the country in November (including those requiring financial aid) reached 140,906 of which $81,572 were servicemen and their families, 50,318 veterans and their dependents, and 8,836 civilians, Codwise concluded. Aid included counseling on personal and family problems, reporting and communications service and other welfare assistance.

Thursday Is Last Day for Employers To File Reports

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 26 (AP)—Thursday is the deadline for employers to file state income tax withholding reports covering workers who live outside the state.

The State Tax Commission also reminded employers yesterday that state income tax information reports of resident employes also are due Thursday. More than 400,000 employers must file such reports, on forms 105 and 106, on resident workers who last year received more than $1,100, if single, or more than $2,750, if married.

The tax will be payable on a basis of 90 per cent of the "full" rate, the State Tax Commission said yesterday.

Employers of workers who live outside the state must withhold the personal income tax from the employes' pay.

The withholding reports, filed on Forms 102 and 103, and the amount of tax withheld, previously were due Feb. 15. The 1950 Legislature, however, changed the deadline to March 1.

About 155,000 non-resident employes paid a total of $17,854,000 in state income taxes last year.

Do You Remember

by SOPHIE MILLER

Suppose someone asked you, what carried the front page of the "Freeman" in 1936—what would you answer? I have before me, a Saturday, March 21, 1936 Freeman which my father had saved among other papers. One of the headlines read: "Father Divine buys Sweeney property in Wilbur, as broker foresees many local benefits . . ." This made four farms and one city residence which Divine bought in Ulster county at the time. Remember at a later date when the steamer docked down at Ferry street and brought thousands of his "angels" to his "heaven"? How they marched through the streets of Broadway and up Abeel street. Now it's all like a dream, as though it never happened. I remember as I stood on the pier to watch the excitement, suddenly I saw "Father Divine" on one of the decks, recognized him from seeing him in movie news and cried out, "There's Father Divine." One of the lady "angels" put her arms around me, thinking I was also a follower and rocked back and forth with me, using endearing terms. I smiled back and soon was able to get free and lost in the crowd so I could watch him go down the gangplank.

Another front page heading reads: "Bruno's coounsel feel sure of saving him from electric chair." That was the famous Bruno Richard Hauptmann-Lindbergh baby kidnap slaying cast at Trenton, N. J. Governor Harold G. Hoffman, at the time was trying to arrange an interview with Dr. Condon to settle some of the intricate details of this mystery. Remember the name "Jafsie" was used for communications.

In the European situation, Britain was having trouble with Hitler, offering a counter plan for the Rhineland problem. The WPA was in full swing at that time. But what really pushed everything off the front page was the "unabated flood" which carried new paths of destruction through the Pittsburgh, Johnstown and Wheeling areas. The Connecticut river was flooding over, and some 167 people were dead or missing. There were some $3,000,000 damages. In the Binghamton and Albany sections alone some 8,000 persons were homeless. State forces and W.P.A. were aiding as well as the Red Cross. The WPA was even treating county of Ulster water with chloride of lime as well as other nearby counties.

Now 15 years later, wild floods still remain unconquered. The Hitler situation grew from a mere British discussion into one of the cruelest wars. Of course everyone knows what happened to Hauptmann. And Father Divine is hardly remembered not only in Ulster county but in the news as well. Thus time marches on, for better or for worse.

Reading "Spinny's" adv. of Port Ewen, made me look twice, which I now pass on to you good readers. "Roast beef, mashed potatoes, bread, butter, and a large glass of beer—15 cents," and, music for dancing by "Gondoliers." Why that's even cheaper than "free lunch" of the gay ninety era. Don't you think?

Scout Camp Movie Depicts Activities At East Jewett

A 20-minute film of activities at Camp Tri-Mount, Boy Scout camp at East Jewett, is available to scout troops, sponsoring institutions or any groups of persons interested in scouting and camping, it was announced today by the Rip Van Winkle Boy Scout Council.

The film was previewed by the Kingston district leaders at a meeting Tuesday night at the Kingston City Laboratory. Following its showing, Walter Tremper led a discussion on ways of getting a larger representation of troops to attend the camp.

Reporting on an executive meeting of the council, President George Matthews said that the number of registered scouts in the Kingston district is increasing. He also announced that the new scout executive will assume his duties here "in the near future."

Troop activity reports given at the Tuesday night meeting included the following:

Troop 12 had 30 scouts on a hike, won first place at the district rally, and continued to operate a troop newspaper and drum corps.

Troop 9 entertained Troops 11 and 32 at an inter-troop night, and recommends more such events.

Troop 11 reported 23 of its 24 scouts participated in Scout Week church service. One troop project was the distribution of Easter Seal posters.

Troop 26's exhibit in Port Ewen at the Esopus Town Hall was one of the troop's highlights. The troop took second place in the rally, and participated in Scout Week services.

Troop 6 acknowledged the addition of a volunteer leader through the district organization. It participated in Scout Week church service, scout rally and paper drive.

Troop 5 participated in scout rally, paper drive, and its members attended Friday night services at the Synagogue as part of Scout Week. Two of its First Class Scouts have earned five merit badges. The troop now has 22 scouts and expects more registrants.

Also at Tuesday night's meeting, Harry Rigby, Jr., discussed the organizational structure and function of the district, terming it "the most important link in scouting." David Mendel, vice chairman, and Samuel Trull, chairman, presided at the meeting.

Announcement was made that the March meeting of the district will be a dinner meeting at the First Baptist Church on March 19.

accusers be brought to face him. The commission explained that the loyalty board had neither power of subpoena nor money to pay the transportation and other costs of witnesses.

"Attorney Hilmer was abusive all through the hearing," the report said, "and at every opportunity would belittle the Civil Service Commission, insult the board members and attempt to bulldoze the board.

Hilmer formerly was assistant to Max Lowenthal, the mysterious, ubiquitous figure only recently introduced to public notice by Jonathan Daniels, one of President Truman's selfless secretaries, in his Truman biography entitled "Man of Independence." Daniels depicted Lowenthal as a dominating personality who had spotted a promising, or pliable, character in the petty county commissioner from Kansas City. Lowenthal had had a hand in molding Truman's beliefs, which abruptly turned radical socialistic. In Daniels' description, Truman was a sort of Mortimer Snerd who got an attack of intelect after Lowenthal introduced him to Louis D. Brandeis. Daniels portrayed Lowenthal as a modest man, but Lowenthal's own testimony disclosed an arrogant, boastful fellow when he appeared before the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

Unlike George Shaw Wheeler, who appeared with Lowenthal's assistant, Lucien Hilmer, as his counsel, Lowenthal refused to be examined at all by the Civil Service Commission. Lowenthal spoke scornfully of a "little" investigator for the commission. He said it would be beneath his dignity to answer. Lowenthal substantially refused to tell the committee on un-American activities the names of mysterious private organizations which procured his appointment to an important financial position on the staff of General Lucius Clay in Berlin or the names of individuals who approached him to that purpose. The committee let Lowenthal get away with this defiance. But Buchanan's committee caused the indictment of Edward Rumely and Joseph Kamp for refusing to make public the names of individuals who bought books from them advocating their concept of constitutional government.

Louis Little, of Pittsburgh, counsel for Buchanan's committee, came under fire from Congressman Clare Hoffman, of Michigan. He retired from the inquiry before the committee expired.

Canadian-American League Accepts Kingston as Sixth Franchise

Seasonal Opener Set At Stadium on May 1

A Kingston franchise in the Class C Canadian-American Baseball League for 1951 became a reality Saturday, when Can-Am League directors formally accepted Kingston as a sixth member.

The Colonial franchise fills the vacancy created when Schenectady entered the Class A Eastern League.

The Can-Am operated with eight teams last year. Two Canadian clubs—Quebec and Three Rivers—joined the Class C Provincial League in Canada this season.

Kingston will open its home season on Tuesday, May 1, against Pittsfield, according to a 130-game schedule adopted Saturday.

The opening dates are:

May 1

Oneonta at Rome.
Gloversville at Amsterdam.
Pittsfield at KINGSTON.

May 2

Rome at Oneonta.
Amsterdam at Gloversville.
KINGSTON at Pittsfield.

Rookie Rule Out

Because of the national manpower situation, the league voted to rescind the rookie rule this season. Previously, each team was required to carry at least three rookies.

Addison Jones, Colonial City Baseball, Inc., who headed the local delegation to Schenectady, said the session was conducted in an atmosphere of optimism and high hopes for the future.

Re-organization of the local baseball setup is expected at a meeting this week, Jones said, and the Class C club will be operated by a new organization designed to reach the fans. He declined to reveal the exact setup of the new organization but said the $10 stockholders would be given a greater voice in the policies of the club.

Meanwhile, another report of the finance committee headed by Dave Popick is due on Wednesday.

New State Record For Tenpin Meet

Whitesboro, N. Y., Feb. 26 (AP)—The New York State women's bowling tournament, scheduled for March 31-May 27 at Binghamton, has attracted 1,915 teams—an all-time national record for a state women's tourney.

The previous mark was 1,801 teams, in the Wisconsin tournament earlier this year.

Binghamton has entered 552 teams to set a new record for a host city, the State Women's Bowling Association, sponsor of the tourney, said Saturday at its headquarters here.

The 1,363 entries by traveling teams also represents a new mark, Mrs. Ruth Huntzinger, association secretary, announced. The previous record was 1,234 set last year at Kingston.

Syracuse has entered the most traveling teams in the 1951 event—235. Rochester listed 154, Buffalo 98, Albany 50, Troy 46, Utica 44 and Kingston 32.

Training Camp News in Brief

Phoenix, Ariz., Feb. 26 (AP)—The big guy was due in the New York Yankees' camp today, which could mean none other than Joltin' Joe DiMaggio.

The Mr. Outfielder of the world champions won't have to don a uniform just yet. He and other regulars are not required to get into harness before Thursday. But DiMag won't lack for exercise. He has become fond of golf and was expected to be out on the course chasing the little white pill around for a couple of days.

Noble Impresses

Sanford, Fla., Feb. 26 (AP) — Highly pleased by the advanced condition of his New York Giants squad—particularly the pitchers—Manager Leo Durocher gave his lads a vacation from work today.

Leo again had praise for the new Cuban pitcher here — Rafael Noble—after yesterday's first intra-squad game. "For a big guy," said the Lip, "Noble is real quick behind the plate and I'm certain he'll make an adequate understudy for Wes Westrum. He throws hard and accurate. We'll find out about his hitting later." Noble failed to get a bingle in three tries but promises to be a long-ball hitter.

Flu Floors Dressen

Vero Beach, Fla., Feb. 26 (AP)—Manager Charlie Dressen of the Brooklyn Dodgers is the third and most serious victim of the flue germ.

Dressen had to give up directing yesterday's workouts shortly after they began and took to bed. Last night his temperature rose to 101 and Dr. Eugene Zorri, the Brooklyn physician who attends the Dodgers, feared that the pilot would have to be hospitalized today if his temperature did not go down.

Pitchers Don Newcombe and Preacher Roe, although not in uniform yesterday after shaking the "bug," were expected to resume training today.

Braves Stricken

Bradenton, Fla., Feb. 26 (AP)—There will be only one workout, if any, today for the Boston Braves because some ten of the National Leaguers have been flu victims.

Latest to be struck down by the bug is Jim Wilson, who had a 24-11 pitchng record for Seattle in the Pacific Coast League last season.

Wilson, onetime Boston Red Sox flinger is considered the possible fifth man in the tribe's potential "big five" hurling staff. He would come after Warren Spahn, Vern Bickford, Johnny Sain and Max Surkont.

Yesterday's practice was cancelled by Manager Billy Southworth because of the prevalence of the respiratory ailment.

Sarasota, Fla., Feb. 26 (AP) — Boston Red Sox battery candidates are expected to be out in full force today with the arrival of pitchers Mel Parnell and Bill Wight.

Parnell, winner of 58 games for the Sox in the past three seasons didn't come to terms until last Friday. He said he'll probably report today.

Wight, obtained in off season trade with the Chicago White Sox, reported his delay in arrival was because of dental treatment.

Third baseman Johnny Pesky arrived yesterday and probably will work out today along with Walt Dropo, Bob Doerr, Billy Goodman and Rookie Infielder Mel Hoderlein.

Violets Nip Schulers in Overtime; Jack Doyle Scores 38 for Potters

100,000 Attend Pan Am Opener

Buenos Aires, Feb. 26 (AP)—A magnificent sports spectacle such as Latin America never saw before formally opened the Pan American games last night in huge Presidente Peron Stadium.

The 2,000 athletes from 18 nations, including the United States, took it easy or practiced today for the start of athletic competition tomorrow.

More than 100,000 Argentines almost filled the 130,000 capacity stadium for the opening ceremonies. By the time President Peron Juan Domingo Peron addressed "brother sportsmen of America" and declared "the first Pan American games open" there were only a few scattered patches in the vast circular stadium unoccupied.

Beside Peron stood his dazzling wife, blonde Eva Peron. Cheers for her almost matched those for her husband as she smiled at the throng.

The Violets rallied from a 27-16 quarter deficit to knot the regulation score at 60-60 and then won with the first two points in the "sudden death" second overtime period.

Ray Berardi was the overtime hero for the Violets, accounting for all four points in the first extra session and then dunking the game-winning basket.

Paul Hotaling and Beaver McCardle hit in double figures for Schuler's with 20 and 21 respectively, while Carter added a dozen. Burris and Berardi had 16 and 15 for the winners, with Sass and Dailey each sinking 10.

Doyle Hits 38

Big Jack Doyle, the terpischorean expert, glided to 38 points for one of the best individual performances of the season in the Potter triumph over Elstons.

It was a hard fought contest with Potters shading the Elstons, 34-33, at halftime and adding four points to their bulge in the third period.

Doyle hit 15 times from scrimmage and added eight singletons for his huge total. George Magley connected for 24 Elston markers and Dick Priest clicked for 21.

Columbia Nears Ivy Cage Title

New York, Feb. 26 (AP)—Perhaps by the end of this week, Columbia will have clinched the Ivy League basketball title, but Cornell still nurses slim hopes of tieing the Lions for the championship.

Unbeaten Columbia, winner of 19 games this season, 10 of them in league competition, would have to lose its two remaining games and Cornell would have to win its two games left on the schedule to bring about a tie.

Columbia plays Pennsylvania at Philadelphia Saturday night, while Cornell invades Princeton. Earlier in the season, Columbia defeated Penn, 68-50, while Cornell has beaten Princeton once 59-55. If Princeton can turn the tables Saturday, Cornell will be out regardless of what happens to Columbia.

Both teams have one more Ivy League game next week. Columbia plays at Princeton March 7, and Dartmouth at Cornell, March 10. Princeton gave Columbia a stern test earlier in the season before losing by a single point, 53-52. Cornell has beaten Dartmouth, 58-43.

Princeton, which took over third place Saturday by defeating Dartmouth, 70-69, plays at Harvard tonight. Yale is at Dartmouth Wednesday, while Harvard plays at Yale Saturday in other league games this week.

Cornell clung to its chance of tieing Columbia by defeating Harvard Saturday, 71-50. Columbia blasted Navy in a non-league contest, 87-62. Penn defeated Georgia Tech, 83-77.

Hoppe Wins 10th Cushion Crown

Chicago, Feb. 26 (AP) — For 45 years Willie Hoppe has been winning billiard championships and he doesn't figure to stop now.

The 63-year-old master took his fifth straight world three-cushion title last night and his 10th since 1936 to continue as sport's longest reigning champion.

He won the 18.1 balkline crown Jan. 15, 1906 in Paris from Maurice Vignaux and has held titles in some phase of the billiards game ever since.

Yesterday he mowed down his final two challengers in the world meet to remain undefeated with six straight wins. He edged Art Rubin of Brooklyn in a close match 50-47 in 38 innings then ran over Joe Chamaco of Mexico City 50-36 in 51 innings.

Another Willie retained his world pockets title also with six successive wins. Willie Mosconi, the 37-year-old expert from Haveford, Pa., trounced Canadian champion George Chenier of Toronto, 150-45 in 11 innings and then drubbed Joe Canton of Watervliet, N. Y., 150-15 in three innings.

'Grand Slam' Possibilities Slim in NCAA Arrangement This Season

Field Doubled To Sixteen Teams

New York, Feb. 26 (AP)—Chances for another "grand slam" basketball champion this year appear mighty slim.

At least four teams figure to shoot for the elusive target, bulls-eyed last season by City College of New York for the first time in history.

But things are different this year.

For one, the NCAA field has been increased from eight to 16 teams.

Secondly, while CCNY amazed everybody—including themselves—by sweeping the NCAA and NIT titles, it must be pointed out they won all their games in Madison Square Garden, actually their home floor.

That can't happen this season. The NCAA meet will be staged in four different cities, with the payoff game set for Minneapolis, March 27. The other sites are New York, Kansas City and Raleigh, N. C.

Lastly, percentages are against another "grand slam" performance.

But that won't discourage teams like St. John's of Brooklyn, Arizona, North Carolina State and Brigham Young from trying. These four already have accepted bids for the NIT, March 10-17 in the Garden.

As Border Conference champion, Arizona also has qualified for an NCAA berth. The champions of the 10 major conferences automatically are eligible for the NCAA, which also will pick six independent teams, or "members at large."

St. John's is considered a strong possibility for one of these "member at large" positions.

As for NC State and Brigham Young, they need only win their respective conferences to make the NCAA, the official college championship.

First Major Title For Furgol

Houston, Tex., Feb. 26 (AP)—Golf's winter tournament troupe was en route to St. Petersburg, Fla., today with Marty Furgol a new addition among the top money winners.

Furgol picked up a $2,000 first place check yesterday in the Houston Open to run his season's take to a fifth ranking $3,880.

Just two weeks ago the 33-year-old Long Beach, Calif., pro was in a three-way tie for 31st place with $480.

He began fattening his pocketbook a week ago with a second place of $1,400 from the Harlingen Open. Furgol posted a three-under par 69 yesterday in winning his first major golf championship with a 72-hole 277.

That was 11 strokes under par for the 6,967-yard Memorial Park course and matched the total that Great Britain's Bobby Locke needed in winning the 1947 Houston Open, also at Memorial.

A strong finish by Jack Burke, a Houston native, almost overtook the Californian but troubles on the treacherous 16th hole forced Burke to settle for a 278 and second place money $1,400.

It is said that 54 per cent of the road troubles of motorists is caused by tire and ignition failures.

● Bagatelles:

There's one thing about all this basketball-fix business, says Klip Kleiner. It makes you appreciate a good, honest sport like wrestling. But nothing is sacred to these big time gamblers. The next thing you know, they'll try to fix chess matches. Then somebody will get rooked. It's nice to see baseball news back on the sports pages. In fact, it's good to see any sport on the sports pages. There's been too much of it on Page One.

● Straight From the Horse's Mouth:

"Dear Charlie"

"Greetings to you! My folks forwarded your couple references of Ken Murray—and naturally I read them with interest—particularly since one item mentioned me.

"As one of Ken's writers, I get a special kick out of mentioning the old home town, inasmuch as Kingston also marks the scene of his childhood. As a matter of fact, I mention Kingston as much as I can on any radio or television show I'm connected with—or any magazine piece I write. It so happens I'm mighty proud of the place!

"Here's some data to augument Lou Smith's recollections—and, incidentally, Ken remembers Lou very well.

"He was born Kenneth Abner Doncourt in New York city in 1903. He was raised by his grandparents on their farm 'up from the station' in Rosendale. He says they called it a 'monkey farm,' because that's exactly what it was before he grew up to be a farmhand there.

"Ken graduated from Rosendale Union Free School in 1915. He took the train to Kingston every day for high school (for what must have been the first year the institution was open. I was a page boy for the first K.H.S. May Day and that was 1916). Ken attended high school for two years, then moved to Brooklyn, where his grandfather had obtained a job in a chemical plant. Ken finished his education at Newtown H.S., then broke into show business.

"Yours is a sports column, so I asked Ken what his athletic prowess consisted of—and he said he did the 100-yard dash in 10.9 seconds. He said: 'If I could run any longer distances, I wouldn't have needed that train from Rosendale.' He also said there were two trains he could take back to Rosendale every day—the later one at 5:00, in case he had to stay after school. 'I usually took the 5 o'clock train,' he admitted, mumbling something about two years of the same algebra course.

"Ken became very reminiscent, as I 'interviewed' him for the Freeman and said he recalled seeing his first airplane while sitting on the high school front lawn, remembers watching a 'Hughes For President' parade on Broadway in 1916.

"My boss asked me to thank you for your kind mention and wants to thank the number of Ulster county television fans for their warm and friendly letters.

"By the way, there's a 'Kingston co-incidence' regarding Ken Murray and Bob Hutton. Ken's ex-wife, Cleatus Caldwell, is now Bob's ex-wife. Kindest regards . . . SEAMAN JACOBS, Mgr. Baseball, '28."

P.S.—Ken changed his name to Murray when he replaced a fellow named Murray in a vaudeville act.

'Little Flower' Wins Over Abe Coleman

Chicago Ace Scores In Two Falls

Wrestling's famous "Little Flower" hammed up the joint with his theatricals Saturday night at the municipal auditorium and still found time to dispose of veteran Abe Coleman in a two-fall match.

Benito Gardini was the name, a colorful, swaggering modern grunt and groan type who stalked into the arena attired in a dazzling scarlet jacket, with green and white trimmings and accessories.

It took fat and fortyish Benito several minutes to walk from the dressing room to the ring and en route he blew kisses to the ladies, and scattered the arena with autographed photos and flowers.

A Real Production

Upon reaching ringside, he leaned over and kissed one of the ladies then made a production of the disrobing ceremonies. What the spectators saw once Benito had exposed his physique to the crowd was hardly in keeping with his nickname.

After being subjected to early indignities by Coleman, who has been around as long as Connie Mack, Gardini tossed the Jewish veteran with a series of body slams at 18:04 for the first fall.

Coleman cuffed the "Flower" with gusto in the next few minutes and took the second fall with a flying mare in 9 minutes, 45 seconds.

The bout ended 14:02 later when Gardini clamped a headlock on Coleman and forced Abe to holler uncle. Referee Willie Glickman gave Coleman first aid treatment for a few minutes after the bout ended.

When Coleman revived he threatened to tackle Benito outside the ropes but the wrestling commissioner ordered both gladiators into their dressing rooms.

Preliminary Bouts

In the 30-minute, one-fall opener, Mike Kolonis, 225, former Albany heavyweight boxer, tossed Eddie Faiata, 230, of Pittsburgh, in 20 minutes, 31 seconds.

Fritz Ziegfried, 210, of New York and John Heiderman, 214, St. Louis, staged an exciting semi-final in which Heiderman won the odd fall.

The first fall went to Heiderman with a neatly executed series of flying blocks in 14:55. Ziegfried won with body slams in 1:03 and the bout ended 10 minutes later when Heiderman slammed Ziegfried off the corner ring posts.

The officials assigned by the New York State Athletic Commission were: Willie Glickman, Albany, referee; Barney Williams, Newburgh, and John McCarthy, Troy, judges; Fred Eisler, Kingston, timer; and Dick McCarthy, Kingston, announcer.

Promoter Bill Johnston of New York announced that the wrestling cards would be discontinued until March 17.

Ellenville Ace Shoots 226, 269 And 234 Games

Angie Ferraro Has 692 For Locals

Big Hank Kuykendall, the stocky Ellenville bowling powerhouse, and Adirondack Trailways shared the spotlight in a terrific afternoon of Hudson Valley League bowling, Sunday at Ferraro's Bowledrome.

Kuykendall pounded a brilliant 729 series, while the Trailways crashed 3163 with game sets of 1121, 1033 and 1019.

The big Ellenville pounder reeled off solos of 226, 269 and 234 to flirt with Nick Leoce's league-record of 743. His tremendous pocket busting carried the Kerhonkson VFW quintet to a three-game losing 2023 series.

Ferraro Blasts 692

Angie Ferraro and veteran Fred Rice set the pace for the Trailways who had four men in the "600" bracket.

Ferraro pounded 692 with solos of 246, 232 and 214. Rice sandwiched a 197 middle game with 257 and 233.

Johnny Schatzel hit for the hat trick with 225-200-215-640 and Harold Broskie wrapped a pair of 190 games around 234 for 625. Hammerin' Hank Kemmerer, third ranking bowler in the league, was unable to get into the act, winding up with a lowly 519.

In the 1121 opener, Kemmerer furnished 198, Johnny Schatzel 225, A. Ferraro 246, Broskie 195 and Rice 257. Johnny Ferraro, regular Trailway anchor, is still sitting it out because of a leg injury.

None of the other VFW keglers was able to crash the "600" circle. Sam Fisher posted 580; Frank Greco 204-577; John Bonomi 204-563 and Al Milliott 221-574. The visitors shot team games of 1026, 1018 and 979.

Howard Slaps 667

Miron Lumber won a split decision over Elston Sport Shop in an intra-city duel on alleys 9 and 10 at the Bowlodrome, but Richard Howard of Elstons, was top thrower with 173-247-247-667.

Mirons, aided by three "600" triples, posted 1003-1029-941-2973 to 907-1000-1011-2918 for the losers.

Charlie Grunenwald was off to a terrific start with 225 and 253 but slumped to 174 and 652. Clifton Quick shot 208-214-617 and Frank Spada 205-206-204-615. "Boots" Leskie hammered 234-205-610 in the anchor spot for Elstons.

Canadian-American League Accepts Kingston as Sixth Franchise

Seasonal Opener Set At Stadium on May 1

A Kingston franchise in the Class C Canadian-American Baseball League for 1951 became a reality Saturday, when Can-Am League directors formally accepted Kingston as a sixth member.

The Colonial franchise fills the vacancy created when Schenectady entered the Class A Eastern League.

The Can-Am operated with eight teams last year. Two Canadian clubs—Quebec and Three Rivers—joined the Class C Provincial League in Canada this season.

Kingston will open its home season on Tuesday, May 1, against Pittsfield, according to a 130-game schedule adopted Saturday.

The opening dates are:

May 1

Oneonta at Rome.
Gloversville at Amsterdam.
Pittsfield at KINGSTON.

May 2

Rome at Oneonta.
Amsterdam at Gloversville.
KINGSTON at Pittsfield.

Rookie Rule Out

Because of the national manpower situation, the league voted to rescind the rookie rule this season. Previously, each team was required to carry at least three rookies.

Addison Jones, Colonial City Baseball, Inc., who headed the local delegation to Schenectady, said the session was conducted in an atmosphere of optimism and high hopes for the future.

Re-organization of the local baseball setup is expected at a meeting this week, Jones said, and the Class C club will be operated by a new organization designed to reach the fans. He declined to reveal the exact setup of the new organization but said the $10 stockholders would be given a greater voice in the policies of the club.

Meanwhile, another report of the finance committee headed by Dave Popick is due on Wednesday.

New State Record For Tenpin Meet

Whitesboro, N. Y., Feb. 26 (AP)—The New York State women's bowling tournament, scheduled for March 31-May 27 at Binghamton, has attracted 1,915 teams—an all-time national record for a state women's tourney.

The previous mark was 1,801 teams, in the Wisconsin tournament earlier this year.

Binghamton has entered 552 teams to set a new record for a host city, the State Women's Bowling Association, sponsor of the tourney, said Saturday at its headquarters here.

The 1,363 entries by traveling teams also represents a new mark, Mrs. Ruth Huntzinger, association secretary, announced. The previous record was 1,234 set last year at Kingston.

Syracuse has entered the most traveling teams in the 1951 event—235. Rochester listed 154, Buffalo 98, Albany 50, Troy 46, Utica 44 and Kingston 32.

Training Camp News in Brief

Phoenix, Ariz., Feb. 26 (AP)—The big guy was due in the New York Yankees' camp today, which could mean none other than Joltin' Joe DiMaggio.

The Mr. Outfielder of the world champions won't have to don a uniform just yet. He and other regulars are not required to get into harness before Thursday. But DiMag won't lack for exercise. He has become fond of golf and was expected to be out on the course chasing the little white pill around for a couple of days.

Noble Impresses

Sanford, Fla., Feb. 26 (AP)—Highly pleased by the advanced condition of his New York Giants squad—particularly the pitchers—Manager Leo Durocher gave his lads a vacation from work today.

Leo again had praise for the new Cuban pitcher here — Rafael Noble—after yesterday's first intra-squad game. "For a big guy," said the Lip, "Noble is real quick behind the plate and I'm certain he'll make an adequate understudy for Wes Westrum. He throws hard and accurate. We'll find out about his hitting later." Noble failed to get a bingle in three tries but promises to be a long-ball hitter.

Flu Floors Dressen

Vero Beach, Fla., Feb. 26 (AP)—Manager Charlie Dressen of the Brooklyn Dodgers is the third and most serious victim of the flue germ.

Dressen had to give up directing yesterday's workouts shortly after they began and took to bed. Last night his temperature rose to 101 and Dr. Eugene Zorri, the Brooklyn physician who attends the Dodgers, feared that the pilot would have to be hospitalized today if his temperature did not go down.

Pitchers Don Newcombe and Preacher Roe, although not in uniform yesterday after shaking the "bug," were expected to resume training today.

Braves Stricken

Bradenton, Fla., Feb. 26 (AP)—There will be only one workout, if any, today for the Boston Braves because some ten of the National Leaguers have been flu victims.

Latest to be struck down by the bug is Jim Wilson, who had a 24-11 pitchng record for Seattle in the Pacific Coast League last season.

Wilson, onetime Boston Red Sox flinger is considered the possible fifth man in the tribe's potential "big five" hurling staff. He would come after Warren Spahn, Vern Bickford, Johnny Sain and Max Surkont.

Yesterday's practice was cancelled by Manager Billy Southworth because of the prevalence of the respiratory ailment.

Sarasota, Fla., Feb. 26 (AP)—Boston Red Sox battery candidates are expected to be out in full force today with the arrival of pitchers Mel Parnell and Bill Wight.

Parnell, winner of 58 games for the Sox in the past three seasons didn't come to terms until last Friday. He said he'll probably report today.

Wight, obtained in off season trade with the Chicago White Sox, reported his delay in arrival was because of dental treatment.

Third baseman Johnny Pesky arrived yesterday and probably will work out today along with Walt Dropo, Bob Doerr, Billy Goodman and Rookie Infielder Mel Hoderlein.

Violets Nip Schulers in Overtime; Jack Doyle Scores 38 for Potters

100,000 Attend Pan Am Opener

Buenos Aires, Feb. 26 (AP)—A magnificent sports spectacle such as Latin America never saw before formally opened the Pan American games last night in huge Presidente Peron Stadium.

The 2,000 athletes from 18 nations, including the United States, took it easy or practiced today for the start of athletic competition tomorrow.

More than 100,000 Argentines almost filled the 130,000 capacity stadium for the opening ceremonies. By the time President Peron Juan Domingo Peron addressed "brother sportsmen of America" and declared "the first Pan American games open" there were only a few scattered patches in the vast circular stadium unoccupied.

Beside Peron stood his dazzling wife, blonde Eva Peron. Cheers for her almost matched those for her husband as she smiled at the throng.

The Violets rallied from a 27-16 quarter deficit to knot the regulation score at 60-60 and then won with the first two points in the "sudden death" second overtime period.

Ray Berardi was the overtime hero for the Violets, accounting for all four points in the first extra session and then dunking the game-winning basket.

Paul Hotaling and Beaver McCardle hit in double figures for Schuler's with 20 and 21 respectively, while Carter added a dozen. Burris and Berardi had 16 and 15 for the winners, with Sass and Dailey each sinking 10.

Doyle Hits 38

Big Jack Doyle, the terpischorean expert, glided to 38 points for one of the best individual performances of the season in the Potter triumph over Elstons.

It was a hard fought contest with Potters shading the Elstons, 34-33, at halftime and adding four points to their bulge in the third period.

Doyle hit 15 times from scrimmage and added eight singletons for his huge total. George Magley connected for 24 Elston markers and Dick Priest clicked for 21.

Columbia Nears Ivy Cage Title

New York, Feb. 26 (AP)—Perhaps by the end of this week, Columbia will have clinched the Ivy League basketball title, but Cornell still nurses slim hopes of tieing the Lions for the championship.

Unbeaten Columbia, winner of 19 games this season, 10 of them in league competition, would have to lose its two remaining games and Cornell would have to win its two games left on the schedule to bring about a tie.

Columbia plays Pennsylvania at Philadelphia Saturday night, while Cornell invades Princeton. Earlier in the season, Columbia defeated Penn, 68-50, while Cornell has beaten Princeton once 59-55. If Princeton can turn the tables Saturday, Cornell will be out regardless of what happens to Columbia.

Both teams have one more Ivy League game next week. Columbia plays at Princeton March 7, and Dartmouth at Cornell, March 10. Princeton gave Columbia a stern test earlier in the season before losing by a single point, 53-52. Cornell has beaten Dartmouth, 58-43.

Princeton, which took over third place Saturday by defeating Dartmouth, 70-69, plays at Harvard tonight. Yale is at Dartmouth Wednesday, while Harvard plays at Yale Saturday in other league games this week.

Cornell clung to its chance of tieing Columbia by defeating Harvard Saturday, 71-50. Columbia blasted Navy in a non-league contest, 87-62. Penn defeated Georgia Tech, 83-77.

Hoppe Wins 10th Cushion Crown

Chicago, Feb. 26 (AP) — For 45 years Willie Hoppe has been winning billiard championships and he doesn't figure to stop now.

The 63-year-old master took his fifth straight world three-cushion title last night and his 10th since 1936 to continue as sport's longest reigning champion.

He won the 18.1 balkline crown Jan. 15, 1906 in Paris from Maurice Vignaux and has held titles in some phase of the billiards game ever since.

Yesterday he mowed down his final two challengers in the world meet to remain undefeated with six straight wins. He edged Art Rubin of Brooklyn in a close match 50-47 in 38 innings then ran over Joe Chamaco of Mexico City 50-36 in 51 innings.

Another Willie retained his world pockets title also with six successive wins. Willie Mosconi, the 37-year-old expert from Haverford, Pa., trounced Canadian champion George Chenier of Toronto, 150-45 in 11 innings and then drubbed Joe Canton of Watervliet, N. Y., 150-15 in three innings.

'Grand Slam' Possibilities Slim in NCAA Arrangement This Season

Field Doubled To Sixteen Teams

New York, Feb. 26 (AP)—Chances for another "grand slam" basketball champion this year appear mighty slim.

At least four teams figure to shoot for the elusive target, bullseyed last season by City College of New York for the first time in history.

But things are different this year.

For one, the NCAA field has been increased from eight to 16 teams.

Secondly, while CCNY amazed everybody—including themselves—by sweeping the NCAA and NIT titles, it must be pointed out they won all their games in Madison Square Garden, actually their home floor.

That can't happen this season. The NCAA meet will be staged in four different cities, with the payoff game set for Minneapolis, March 27. The other sites are New York, Kansas City and Raleigh, N. C.

Lastly, percentages are against another "grand slam" performance.

But that won't discourage teams like St. John's of Brooklyn, Arizona, North Carolina State and Brigham Young from trying. These four already have accepted bids for the NIT, March 10-17 in the Garden.

As Border Conference champion, Arizona also has qualified for an NCAA berth. The champions of the 10 major conferences automatically are eligible for the NCAA, which also will pick six independent teams, or "members at large."

St. John's is considered a strong possibility for one of these "member at large" positions.

As for NC State and Brigham Young, they need only win their respective conferences to make the NCAA, the official college championship.

First Major Title For Furgol

Houston, Tex., Feb. 26 (AP)—Golf's winter tournament troupe was en route to St. Petersburg, Fla., today with Marty Furgol a new addition among the top money winners.

Furgol picked up a $2,000 first place check yesterday in the Houston Open to run his season's take to a fifth ranking $3,880.

Just two weeks ago the 33-year-old Long Beach, Calif., pro was in a three-way tie for 31st place with $480.

He began fattening his pocketbook a week ago with a second place of $1,400 from the Harlingen Open. Furgol posted a three-under par 69 yesterday in winning his first major golf championship with a 72-hole 277.

That was 11 strokes under par for the 6,967-yard Memorial Park course and matched the total that Great Britain's Bobby Locke needed in winning the 1947 Houston Open, also at Memorial.

A strong finish by Jack Burke, a Houston native, almost overtook the Californian but troubles on the treacherous 16th hole forced Burke to settle for a 278 and second place money $1,400.

It is said that 54 per cent of the road troubles of motorists is caused by tire and ignition failures.

• Bagatelles:

There's one thing about all this basketball-fix business, says Klip Kleiner. It makes you appreciate a good, honest sport like wrestling. But nothing is sacred to these big time gamblers. The next thing you know, they'll try to fix chess matches. Then somebody will get rooked. It's nice to see baseball news back on the sports pages. In fact, it's good to see any sport on the sports pages. There's been too much of it on Page One.

• Straight From the Horse's Mouth:

"Dear Charlie"

"Greetings to you! My folks forwarded your couple references of Ken Murray—and naturally I read them with interest—particularly since one item mentioned me.

"As one of Ken's writers, I get a special kick out of mentioning the old home town, inasmuch as Kingston also marks the scene of his childhood. As a matter of fact, I mention Kingston as much as I can on any radio or television show I'm connected with—or any magazine piece I write. It so happens I'm mighty proud of the place!

"Here's some data to augument Lou Smith's recollections—and, incidentally, Ken remembers Lou very well.

"He was born Kenneth Abner Doncourt in New York city in 1903. He was raised by his grandparents on their farm 'up from the station' in Rosendale. He says they called it a 'monkey farm,' because that's exactly what it was before he grew up to be a farmhand there.

"Ken graduated from Rosendale Union Free School in 1915. He took the train to Kingston every day for high school (for what must have been the first year the institution was open. I was a page boy for the first K.H.S. May Day and that was 1916). Ken attended high school for two years, then moved to Brooklyn, where his grandfather had obtained a job in a chemical plant. Ken finished his education at Newtown H.S., then broke into show business.

"Yours is a sports column, so I asked Ken what his athletic prowess consisted of—and he said he did the 100-yard dash in 10.9 seconds. He said: 'If I could run any longer distances, I wouldn't have needed that train from Rosendale.' He also said there were two trains he could take back to Rosendale every day—the later one at 5:00, in case he had to stay after school. 'I usually took the 5 o'clock train,' he admitted, mumbling something about two years of the same algebra course.

"Ken became very reminiscent, as I 'interviewed' him for the Freeman and said he recalled seeing his first airplane while sitting on the high school front lawn, remembers watching a 'Hughes For President' parade on Broadway in 1916.

"My boss asked me to thank you for your kind mention and wants to thank the number of Ulster county television fans for their warm and friendly letters.

"By the way, there's a 'Kingston co-incidence' regarding Ken Murray and Bob Hutton. Ken's ex-wife, Cleatus Caldwell, is now Bob's ex-wife. Kindest regards . . . SEAMAN JACOBS, Mgr. Baseball, '28."

P.S.—Ken changed his name to Murray when he replaced a fellow named Murray in a vaudeville act.

'Little Flower' Wins Over Abe Coleman

Chicago Ace Scores In Two Falls

Wrestling's famous "Little Flower" hammed up the joint with his theatricals Saturday night at the municipal auditorium and still found time to dispose of veteran Abe Coleman in a two-fall match.

Benito Gardini was the name, a colorful, swaggering modern grunt and groan type who stalked into the arena attired in a dazzling scarlet jacket, with green and white trimmings and accessories.

It took fat and fortyish Benito several minutes to walk from the dressing room to the ring and en route he blew kisses to the ladies, and scattered the arena with autographed photos and flowers.

A Real Production

Upon reaching ringside, he leaned over and kissed one of the ladies then made a production of the disrobing ceremonies. What the spectators saw once Benito had exposed his physique to the crowd was hardly in keeping with his nickname.

After being subjected to early indignities by Coleman, who has been around as long as Connie Mack, Gardini tossed the Jewish veteran with a series of body slams at 18:04 for the first fall.

Coleman cuffed the "Flower" with gusto in the next few minutes and took the second fall with a flying mare in 9 minutes, 45 seconds.

The bout ended 14:02 later when Gardini clamped a headlock on Coleman and forced Abe to holler uncle. Referee Willie Glickman gave Coleman first aid treatment for a few minutes after the bout ended.

When Coleman revived he threatened to tackle Benito outside the ropes but the wrestling commissioner ordered both gladiators into their dressing rooms.

Preliminary Bouts

In the 30-minute, one-fall opener, Mike Kolonis, 225, former Albany heavyweight boxer, tossed Eddie Faiata, 230, of Pittsburgh, in 20 minutes, 31 seconds.

Fritz Ziegfried, 210, of New York and John Heiderman, 214, St. Louis, staged an exciting semi-final in which Heiderman won the odd fall.

The first fall went to Heiderman with a neatly executed series of flying blocks in 14:55. Ziegfried won with body slams in 1:03 and the bout ended 10 minutes later when Heiderman slammed Ziegfried off the corner ring posts.

The officials assigned by the New York State Athletic Commission were: Willie Glickman, Albany, referee; Barney Williams, Newburgh, and John McCarthy, Troy, judges; Fred Eisler, Kingston, timer; and Dick McCarthy, Kingston, announcer.

Promoter Bill Johnston of New York announced that the wrestling cards would be discontinued until March 17.

Ellenville Ace Shoots 226, 269 And 234 Games

Angie Ferraro Has 692 For Locals

Big Hank Kuykendall, the stocky Ellenville bowling powerhouse, and Adirondack Trailways shared the spotlight in a terrific afternoon of Hudson Valley League bowling, Sunday at Ferraro's Bowlodrome.

Kuykendall pounded a brilliant 729 series, while the Trailways crashed 3163 with game sets of 1121, 1023 and 1019.

The big Ellenville pounder reeled off solos of 226, 269 and 234 to flirt with Nick Leoce's league-record of 743. His tremendous pocket busting carried the Kerhonkson VFW quintet to a three-game losing 2923 series.

Ferraro Blasts 692

Angie Ferraro and veteran Fred Rice set the pace for the Trailways who had four men in the "600" bracket.

Ferraro pounded 692 with solos of 246, 232 and 214. Rice sandwiched a 197 middle game with 257 and 233.

Johnny Schatzel hit for the hat trick with 225-200-215-640 and Harold Broskie wrapped a pair of 190 games around 234 for 625. Hammerin' Hank Kemmerer, third ranking bowler in the league, was unable to get into the act, winding up with a lowly 519.

In the 1121 opener, Kemmerer furnished 198, Johnny Schatzel 225, A. Ferraro 246, Broskie 195 and Rice 257. Johnny Ferraro, regular Trailway anchor, is still sitting it out because of a leg injury.

None of the other VFW keglers was able to crash the "600" circle. Sam Fisher posted 580; Frank Greco 204-577; John Bonomi 204-563 and Al Milliott 221-574. The visitors shot team games of 1026, 1018 and 979.

Howard Slaps 667

Miron Lumber won a split decision over Elston Sport Shop in an intra-city duel on alleys 9 and 10 at the Bowlodrome, but Richard Howard of Elstons, was top thrower with 173-247-247-667.

Mirons, aided by three "600" triples, posted 1003-1029-941-2973 to 907-1000-1011-2918 for the losers.

Charlie Grunenwald was off to a terrific start with 225 and 253 but slumped to 174 and 652. Clifton Quick shot 208-214-617 and Frank Spada 205-206-204-615. "Boots" Leskie hammered 234-205-610 in the anchor spot for Elstons.

Canadian-American League Accepts Kingston as Sixth Franchise

Seasonal Opener Set At Stadium on May 1

A Kingston franchise in the Class C Canadian-American Baseball League for 1951 became a reality Saturday, when Can-Am League directors formally accepted Kingston as a sixth member.

The Colonial franchise fills the vacancy created when Schenectady entered the Class A Eastern League.

The Can-Am operated with eight teams last year. Two Canadian clubs—Quebec and Three Rivers—joined the Class C Provincial League in Canada this season.

Kingston will open its home season on Tuesday, May 1, against Pittsfield, according to a 130-game schedule adopted Saturday.

The opening dates are:

May 1

Oneonta at Rome.
Gloversville at Amsterdam.
Pittsfield at KINGSTON.

May 2

Rome at Oneonta.
Amsterdam at Gloversville.
KINGSTON at Pittsfield.

Rookie Rule Out

Because of the national manpower situation, the league voted to rescind the rookie rule this season. Previously, each team was required to carry at least three rookies.

Addison Jones, Colonial City Baseball, Inc., who headed the local delegation to Schenectady, said the session was conducted in an atmosphere of optimism and high hopes for the future.

Re-organization of the local baseball setup is expected at a meeting thie week, Jones said, and the Class C club will be operated by a new organization designed to reach the fans. He declined to reveal the exact setup of the new organization but said the $10 stockholders would be given a greater voice in the policies of the club.

Meanwhile, another report of the finance committee headed by Dave Popick is due on Wednesday.

New State Record For Tenpin Meet

Whitesboro, N. Y., Feb. 26 (AP)—The New York State women's bowling tournament, scheduled for March 31-May 27 at Binghamton, has attracted 1,915 teams—an all-time national record for a state women's tourney.

The previous mark was 1,801 teams, in the Wisconsin tournament earlier this year.

Binghamton has entered 552 teams to set a new record for a host city, the State Women's Bowling Association, sponsor of the tourney, said Saturday at its headquarters here.

The 1,363 entries by traveling teams also represents a new mark. Mrs. Ruth Huntzinger, association secretary, announced. The previous record was 1,234 set last year at Kingston.

Syracuse has entered the most traveling teams in the 1951 event—235. Rochester listed 154, Buffalo 98, Albany 50, Troy 46, Utica 44 and Kingston 32.

Training Camp News in Brief

Phoenix, Ariz., Feb. 26 (AP)—The big guy was due in the New York Yankees' camp today, which could mean none other than Joltin' Joe DiMaggio.

The Mr. Outfielder of the world champions won't have to don a uniform just yet. He and other regulars are not required to get into harness before Thursday. But DiMag won't lack for exercise. He has become fond of golf and was expected to be out on the course chasing the little white pill around for a couple of days.

Noble Impresses

Sanford, Fla., Feb. 26 (AP) — Highly pleased by the advanced condition of his New York Giants squad—particularly the pitchers—Manager Leo Durocher gave his lads a vacation from work today.

Leo again had praise for the new Cuban pitcher here — Rafael Noble—after yesterday's first intra-squad game. "For a big guy," said the Lip, "Noble is real quick behind the plate and I'm certain he'll make an adequate understudy for Wes Westrum. He throws hard and accurate. We'll find out about his hitting later." Noble failed to get a bingle in three tries but promises to be a long-ball hitter.

Flu Floors Dressen

Vero Beach, Fla., Feb. 26 (AP)—Manager Charlie Dressen of the Brooklyn Dodgers is the third and most serious victim of the flue germ.

Dressen had to give up directing yesterday's workouts shortly after they began and took to bed. Last night his temperature rose to 101 and Dr. Eugene Zorri, the Brooklyn physician who attends the Dodgers, feared that the pilot would have to be hospitalized today if his temperature did not go down.

Pitchers Don Newcombe and Preacher Roe, although not in uniform yesterday after shaking the "bug," were expected to resume training today.

Braves Stricken

Bradenton, Fla., Feb. 26 (AP)—There will be only one workout, if any, today for the Boston Braves because some ten of the National Leaguers have been flu victims.

Latest to be struck down by the bug is Jim Wilson, who had a 24-11 pitchng record for Seattle in the Pacific Coast League last season.

Wilson, onetime Boston Red Sox flinger is considered the possible fifth man in the tribe's potential "big five" hurling staff. He would come after Warren Spahn, Vern Bickford, Johnny Sain and Max Surkont.

Yesterday's practice was cancelled by Manager Billy Southworth because of the prevalence of the respiratory ailment.

Sarasota, Fla., Feb. 26 (AP) — Boston Red Sox battery candidates are expected to be out in full force today with the arrival of pitchers Mel Parnell and Bill Wight.

Parnell, winner of 58 games for the Sox in the past three seasons didn't come to terms until last Friday. He said he'll probably report today.

Wight, obtained in off season trade with the Chicago White Sox, reported his delay in arrival was because of dental treatment.

Third baseman Johnny Pesky arrived yesterday and probably will work out today along with Walt Dropo, Bob Doerr, Billy Goodman and Rookie Infielder Mel Hoderlein.

Violets Nip Schulers in Overtime; Jack Doyle Scores 38 for Potters

100,000 Attend Pan Am Opener

Buenos Aires, Feb. 26 (AP)—A magnificent sports spectacle such as Latin America never saw before formally opened the Pan American games last night in huge Presidente Peron Stadium.

The 2,000 athletes from 18 nations, including the United States, took it easy or practiced today for the start of athletic competition tomorrow.

More than 100,000 Argentines almost filled the 130,000 capacity stadium for the opening ceremonies. By the time President Peron Juan Domingo Peron addressed "brother sportsmen of America" and declared "the first Pan American games open" there were only a few scattered patches in the vast circular stadium unoccupied.

Beside Peron stood his dazzling wife, blonde Eva Peron. Cheers for her almost matched those for her husband as she smiled at the throng.

The Violets rallied from a 27-16 quarter deficit to knot the regulation score at 60-60 and then won with the first two points in the "sudden death" second overtime period.

Ray Berardi was the overtime hero for the Violets, accounting for all four points in the first extra session and then dunking the game-winning basket.

Paul Hotaling and Beaver McCardle hit in double figures for Schuler's with 20 and 21 respectively, while Carter added a dozen. Burris and Berardi had 16 and 15 for the winners, with Sass and Dailey each sinking 10.

Doyle Hits 38

Big Jack Doyle, the terpischorean expert, glided to 38 points for one of the best individual performances of the season in the Potter triumph over Elstons.

It was a hard fought contest with Potters shading the Elstons, 34-33, at halftime and adding four points to their bulge in the third period.

Doyle hit 15 times from scrimmage and added eight singletons for his huge total. George Magley connected for 24 Elston markers and Dick Priest clicked for 21.

Columbia Nears Ivy Cage Title

New York, Feb. 26 (AP)—Perhaps by the end of this week, Columbia will have clinched the Ivy League basketball title, but Cornell still nurses slim hopes of tieing the Lions for the championship.

Unbeaten Columbia, winner of 19 games this season, 10 of them in league competition, would have to lose its two remaining games and Cornell would have to win its two games left on the schedule to bring about a tie.

Columbia plays Pennsylvania at Philadelphia Saturday night, while Cornell invades Princeton. Earlier in the season, Columbia defeated Penn, 68-50, while Cornell has beaten Princeton once 59-55. If Princeton can turn the tables Saturday, Cornell will be out regardless of what happens to Columbia.

Both teams have one more Ivy League game next week. Columbia plays at Princeton March 7, and Dartmouth at Cornell, March 10. Princeton gave Columbia a stern test earlier in the season before losing by a single point, 53-52. Cornell has beaten Dartmouth, 58-43.

Princeton, which took over third place Saturday by defeating Dartmouth, 70-69, plays at Harvard tonight. Yale is at Dartmouth Wednesday, while Harvard plays at Yale Saturday in other league games this week.

Cornell clung to its chance of tieing Columbia by defeating Harvard Saturday, 71-50. Columbia blasted Navy in a non-league contest, 87-62. Penn defeated Georgia Tech, 83-77.

Hoppe Wins 10th Cushion Crown

Chicago, Feb. 26 (AP) — For 45 years Willie Hoppe has been winning billiard championships and he doesn't figure to stop now.

The 63-year-old master took his fifth straight world three-cushion title last night and his 10th since 1936 to continue as sport's longest reigning champion.

He won the 18.1 balkline crown Jan. 15, 1906 in Paris from Maurice Vignaux and has held titles in some phase of the billiards game ever since.

Yesterday he mowed down his final two challengers in the world meet to remain undefeated with six straight wins. He edged Art Rubin of Brooklyn in a close match 50-47 in 38 innings then ran over Joe Chamaco of Mexico City 50-36 in 51 innings.

Another Willie retained his world pockets title also with six successive wins. Willie Mosconi, the 37-year-old expert from Haveford, Pa., trounced Canadian champion George Chenier of Toronto, 150-45 in 11 innings and then drubbed Joe Canton of Watervliet, N. Y., 150-15 in three innings.

'Grand Slam' Possibilities Slim in NCAA Arrangement This Season

Field Doubled To Sixteen Teams

New York, Feb. 26 (AP)—Chances for another "grand slam" basketball champion this year appear mighty slim.

At least four teams figure to shoot for the elusive target, bulls-eyed last season by City College of New York for the first time in history.

But things are different this year.

For one, the NCAA field has been increased from eight to 16 teams.

Secondly, while CCNY amazed everybody—including themselves—by sweeping the NCAA and NIT titles, it must be pointed out they won all their games in Madison Square Garden, actually their home floor.

That can't happen this season. The NCAA meet will be staged in four different cities, with the payoff game set for Minneapolis, March 27. The other sites are New York, Kansas City and Raleigh, N. C.

Lastly, percentages are against another "grand slam" performance.

But that won't discourage teams like St. John's of Brooklyn, Arizona, North Carolina State and Brigham Young from trying. These four already have accepted bids for the NIT, March 10-17 in the Garden.

As Border Conference champion, Arizona also has qualified for an NCAA berth. The champions of the 10 major conferences automatically are eligible for the NCAA, which also will pick six independent teams, or "members at large."

St. John's is considered a strong possibility for one of these "member at large" positions.

As for NC State and Brigham Young, they need only win their respective conferences to make the NCAA, the official college championship.

First Major Title For Furgol

Houston, Tex., Feb. 26 (AP)—Golf's winter tournament troupe was en route to St. Petersburg, Fla., today with Marty Furgol a new addition among the top money winners.

Furgol picked up a $2,000 first place check yesterday in the Houston Open to run his season's take to a fifth ranking $3,880.

Just two weeks ago the 33-year-old Long Beach, Calif., pro was in a three-way tie for 31st place with $480.

He began fattening his pocketbook a week ago with a second place of $1,400 from the Harlingen Open. Furgol posted a three-under par 69 yesterday in winning his first major golf championship with a 72-hole 277.

That was 11 strokes under par for the 6,967-yard Memorial Park course and matched the total that Great Britain's Bobby Locke needed in winning the 1947 Houston Open, also at Memorial.

A strong finish by Jack Burke, a Houston native, almost overtook the Californian but troubles on the treacherous 16th hole forced Burke to settle for a 278 and second place money $1,400.

It is said that 54 per cent of the road troubles of motorists is caused by tire and ignition failures.

● Bagatelles:

There's one thing about all this basketball-fix business, says Klip Kleiner. It makes you appreciate a good, honest sport like wrestling. But nothing is sacred to these big time gamblers. The next thing you know, they'll try to fix chess matches. Then somebody will get rooked. It's nice to see baseball news back on the sports pages. In fact, it's good to see any sport on the sports pages. There's been too much of it on Page One.

● Straight From the Horse's Mouth:

"Dear Charlie"

"Greetings to you! My folks forwarded your couple references of Ken Murray—and naturally I read them with interest—particularly since one item mentioned me.

"As one of Ken's writers, I get a special kick out of mentioning the old home town, inasmuch as Kingston also marks the scene of his childhood. As a matter of fact, I mention Kingston as much as I can on any radio or television show I'm connected with—or any magazine piece I write. It so happens I'm mighty proud of the place!

"Here's some data to augument Lou Smith's recollections—and, incidentally, Ken remembers Lou very well.

"He was born Kenneth Abner Doncourt in New York city in 1903. He was raised by his grandparents on their farm 'up from the station' in Rosendale. He says they called it a 'monkey farm,' because that's exactly what it was before he grew up to be a farmhand there.

"Ken graduated from Rosendale Union Free School in 1915. He took the train to Kingston every day for high school (for what must have been the first year the institution was open. I was a page boy for the first K.H.S. May Day and that was 1916). Ken attended high school for two years, then moved to Brooklyn, where his grandfather had obtained a job in a chemical plant. Ken finished his education at Newtown H.S., then broke into show business.

"Yours is a sports column, so I asked Ken what his athletic prowess consisted of—and he said he did the 100-yard dash in 10.9 seconds. He said: 'If I could run any longer distances, I wouldn't have needed that train from Rosendale.' He also said there were two trains he could take back to Rosendale every day—the later one at 5:00, in case he had to stay after school. 'I usually took the 5 o'clock train,' he admitted, mumbling something about two years of the same algebra course.

"Ken became very reminiscent, as I 'interviewed' him for the Freeman and said he recalled seeing his first airplane while sitting on the high school front lawn, remembers watching a 'Hughes For President' parade on Broadway in 1916.

"My boss asked me to thank you for your kind mention and wants to thank the number of Ulster county television fans for their warm and friendly letters.

"By the way, there's a 'Kingston co-incidence' regarding Ken Murray and Bob Hutton. Ken's ex-wife, Cleatus Caldwell, is now Bob's ex-wife. Kindest regards . . . SEAMAN JACOBS, Mgr. Baseball, '28."

P.S.—Ken changed his name to Murray when he replaced a fellow named Murray in a vaudeville act.

James Fuller of Kingston and Gerret Wullschleger, Jr., of New Paltz are members of the undefeated Northwood School hockey team of Lake Placid. Its record of 14 straight victories includes two major tournaments, the Lawrenceville Invitation at Princeton and the Lake Placid High School Winter Carnival Tournament. Fuller is a first string defenseman. Jay Zimmerman, also of New Paltz, is a wingman, while Wullschleger is a sub. You can catch Ed McCardle on TV Saturday nights with the Seton Hall relay squad. . . . Big Ed is making a nice comeback with the Orange. When you meet County Judge John M. Cashin, Alex Gerlak and Dr. Fred Holcomb, Jr., within a space of an hour in one day, what do you think the subject is about? "It won't be long now" is the universal chorus. Pfc. The collegiate basketball "fix" situation being what it is, don't be surprised if Alcatraz and Sing Sing meet in NIT finals at the Garden.

'Little Flower' Wins Over Abe Coleman

Chicago Ace Scores In Two Falls

Wrestling's famous "Little Flower" hammed up the joint with his theatricals Saturday night at the municipal auditorium and still found time to dispose of veteran Abe Coleman in a two-fall match.

Benito Gardini was the name, a colorful, swaggering modern grunt and groan type who stalked into the arena attired in a dazzling scarlet jacket, with green and white trimmings and accessories.

It took fat and fortyish Benito several minutes to walk from the dressing room to the ring and en route he blew kisses to the ladies, and scattered the arena with autographed photos and flowers.

A Real Production

Upon reaching ringside, he leaned over and kissed one of the ladies then made a production of the disrobing ceremonies. What the spectators saw once Benito had exposed his physique to the crowd was hardly in keeping with his nickname.

After being subjected to early indignities by Coleman, who has been around as long as Connie Mack, Gardini tossed the Jewish veteran with a series of body slams at 18:04 for the first fall.

Coleman cuffed the "Flower" with gusto in the next few minutes and took the second fall with a flying mare in 9 minutes, 45 seconds.

The bout ended 14:02 later when Gardini clamped a headlock on Coleman and forced Abe to holler uncle. Referee Willie Glickman gave Coleman first aid treatment for a few minutes after the bout ended.

When Coleman revived he threatened to tackle Benito outside the ropes but the wrestling commissioner ordered both gladiators into their dressing rooms.

Preliminary Bouts

In the 30-minute, one-fall opener, Mike Kolonis, 225, former Albany heavyweight boxer, tossed Eddie Faiata, 230, of Pittsburgh, in 20 minutes, 31 seconds.

Fritz Ziegfried, 210, of New York and John Heiderman, 214, St. Louis, staged an exciting semi-final in which Heiderman won the odd fall.

The first fall went to Heiderman with a neatly executed series of flying blocks in 14:55. Ziegfried won with body slams in 1:03 and the bout ended 10 minutes later when Heiderman slammed Ziegfried off the corner ring posts.

The officials assigned by the New York State Athletic Commission were: Willie Glickman, Albany, referee; Barney Williams, Newburgh, and John McCarthy, Troy, judges; Fred Eisler, Kingston, timer; and Dick McCarthy, Kingston, announcer.

Promoter Bill Johnston of New York announced that the wrestling cards would be discontinued until March 17.

Ellenville Ace Shoots 226, 269 And 234 Games

Angie Ferraro Has 692 For Locals

Big Hank Kuykendall, the stocky Ellenville bowling powerhouse, and Adirondack Trailways shared the spotlight in a terrific afternoon of Hudson Valley League bowling, Sunday at Ferraro's Bowlodrome.

Kuykendall pounded a brilliant 729 series, while the Trailways crashed 3163 with game sets of 1121, 1023 and 1019.

The big Ellenville pounder reeled off solos of 226, 269 and 234 to flirt with Nick Leece's league record of 743. His tremendous pocket busting carried the Kerhonkson VFW quintet to a three-game losing 2923 series.

Ferraro Blasts 692

Angie Ferraro and veteran Fred Rice set the pace for the Trailways who had four men in the "600" bracket.

Ferraro pounded 692 with solos of 246, 232 and 214. Rice sandwiched a 197 middle game with 257 and 233.

Johnny Schatzel hit for the hat trick with 225-200-215-640 and Harold Broskie wrapped a pair of 190 games around 234 for 625. Hammerin' Hank Kemmerer, third ranking bowler in the league, was unable to get into the act, winding up with a lowly 519.

In the 1121 opener, Kemmerer furnished 198, Johnny Schatzel 225, A. Ferraro 246, Broskie 195 and Rice 257. Johnny Ferraro, regular Trailway anchor, is still sitting it out because of a leg injury.

None of the other VFW keglers was able to crash the "600" circle. Sam Fisher posted 580; Frank Greco 204-577; John Bonomi 204-563 and Al Milliott 221-574. The visitors shot team games of 1026, 1018 and 979.

Howard Slaps 667

Miron Lumber won a split decision over Elston Sport Shop in an intra-city duel on alleys 9 and 10 at the Bowlodrome, but Richard Howard of Elstons, was top thrower with 173-247-247-667.

Mirons, aided by three "600" triples, posted 1003-1029-941-2973 to 907-1000-1011-2918 for the losers.

Charlie Grunenwald was off to a terrific start with 225 and 253 but slumped to 174 and 652. Clifton Quick shot 208-214-617 and Frank Spada 205-206-204-615. "Boots" Leskie hammered 234-205-610 in the anchor spot for Elstons.

Washington, Feb. 26 (AP)—With no major opposition in sight, the Senate took up today a bill to provide $10,000 in free life insurance to all persons on duty with the armed forces since last June 27. A somewhat similar measure was passed unanimously by the House.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By ED CREAGH
(For HAL BOYLE)

Washington, Feb. 24 (AP)—Interested in a television set for 97 cents?

A rebuilt typewriter for $3.

A pair of women's shoes for a nickel?

This is the town for you, then. At least it was a couple of days ago. I'd have told you it sooner except that my feet got stepped on.

(No, junior, the man doesn't write with his feet. It just sounds that way sometimes.)

What happened to my feet, and to the high cost of living, was a strange local institution known as the Washington's birthday sales.

Don't confuse these with quiet little events such as New Year's Eve in Times Square. They're in a class by themselves. They're a mob scene, an all-night vigil, a store manager's nightmare, a housewife's dream.

Also, they're painfully hard on the feet.

On Washington's birthday, in this town, you can buy men's suits for 99 cents—oh, golly, they al-$10.98) for 99 cents, nylon stockings for 49 cents, side-arm chairs for 99 cents—oh, golly, they almost pay you to cart the stuff away.

There are a couple of jokers in the pack, however:

1—A lot of these cut-to-the-bone items are frankly and unashamedly junk. The ads say so. The store manager will tell you so. This doesn't stop people from buying, though. A bargain is a bargain, even if it falls apart before you get it home. Ask any woman.

2—The most spectacular bargains—$8 electric refrigerators, for instance — come in small quantities. A store will offer only three or four of them. To get one, you have to stand (or sit or lie down) in line for hours. This year's champ was a man who stuck it out 22 hours. He got a television set for $9.90.

This has been going on annually for about 30 years but I hadn't heard about it before and nothing would do but I had to take a look.

Oh, brother!

The bus was crowded, the streets were crowded. It was a holiday (or so the calendar said) and yet there hadn't been so many people around town since Franklin Roosevelt's second inauguration. You couldn't get in some of the stores. The doors had been barred and the cops were holding the crowds back.

My wife, who had come along to provide the "woman's angle," took a limited view of the whole enterprise.

"Let's go home," she said, "we'll be trampled to death."

"No," I said, "I want to get inside one of these stores and—ouch!"

A large, befurred woman, sailing past with an armload of packages and a wild gleam in her eye, trod neatly and heavily on my left foot. It hurt.

"See what I mean?" my wife said. "These people are crazy today. It's not safe to be out."

I was beginning to agree with her, but the door of an F street novelty shop burst open just then and I saw my chance. I shouldered my way inside.

"Watch it, bud," said a man coming out.

I tried to watch it but he was too quick. He nailed me squarely with a size 12 brogan on three toes of the right foot.

Hobbling and moaning, I joined my wife. She was three doors down the street by that time and there was a strange, fixed look in her eye.

"In here," she breathed. "Rayon slips for 27 cents. Wait for me!"

I didn't, though. I limped to a taxi.

Nothing serious, the doctor said. He strapped on some adhesive tape, told me to keep off my feet for a day or so, and charged me $4.

But as I said: There are some great bargains in this town on Washington's birthday. If you're in town next Washington's birthday, look me up. You'll know me. I'll be the fellow on stilts.

Bowling

Fred Schussler's first "600" triple in league competition—612, with 183, 226, 203—was the best individual series in the Ferraro Mixed League.

Chris Robinson shot 211-551; Fred Rice 206-544; Pete Nagy 531 and Rose Schatzel 519 to round out the first five. Other high series included 491s by Ed Schussler and Marie Bechtold; Sue Heins 487, Tillie Hasbrouck 484 and Joe Berardi 482.

A new leader—John Reinhardt—cropped up in the Ruzzo Mixed League with 172-190-188-550. John Covey accounted for 201-549; George McDonough 207-521; John Schatzel 200-521; B. Smith 518; Charlie Horne 516; John North 513; T. Jordan 205-509 and Jack Martin 505. Other top counts: J. Zimmerman 498; Harry Kaprellian 495 and Vince Burns 228-491.

Frank Grimaldi's 199-249-188-636 blast represented the best pin-fall in the Central Rec Mixed League, but of interest to the league trundlers was Fred Schryver's first "600" series in league play. Freddie achieved it with scores of 201-194-207 for 602.

Joe Sangi shot 215-567; Jim Pruden and Ken Radel 524; Orv Van Alstyne 523; Jim Daniels 519; Red Sangi 497; Ken Boughton 494. Jennie Spada's 508 led the distaff department. Marge Van Alstyne shot 464; Edna Peterson 458; Kay Roosa 445 and S. O'Bryan 444 and Edna Barkley 403.

The Old Man River of local bowling—John Raible—and Tommy Rowland tied for high scoring honors in the Y Mercantile American League with 518 triples. Raible posted high solo of 220 and Rowland had 209. Charlie Port fashioned 213-518; Ed Bock 513; Carmen Massa 508; J. Wolfersteig 495; J. Rowland 491; Bud Greenburg 489 and Len Ward 472.

Washington, Feb. 26 (AP)—With no major opposition in sight, the Senate took up today a bill to provide $10,000 in free life insurance to all persons on duty with the armed forces since last June 27. A somewhat similar measure was passed unanimously by the House.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By ED CREAGH
(For HAL BOYLE)

Washington, Feb. 24 (AP)—Interested in a television set for 97 cents?

A rebuilt typewriter for $3.

A pair of women's shoes for a nickel?

This is the town for you, then. At least it was a couple of days ago. I'd have told you it sooner except that my feet got stepped on.

What happened to my feet, and to the high cost of living, was a strange local institution known as the Washington's birthday sales.

Don't confuse these with quiet little events such as New Year's Eve in Times Square. They're in a class by themselves. They're a mob scene, an all-night vigil, a store manager's nightmare, a housewife's dream.

Also, they're painfully hard on the feet.

On Washington's birthday, in this town, you can buy men's suits for 99 cents—oh, golly, they al-$10.98) for 99 cents, nylon stockings for 49 cents, side-arm chairs for 99 cents—oh, golly, they almost pay you to cart the stuff away.

There are a couple of jokers in the pack, however:

1—A lot of these cut-to-the-bone items are frankly and unashamedly junk. The ads say so. The store manager will tell you so. This doesn't stop people from buying, though. A bargain is a bargain, even if it falls apart before you get it home. Ask any woman.

2—The most spectacular bargains—$8 electric refrigerators, for instance — come in small quantities. A store will offer only three or four of them. To get one, you have to stand (or sit or lie down) in line for hours. This year's champ was a man who stuck it out 22 hours. He got a television set for $9.90.

This has been going on annually for about 30 years but I hadn't heard about it before and nothing would do but I had to take a look.

Oh, brother!

The bus was crowded, the streets were crowded. It was a holiday (or so the calendar said) and yet there hadn't been so many people around town since Franklin Roosevelt's second inauguration. "Watch it, bud," said a man coming out.

I tried to watch it but he was too quick. He nailed me squarely with a size 12 brogan on three toes of the right foot.

Hobbling and moaning, I joined my wife. She was three doors down the street by that time and there was a strange, fixed look in her eye.

"In here," she breathed. "Rayon slips for 27 cents. Wait for me!"

I didn't, though. I limped to a taxi.

Bowling

Fred Schussler's first "600" triple in league competition—612, with 183, 226, 203—was the best individual series in the Ferraro Mixed League.

Chris Robinson shot 211-551; Fred Rice 206-544; Pete Nagy 531 and Rose Schatzel 519 to round out the first five. Other high series included 491s by Ed Schussler and Marie Bechtold; Sue Heins 487, Tillie Hasbrouck 484 and Joe Berardi 482.

A new leader—John Reinhardt—cropped up in the Ruzzo Mixed League with 172-190-188-550. John Covey accounted for 201-549; George McDonough 207-521; John Schatzel 200-521; B. Smith 518; Charlie Horne 516; John North 513; T. Jordan 205-509 and Jack Martin 505. Other top counts: J. Zimmerman 498; Harry Kaprellian 495 and Vince Burns 228-491.

Frank Grimaldi's 199-249-188-636 blast represented the best pin-fall in the Central Rec Mixed League, but of interest to the league trundlers was Fred Schryver's first "600" series in league play. Freddie achieved it with scores of 201-194-207 for 602.

Joe Sangi shot 215-567; Jim Pruden and Ken Radel 524; Orv Van Alstyne 523; Jim Daniels 519; Red Sangi 497; Ken Boughton 494. Jennie Spada's 508 led the distaff department. Marge Van Alstyne shot 464; Edna Peterson 458; Kay Roosa 445 and S. O'Bryan 444 and Edna Barkley 403.

The Old Man River of local bowling—John Raible—and Tommy Rowland tied for high scoring honors in the Y Mercantile American League with 518 triples. Raible posted high solo of 220 and Rowland had 209. Charlie Port fashioned 213-518; Ed Bock 513; Carmen Massa 508; J. Wolfersteig 495; J. Rowland 491; Bud Greenburg 489 and Len Ward 472.

No Opposition Expected

Washington, Feb. 26 (AP)—With no major opposition in sight, the Senate took up today a bill to provide $10,000 in free life insurance to all persons on duty with the armed forces since last June 27. A somewhat similar measure was passed unanimously by the House.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By ED CREAGH
(For HAL BOYLE)

Washington, Feb. 24 (AP)—Interested in a television set for 97 cents?

A rebuilt typewriter for $3.

A pair of women's shoes for a nickel?

This is the town for you, then. At least it was a couple of days ago. I'd have told you it sooner except that my feet got stepped on.

What happened to my feet, and to the high cost of living, was a strange local institution known as the Washington's birthday sales.

Don't confuse these with quiet little events such as New Year's Eve in Times Square. They're in a class by themselves. They're a mob scene, an all-night vigil, a store manager's nightmare, a housewife's dream.

Also, they're painfully hard on the feet.

On Washington's birthday, in this town, you can buy men's suits for 99 cents—oh, golly, they al-$10.98) for 99 cents, nylon stockings for 49 cents, side-arm chairs for 99 cents—oh, golly, they almost pay you to cart the stuff away.

There are a couple of jokers in the pack, however:

1—A lot of these cut-to-the-bone items are frankly and unashamedly junk. The ads say so. The store manager will tell you so. This doesn't stop people from buying, though. A bargain is a bargain, even if it falls apart before you get it home. Ask any woman.

2—The most spectacular bargains—$8 electric refrigerators, for instance — come in small quantities. A store will offer only three or four of them. To get one, you have to stand (or sit or lie down) in line for hours. This year's champ was a man who stuck it out 22 hours. He got a television set for $9.90.

This has been going on annually for about 30 years but I hadn't heard about it before and nothing would do but I had to take a look.

Oh, brother!

The bus was crowded, the streets were crowded. It was a holiday (or so the calendar said) and yet there hadn't been so many people around town since Franklin Roosevelt's second inauguration. You couldn't get in some of the stores. The doors had been barred and the cops were holding the crowds back.

My wife, who had come along to provide the "woman's angle," took a limited view of the whole enterprise.

"Let's go home," she said, "we'll be trampled to death."

"No," I said, "I want to get inside one of these stores and—ouch!"

A large, befurred woman, sailing past with an armload of packages and a wild gleam in her eye, trod neatly and heavily on my left foot. It hurt.

"See what I mean?" my wife said. "These people are crazy today. It's not safe to be out."

I was beginning to agree with her, but the door of an F street novelty shop burst open just then and I saw my chance. I shouldered my way inside.

"Watch it, bud," said a man coming out.

I tried to watch it but he was too quick. He nailed me squarely with a size 12 brogan on three toes of the right foot.

Hobbling and moaning, I joined my wife. She was three doors down the street by that time and there was a strange, fixed look in her eye.

"In here," she breathed. "Rayon slips for 27 cents. Wait for me!"

I didn't, though. I limped to a taxi.

Nothing serious, the doctor said. He strapped on some adhesive tape, told me to keep off my feet for a day or so, and charged me $4.

But as I said: There are some great bargains in this town on Washington's birthday. If you're in town next Washington's birthday, look me up. You'll know me. I'll be the fellow on stilts.

Why Thousands of Doctors prescribe pleasant tasting PERTUSSIN FOR BAD COUGHS (CAUSED BY COLDS)

PERTUSSIN acts at once. It not only relieves such coughing but also loosens up phlegm and makes it easier to raise. PERTUSSIN is safe! Mighty effective for old and young! Pleasant tasting!

Air Reserves to Hold Meeting Tuesday Night

Members of the 9267th Squadron of this city, a unit of the U. S. Air Force's Volunteer Reserve Training program, will hold their regular bi-monthly meeting Tuesday at 8 p. m. at the Legion Building, West O'Reilly street.

The main speaker will be Lt. Col. William P. Comstock who will lecture on "Turbo-Jet Propellers." He was stationed at Stewart Field during World War 2.

The 9267th Squadron, formed two and a half years ago, is part of a nation-wide program backed by the regular air force to keep up the proficiency and readiness of the nation's reserve forces. Members, who may be enlisted airmen or officers, receive no pay for devoting several hours of their time each month, but are offered opportunities for maintaining their war-learned military skills, learning new military jobs, advancement and retirement.

Voted Best for Modern Design!

★ Rambler Convertible Sedan was given this award by Design News Magazine for these basic reasons:

1. New design of front suspension reduces the unsprung weight and gives superior riding qualities.
2. Airflyte Construction in a convertible model, with the roof rails acting as stress-bearing members, increasing rigidity and reducing total weight.
3. Unique method of raising and lowering the fabric top by electric power.

The Rambler Convertible Sedan is the only passenger car introduced during the past year to receive this award.

National Emergency Brings Stalin Interview more than 990,000 and the company soon will become the first in history to have one million shareholders.

Wilson said applications for higher telephone rates are pending in most states and that others will be made "as necessity requires." But he declared that rate increases during and since the war plus those applied for amount to less than 25 per cent of gross Bell System revenues. And he added that taxes paid by Bell Companies plus federal excise taxes paid by customers average $2.65 per telephone per month.

The Bell System, he continued, is preparing alternate communications routes for use in the event of enemy attack on key locations. Other defense measures include standby engine-driven power plants for use in emergencies, plus additional precautions against sabotage.

rean campaign, had served notice the Soviet would "stop at nothing to achieve world conquest."

They said these factors, rather than any recent new Soviet military alignment, underlie the speeded efforts to assure Japan's defense after a peace treaty is concluded.

Besides the two U. S. National Guard divisions whose assignment here next month has been announced, other American security forces will be sent here if the situation warrants, these sources said.

The Russians began to outflank Japan when they acquired the Kurile Islands and southern Sakhalin in the Yalta agreements. They capitalized on existing Japanese installations. They rule these acquisitions with iron control and tight secrecy.

From the islands, the Russians continually can dangle the threat of an open or surreptitious invasion of Japan proper.

The viewpoint here is that Soviet power has been built up in the Orient, not fundamentally for a war of nerves, but as part of overall plans for world conquest.

So the effort to put strength into the defense of Japan is being made with grim reality.

Sing Sing Trusty Is Back in Cell After Brief Break

New York, Feb. 26 (AP)—A sing sing prison trusty—the warden's butler—escaped to New York city yesterday, only to land in a jail cell six hours later.

The 23-year-old convict, George H. Brooks, was recaptured on a New York city street by two detectives without a struggle after he fled Sing Sing at 2 p. m.

It was the second escape from Sing Sing in nine years. But Ed Connolly, who made the last flight last summer, enjoyed two days of freedom before his recapture here.

As Brooks handed over two loaded pistols without a protest, he told detectives:

Looking for Friend

"I was just looking for a friend."

Earlier, prison authorities in Ossining, N. Y., where Sing Sing is located, said other prisoners were circulating rumors that Brooks wanted to "get" someone in Astoria, a residential district here.

However, Astoria detectives said Brooks told them he was planning a holdup to get money to "go south." The "friend" Brooks mentioned, police added, apparently referred to an accomplice.

Brooks was arrested about a half mile from the Astoria home where his mother still lives. Fifty Queens police had been alerted.

Astoria police said Brooks told them he fled Sing Sing after he drank a prison concoction of coffee and mace (a spice). This mixture produces an intoxicating effect.

"I got loaded and got feeling pretty high," police quoted Brooks as saying.

Blames Drink

Brooks added, police said, that he would not have run away except for the drink.

The convict said he found the weapons accidently while looking for liquor, police said.

Warden Denno was in Albany at the time of the escape, and returned as soon as prison officials reached him.

Brooks received his Sing Sing sentence from Queens County Judge Thomas Downs on Dec. 23, 1948. He was convicted of holding up John Iacobelli, of (59-11 39th avenue) Woodside, Queens, the week previous. Brooks took $15 from Iacobelli and fled with the latter's auto.

Police said his record shows three previous convictions as a juvenile.

Brooks' Astoria address is 45-15 30th ave.

Brooks appeared in the police lineup and said he had made a statement to the Queens County District Attorney's Office.

Army Officers Held For Slaying Japanese

Atami, Japan, Feb. 26 (AP)—Two U. S. Army officers, both veterans of the Korean war, were held for investigation in connection with the slaying of a Japanese and the wounding of three others today.

The Army said the two officers went berserk with .45 caliber pistols at a Japanese hotel.

Army authorities identified the officers as Capt. Robert W. Hessler, of Company D, 5th Cavalry Regiment, and Capt. Willard W. Wise of the medical holding detachment, 8th Station Hospital.

Agents of the Army's criminal investigating detachment are investigating.

Ideas in the Night

By FRANK TRIPP

For years I've been going to get me one of those little notebooks that people carry to jot down ideas as they turn up; keep it on the bedside stand at night, and always with me. Not long ago I got one—and it hasn't amounted to a tinker's darn.

When I started this spasm I had no more ideas than a rabbit, as you can see. So I got out the little book with confidence and expectation. There'd be something there I felt sure.

There was, or were, if you're inclined to be fussy. The first item, "34 x 21 inches." Now what the devil was that? Something I'd measured, but couldn't remember what.

Second item, "10 MC P16." That also had be stumped. I gave up the column and started a search for what the thing meant. Maybe the FBI was after me. I pawed through drawers, pulled everything out and ended with a desk piled with slips, notes and memos.

I never solved the mystery, had no column, but faced a stack of stuff I didn't dare ditch. So I took an hour to file it where I'm sure it can never be found again no matter how badly I may need it.

It was getting late and not a word of the column had been written. Maybe the next page would serve me better. At least it revealed something that I remembered:

The catch line of a story that's a good one but has no place in a newspaper column; and the name "Stanley N. Scott." Which reminded me too late that I wanted to send a Christmas card to my favorite mixologist at the Waldorf-Astoria men's bar. Well, I'll do it next Christmas maybe.

THEN the lousy book got off on a new slant. It said "creme de cacao, gin and white mint." Vaguely I remembered a new drink called a "grasshopper." I shuddered lest I might sometime order one.

Touching further on lethal potions, the next item was "cyanide and apples." I hadn't contemplated suicide that I could remember—or had I? Dog poisoning is not in my line; anyway dogs don't eat apples. Oh yes, those pesky muskrats that ate Fanny's flowers. It was for them.

I had everything in that book except what I bought it for. I tore it all out and started afresh, determined to make it click. That night I put it by my bed. 'Cause sometimes the dark hours bring brilliant thoughts.

Sure enough one came. I turned on the light, reached for the book and knocked it on the floor. I recovered it and got back into bed; then found that I had provided no pencil. Getting one, I tipped over a vase of flowers on Fanny's desk—and she got into the act.

"What's the matter?" came from her bed.

"Just something I wanted to remember," I said.

"You couldn't get all the things you ought to remember in that little book," she snapped. "For one thing you might jot down our anniversary date—and be sure to remind yourself to come home nights before daylight. Turn out that light and let me sleep."

"No use now, I've forgotten it," I lamented, and turned off the light. I always strive to please.

AFTER LONG pondering the thought came back to me. Most guys would have turned on the light again, tossed their weight around a little, found the book and put down their bright idea. I say most guys would have, but most guys haven't lived with Fanny for 47 years like I have.

I pawed in the darkness for the book and pencil; thought I could record the brain flash without a light. I tried it.

Scotland Yard is a nursery compared to that woman. She can catch me at anything that I ought not be doing. That's why I have lived such an exemplary life—more than 'cause I wanted to.

She heard me fussing, rose up in bed and let me have it: "For heaven's sake get up and dress or go back to sleep, so I can. Nobody reads your corny stuff anyway."

Now I know why Mark Twain wrote in bed—daytimes. I determined the night shouldn't be a total loss. That's why I'm telling you about it.

When I started this epistle I tried to read the memo that I wrote in the dark. If a Chinaman did my shirts I'd be sure it was his laundry check.

On the committee are Georgina Klitgaard, Ethel Magafan, William Pachner, Edna Quick and Morris Klein, chairman.

Lofts to Present New Play Starting March 5

Woodstock, Feb. 26 — The Loft Players, whose first production "Dark of the Moon," which has been receiving favorable comment since it opened in the Circle in the Square, their arena theatre in New York, have announced that they will present a new play March 5. It is a romantic phantasy well suited to the arena style, "Amata," by Eugene Raskin. The author, besides being a playwright, is a painter, a cartoonist, an entertainer, a guitarist, a songwriter and yachtsman. For the past 15 years, and concurrent with these other activities, he has been teaching architecture at Columbia Unversity.

Now showing in the lobby of the Circle in the Square is an exhibition of a group of etchings from Stanley William Hayter's Atelier 17. Some of these same works will be shown in London and Paris in the spring.

Switz Served

Mr. and Mrs. Switz spent 16 months in a French prison, stood trial and then were released without conviction. In 1938 they returned voluntarily to the United States and their collaboration with the government in counter-espionage began, Mrs. Switz said.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Switz were natural born citizens of this country. Switz was educated in Europe, while Mrs. Switz received her education in the United States.

Mrs. Switz's Statement

Mrs. Switz's statement follows:

"For the past 12 years he had worked closely with the Federal Bureau of Investigation, giving his best energies and literally thousands of hours of his time to assist them in their work of counter-espionage.

Testified and Guided

"He had repeatedly testified before the House Committee on un-American Activities and corresponded with that committee, advising them how to secure cooperation from potential anti-Communist witnesses, guiding them in their work of unravelling the ramifications of Russian espionage in the United States.

"His cooperation with the U. S. government was a closely guarded secret, both by Congress and the F.B.I. because he felt that his contribution to counter-intelligence would have diminished value if the Russians knew that he was working against them.

Misled by Ideals

"In the early 1930s Switz was among a group of idealistic young persons who became interested in the ideal of world unity and brotherly international relations which at that time the Communist Internationale seemed to represent. Then under 30, he could speak both French and German fluently, and had lived much abroad in an atmosphere of international liberalism. Like many other Western intellectuals of similar opinions, he was induced to work in the Russian intelligence organization.

"Very soon, familiarity with the Russians convinced him not only that they were mercenary, venal, and nationalistic, but that they had no interest in true internationalism, and had callous, even criminal disregard for human life and self-determination. The discovery that they wished only to impose their police regime on other countries of the world, using falseness, violence, repression, terrorism, and gangster methods where necessary, made him wish to renounce his association with them.

Tried to Get Out

"Unfortunately, before he was able to disentangle himself from his espionage commitment, he was arrested in Paris in 1933 with others by the French government, and imprisoned pending trial.

"For the following 17 years he made it his life's purpose to destroy Russian espionage wherever he could. He worked with the French Deuxieme Bureau (counter-espionage office) to that end, with the British government and other countries in Europe.

"In 1938 he returned voluntarily to the United States to put himself at the service of the American government, with which he worked until the time of his death. His service to this country was invaluable because of his knowledge of Russian methods, his understanding of the mentality of American converts to communism, his phenomenal memory, and his gift for intuitive analysis.

"In recent months he had been writing the story of his early entanglement with the Russians, the experiences which led to his disillusionment with communism, and the reasons for his hatred of Russian 'internationalism.'

First to Break

"Switz was probably the first American associated with the Russians to break with the Soviet government. He was followed much later by other anti-Communists like Whittaker Chambers, Arthur Koestler, Louis Budenz, Elizabeth Bentley, and others, whose positions were somewhat similar."

Before making this statement Mrs. Switz consulted the office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in New York city so that they would have knowledge of her intention to do so, she said.

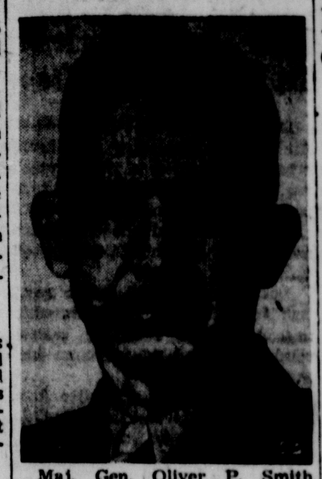

Woman Suffers Burns As Gas Stove Explodes

Mrs. Ida Mancuso who reportedly suffered burns about the body in a gas stove explosion at her home in Pine Hill Thursday night, was reported to be in good condition at the Margaretville Hospital today.

There was apparently no general fire connected with the accident, it also was said.

Information concerning the explosion was given by a person who did not wish to be quoted. The state troopers and the sheriff's office were not called to investigate.

New Commander

Maj. Gen. Oliver P. Smith (above), First Marine Division commander, was named to command the U. S. Ninth Corps, succeeding the late Maj. Gen. Bryant E. Moore, who died of a heart attack after his helicopter crashed in the Han river in Korea.

Tests Ahead

as to the target of the Kefauver probers.

An influential Republican legislative leader said the action was "intimidation to scare us out of investigating New York city."

"We don't frighten easily," he added.

At the same time, he described as "a blind" reports that the Kefauver agents were interested only in the records of a member of the staff of the State Senate's Democratic minority leader, Elmer F. Quinn.

A well-informed Democratic source, on the other hand, said the Kefauver action was aimed at the Quinn staff member and not at the Legislature as a whole, nor even the Republican majority.

The party source said the Quinn appointee was "100 per cent okay" and that the Kefauver inquiry probably resulted from a complaint arising from the intra-party Democratic feud in Manhattan.

Hints Clementis Held as Prisoner On Conspiracy Try

Prague, Feb. 26 (AP) — Rumors that the missing Vlado Clementis is under arrest were bolstered today by charges by President Klement Gottwald that the ex-foreign minister took part in a conspiracy aimed at lining up Czechoslovakia with the west.

Gottwald, in a speech published yesterday, declared the Communist party has unearthed a "large-scale," five-year-old conspiracy engineered by Clementis and other "traitors and conspirators."

Previous reports said Clementis, who has not been seen since late last month, had fled to Yugoslavia or to the west.

In a speech delivered Thursday to the Communist Central Committee, Gottwald declared Clementis and others had carried on a large-scale conspiracy to throw Czechoslovakia into "the camp of imperialism." But he added:

'No Second Yugoslavia'

"Czechoslovakia will not be a second Yugoslavia."

He referred to the expulsion of Premier Tito's Yugoslavia from the Russian-led family of Communist nations in June, 1948. Tito was accused by the Cominform of enmity toward the Soviet Union and deviation from the Marxist-Lenin line.

Some diplomats have suspected that opposition to Kremlin dictation has long existed on a high level in the Czechoslovak Communist Party.

Gottwald acknowledged that "there was not enough vigilance inside the party" and urged doubting members:

"Believe in the party, comrade * * *. In the end every one of these vagabonds is caught . . . and deserved punishment given."

Wilson said applications for higher telephone rates are pending in most states and that others will be made "as necessity requires." But he declared that rate increases during and since the war plus those applied for amount to less than 25 per cent of gross Bell System revenues. And he added that taxes paid by Bell Companies plus federal excise taxes paid by customers average $2.65 per telephone per month.

The Bell System, he continued, is preparing alternate communications routes for use in the event of enemy attack on key locations. Other defense measures include standby engine-driven power plants for use in emergencies, plus additional precautions against sabotage.

rean campaign, had served notice the Soviet would "stop at nothing to achieve world conquest."

They said these factors, rather than any recent new Soviet military alignment, underlie the speeded efforts to assure Japan's defense after a peace treaty is concluded.

Besides the two U. S. National Guard divisions whose assignment here next month has been announced, other American security forces will be sent here if the situation warrants, these sources said.

The Russians began to outflank Japan when they acquired the Kurile Islands and southern Sakhalin in the Yalta agreements. They capitalized on existing Japanese installations. They rule these acquisitions with iron control and tight secrecy.

From the islands, the Russians continually can dangle the threat of an open or surreptitious invasion of Japan proper.

The viewpoint here is that Soviet power has been built up in the Orient, not fundamentally for a war of nerves, but as part of overall plans for world conquest.

So the effort to put strength into the defense of Japan is being made with grim reality.

Sing Sing Trusty Is Back in Cell After Brief Break

New York, Feb. 26 (AP)—A sing sing prison trusty—the warden's butler—escaped to New York city yesterday, only to land in a jail cell six hours later.

The 23-year-old convict, George H. Brooks, was recaptured on a New York city street by two detectives without a struggle after he fled Sing Sing at 2 p. m.

It was the second escape from Sing Sing in nine years. But Ed Connolly, who made the last flight last summer, enjoyed two days of freedom before his recapture here.

As Brooks handed over two loaded pistols without a protest, he told detectives:

Looking for Friend

"I was just looking for a friend."

Earlier, prison authorities in Ossining, N. Y., where Sing Sing is located, said other prisoners were circulating rumors that Brooks wanted to "get" someone in Astoria, a residential district here.

However, Astoria detectives said Brooks told them he was planning a holdup to get money to "go south." The "friend" Brooks mentioned, police added, apparently referred to an accomplice.

Brooks was arrested about a half mile from the Astoria home where his mother still lives. Fifty Queens police had been alerted.

Astoria police said Brooks told them he fled Sing Sing after he drank a prison concoction of coffee and mace (a spice). This mixture produces an intoxicating effect.

"I got loaded and got feeling pretty high," police quoted Brooks as saying.

Blames Drink

Brooks added, police said, that he would not have run away except for the drink.

The convict said he found the weapons accidently while looking for liquor, police said.

Warden Denno was in Albany at the time of the escape, and returned as soon as prison officials reached him.

Brooks received his Sing Sing sentence from Queens County Judge Thomas Downs on Dec. 23, 1948. He was convicted of holding up John Iacobelli, of (59-11 39th avenue) Woodside, Queens, the week previous. Brooks took $15 from Iacobelli and fled with the latter's auto.

Police said his record shows three previous convictions as a juvenile.

Brooks' Astoria address is 45-15 30th ave.

Brooks appeared in the police lineup and said he had made a statement to the Queens County District Attorney's Office.

Army Officers Held For Slaying Japanese

Atami, Japan, Feb. 26 (AP)—Two U. S. Army officers, both veterans of the Korean war, were held for investigation in connection with the slaying of a Japanese and the wounding of three others today.

The Army said the two officers went berserk with .45 caliber pistols at a Japanese hotel.

Army authorities identified the officers as Capt. Robert W. Hessler, of Company D, 5th Cavalry Regiment, and Capt. Willard W. Wise of the medical holding detachment, 8th Station Hospital.

Agents of the Army's criminal investigating detachment are investigating.

By FRANK TRIPP

For years I've been going to get me one of those little notebooks that people carry to jot down ideas as they turn up; keep it on the bedside stand at night, and always with me. Not long ago I got one—and it hasn't amounted to a tinker's darn.

When I started this spasm I had no more ideas than a rabbit, as you can see. So I got out the little book with confidence and expectation. There'd be something there I felt sure.

There was, or were, if you're inclined to be fussy. The first item, "34 x 21 inches." Now what the devil was that? Something I'd measured, but couldn't remember what.

Second item, "10 MC P16." That also had be stumped. I gave up the column and started a search for what the thing meant. Maybe the FBI was after me. I pawed through drawers, pulled everything out and ended with a desk piled with slips, notes and memos.

I never solved the mystery, had no column, but faced a stack of stuff I didn't dare ditch. So I took an hour to file it where I'm sure it can never be found again no matter how badly I may need it.

It was getting late and not a word of the column had been written. Maybe the next page would serve me better. At least it revealed something that I remembered:

The catch line of a story that's a good one but has no place in a newspaper column; and the name "Stanley N. Scott." Which reminded me too late that I wanted to send a Christmas card to my favorite mixologist at the Waldarf-Astoria men's bar. Well, I'll do it next Christmas maybe.

THEN the lousy book got off on a new slant. It said "creme de cacao, gin and white mint." Vaguely I remembered a new drink called a "grasshopper." I shuddered lest I might sometime order one.

Touching further on lethal potions, the next item was "cyanide and apples." I hadn't contemplated suicide that I could remember—or had I? Dog poisoning is not in my line; anyway dogs don't eat apples. Oh yes, those pesky muskrats that ate Fanny's flowers. It was for them.

I had everything in that book except what I bought it for. I tore it all out and started afresh, determined to make it click. That night I put it by my bed. 'Cause sometimes the dark hours bring brilliant thoughts.

Sure enough one came. I turned on the light, reached for the book and knocked it on the floor. I recovered it and got back into bed; then found that I had provided no pencil. Getting one, I tipped over a vase of flowers on Fanny's desk—and she got into the act.

"What's the matter?" came from her bed.

"Just something I wanted to remember," I said.

"You couldn't get all the things you ought to remember in that little book," she snapped. "For one thing you might jot down our anniversary date—and be sure to remind yourself to come home nights before daylight. Turn out that light and let me sleep."

"No use now, I've forgotten it," I lamented, and turned off the light. I always strive to please.

AFTER LONG pondering the thought came back to me. Most guys would have turned on the light again, tossed their weight around a little, found the book and put down their bright idea. I say most guys would have, but most guys haven't lived with Fanny for 47 years like I have.

I pawed in the darkness for the book and pencil; thought I could record the brain flash without a light. I tried it.

Scotland Yard is a nursery compared to that woman. She can catch me at anything that I ought not be doing. That's why I have lived such an exemplary life—more than 'cause I wanted to.

She heard me fussing, rose up in bed and let me have it: "For heaven's sake get up and dress or go back to sleep, so I can. Nobody reads your corny stuff anyway."

Now I know why Mark Twain wrote in bed—daytimes. I determined the night shouldn't be a total loss. That's why I'm telling you about it.

When I started this epistle I tried to read the memo that I wrote in the dark. If a Chinaman did my shirts I'd be sure it was his laundry check.

Lofts to Present New Play Starting March 5

Woodstock, Feb. 26 — The Loft Players, whose first production "Dark of the Moon," which has been receiving favorable comment since it opened in the Circle in the Square, their arena theatre in New York, have announced that they will present a new play March 5. It is a romantic phantasy well suited to the arena style, "Amata," by Eugene Raskin. The author, besides being a playwright, is a painter, a cartoonist, an entertainer, a guitarist, a songwriter and yachtsman. For the past 15 years, and concurrent with these other activities, he has been teaching architecture at Columbia Unversity.

Now showing in the lobby of the Circle in the Square is an exhibition of a group of etchings from Stanley William Hayter's Atelier 17. Some of these same works will be shown in London and Paris in the spring.

Red Boss Returns

Rome, Feb. 26 (AP)—Italy's Communist boss, ailing Palmiro Togliati, who has been in the Soviet Union for treatment since before Christmas, returned home suddenly today, presumably to deal first-hand with a growing breach in the Red party ranks.

Switz Served

Mr. and Mrs. Switz spent 16 months in a French prison, stood trial and then were released without conviction. In 1938 they returned voluntarily to the United States and their collaboration with the government in counter-espionage began, Mrs. Switz said.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Switz were natural born citizens of this country. Switz was educated in Europe, while Mrs. Switz received her education in the United States.

Mrs. Switz's Statement

Mrs. Switz's statement follows:

"For the past 12 years he had worked closely with the Federal Bureau of Investigation, giving his best energies and literally thousands of hours of his time to assist them in their work of counter-espionage.

Testified and Guided

"He had repeatedly testified before the House Committee on un-American Activities and corresponded with that committee, advising them how to secure cooperation from potential anti-Communist witnesses, guiding them in their work of unravelling the ramifications of Russian espionage in the United States.

"His cooperation with the U. S. government was a closely guarded secret, both by Congress and the F.B.I. because he felt that his contribution to counter-intelligence would have diminished value if the Russians knew that he was working against them.

Misled by Ideals

"In the early 1930s Switz was among a group of idealistic young persons who became interested in the ideal of world unity and brotherly international relations which at that time the Communist Internationale seemed to represent. Then under 30, he could speak both French and German fluently, and had lived much abroad in an atmosphere of international liberalism. Like many other Western intellectuals of similar opinions, he was induced to work in the Russian intelligence organization.

"Very soon, familiarity with the Russians convinced him not only that they were mercenary, venal, and nationalistic, but that they had no interest in true internationalism, and had callous, even criminal disregard for human life and self-determination. The discovery that they wished only to impose their police regime on other countries of the world, using falseness, violence, repression, terrorism, and gangster methods where necessary, made him wish to renounce his association with them.

Tried to Get Out

"Unfortunately, before he was able to disentangle himself from his espionage commitment, he was arrested in Paris in 1933 with others by the French government, and imprisoned pending trial.

"For the following 17 years he made it his life's purpose to destroy Russian espionage wherever he could. He worked with the French Deuxieme Bureau (counter-espionage office) to that end, with the British government and other countries in Europe.

"In 1938 he returned voluntarily to the United States to put himself at the service of the American government, with which he worked until the time of his death. His service to this country was invaluable because of his knowledge of Russian methods, his understanding of the mentality of American converts to communism, his phenomenal memory, and his gift for intuitive analysis.

"In recent months he had been writing the story of his early entanglement with the Russians, the experiences which led to his disillusionment with communism, and the reasons for his hatred of Russian 'internationalism.'

First to Break

"Switz was probably the first American associated with the Russians to break with the Soviet government. He was followed much later by other anti-Communists like Whittaker Chambers, Arthur Koestler, Louis Budenz, Elizabeth Bentley, and others, whose positions were somewhat similar."

Before making this statement Mrs. Switz consulted the office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in New York city so that they would have knowledge of her intention to do so, she said.

Woman Suffers Burns As Gas Stove Explodes

Mrs. Ida Mancuso who reportedly suffered burns about the body in a gas stove explosion at her home in Pine Hill Thursday night, was reported to be in good condition at the Margaretville Hospital today.

There was apparently no general fire connected with the accident, it also was said.

Information concerning the explosion was given by a person who did not wish to be quoted. The state troopers and the sheriff's office were not called to investigate.

New Commander

Maj. Gen. Oliver P. Smith (above), First Marine Division commander, was named to command the U. S. Ninth Corps, succeeding the late Maj. Gen. Bryant E. Moore, who died of a heart attack after his helicopter crashed in the Han river in Korea.

Tests Ahead

as to the target of the Kefauver probers.

An influential Republican legislative leader said the action was "intimidation to scare us out of investigating New York city."

"We don't frighten easily," he added.

At the same time, he described as "a blind" reports that the Kefauver agents were interested only in the records of a member of the staff of the State Senate's Democratic minority leader, Elmer F. Quinn.

A well-informed Democratic source, on the other hand, said the Kefauver action was aimed at the Quinn staff member and not at the Legislature as a whole, nor even the Republican majority.

The party source said the Quinn appointee was "100 per cent okay" and that the Kefauver inquiry probably resulted from a complaint arising from the intra-party Democratic feud in Manhattan.

Hints Clementis Held as Prisoner On Conspiracy Try

Prague, Feb. 26 (AP) — Rumors that the missing Vlado Clementis is under arrest were bolstered today by charges by President Klement Gottwald that the ex-foreign minister took part in a conspiracy aimed at lining up Czechoslovakia with the west.

Gottwald, in a speech published yesterday, declared the Communist party has unearthed a "large-scale," five-year-old conspiracy engineered by Clementis and other "traitors and conspirators."

Previous reports said Clementis, who has not been seen since late last month, had fled to Yugoslavia or to the west.

In a speech delivered Thursday to the Communist Central Committee, Gottwald declared Clementis and others had carried on a large-scale conspiracy to throw Czechoslovakia into "the camp of imperialism." But he added:

'No Second Yugoslavia'

"Czechoslovakia will not be a second Yugoslavia."

He referred to the expulsion of Premier Tito's Yugoslavia from the Russian-led family of Communist nations in June, 1948. Tito was accused by the Cominform of enmity toward the Soviet Union and deviation from the Marxist-Lenin line.

Some diplomats have suspected that opposition to Kremlin dictation has long existed on a high level in the Czechoslovak Communist Party.

Gottwald acknowledged that "there was not enough vigilance inside the party" and urged doubting members:

"Believe in the party, comrade * * *. In the end every one of these vagabonds is caught . . . and deserved punishment given."

Big Carrier Back Home From Korea

Wilson said applications for higher telephone rates are pending in most states and that others will be made "as necessity requires." But he declared that rate increases during and since the war plus those applied for amount to less than 25 per cent of gross Bell System revenues. And he added that taxes paid by Bell Companies plus federal excise taxes paid by customers average $2.65 per telephone per month.

The Bell System, he continued, is preparing alternate communications routes for use in the event of enemy attack on key locations. Other defense measures include standby engine-driven power plants for use in emergencies, plus additional precautions against sabotage.

rean campaign, had served notice the Soviet would "stop at nothing to achieve world conquest."

They said these factors, rather than any recent new Soviet military alignment, underlie the speeded efforts to assure Japan's defense after a peace treaty is concluded.

Besides the two U. S. National Guard divisions whose assignment here next month has been announced, other American security forces will be sent here if the situation warrants, these sources said.

The Russians began to outflank Japan when they acquired the Kurile Islands and southern Sakhalin in the Yalta agreements. They capitalized on existing Japanese installations. They rule these acquisitions with iron control and tight secrecy.

From the islands, the Russians continually can dangle the threat of an open or surreptitious invasion of Japan proper.

The viewpoint here is that Soviet power has been built up in the Orient, not fundamentally for a war of nerves, but as part of overall plans for world conquest.

So the effort to put strength into the defense of Japan is being made with grim reality.

Sing Sing Trusty Is Back in Cell After Brief Break

New York, Feb. 26 (AP)—A sing sing prison trusty—the warden's butler—escaped to New York city yesterday, only to land in a jail cell six hours later.

The 23-year-old convict, George H. Brooks, was recaptured on a New York city street by two detectives without a struggle after he fled Sing Sing at 2 p. m.

It was the second escape from Sing Sing in nine years. But Ed Connolly, who made the last flight last summer, enjoyed two days of freedom before his recapture here.

As Brooks handed over two loaded pistols without a protest, he told detectives:

Looking for Friend

"I was just looking for a friend."

Earlier, prison authorities in Ossining, N. Y., where Sing Sing is located, said other prisoners were circulating rumors that Brooks wanted to "get" someone in Astoria, a residential district here.

However, Astoria detectives said Brooks told them he was planning a holdup to get money to "go south." The "friend" Brooks mentioned, police added, apparently referred to an accomplice.

Brooks was arrested about a half mile from the Astoria home where his mother still lives. Fifty Queens police had been alerted.

Astoria police said Brooks told them he fled Sing Sing after he drank a prison concoction of coffee and mace (a spice). This mixture produces an intoxicating effect.

"I got loaded and got feeling pretty high," police quoted Brooks as saying.

Blames Drink

Brooks added, police said, that he would not have run away except for the drink.

The convict said he found the weapons accidently while looking for liquor, police said.

Warden Denno was in Albany at the time of the escape, and returned as soon as prison officials reached him.

Brooks received his Sing Sing sentence from Queens County Judge Thomas Downs on Dec. 23, 1948. He was convicted of holding up John Iacobelli, of (59-11 39th avenue) Woodside, Queens, the week previous. Brooks took $15 from Iacobelli and fled with the latter's auto.

Police said his record shows three previous convictions as a juvenile.

Brooks' Astoria address is 45-15 30th ave.

Brooks appeared in the police lineup and said he had made a statement to the Queens County District Attorney's Office.

Army Officers Held For Slaying Japanese

Atami, Japan, Feb. 26 (AP)—Two U. S. Army officers, both veterans of the Korean war, were held for investigation in connection with the slaying of a Japanese and the wounding of three others today.

The Army said the two officers went berserk with .45 caliber pistols at a Japanese hotel.

Army authorities identified the officers as Capt. Robert W. Hessler, of Company D, 5th Cavalry Regiment, and Capt. Willard W. Wise of the medical holding detachment, 8th Station Hospital.

Agents of the Army's criminal investigating detachment are investigating.

Ideas in the Night

By FRANK TRIPP

For years I've been going to get me one of those little notebooks that people carry to jot down ideas as they turn up; keep it on the bedside stand at night, and always with me. Not long ago I got one—and it hasn't amounted to a tinker's darn.

When I started this spasm I had no more ideas than a rabbit, as you can see. So I got out the little book with confidence and expectation. There'd be something there I felt sure.

There was, or were, if you're inclined to be fussy. The first item, "34 x 21 inches." Now what the devil was that? Something I'd measured, but couldn't remember what.

Second item, "10 MC P16." That also had be stumped. I gave up the column and started a search for what the thing meant. Maybe the FBI was after me. I pawed through drawers, pulled everything out and ended with a desk piled with slips, notes and memos.

I never solved the mystery, had no column, but faced a stack of stuff I didn't dare ditch. So I took an hour to file it where I'm sure it can never be found again no matter how badly I may need it.

It was getting late and not a word of the column had been written. Maybe the next page would serve me better. At least it revealed something that I remembered:

The catch line of a story that's a good one but has no place in a newspaper column; and the name "Stanley N. Scott." Which reminded me too late that I wanted to send a Christmas card to my favorite mixologist at the Waldarf-Astoria men's bar. Well, I'll do it next Christmas maybe.

THEN the lousy book got off on a new slant. It said "creme de cacao, gin and white mint." Vaguely I remembered a new drink called a "grasshopper." I shuddered lest I might sometime order one.

Touching further on lethal potions, the next item was "cyanide and apples." I hadn't contemplated suicide that I could remember—or had I? Dog poisoning is not in my line; anyway dogs don't eat apples. Oh yes, those pesky muskrats that ate Fanny's flowers. It was for them.

I had everything in that book except what I bought it for. I tore it all out and started afresh, determined to make it click. That night I put it by my bed. 'Cause sometimes the dark hours bring brilliant thoughts.

Sure enough one came. I turned on the light, reached for the book and knocked it on the floor. I recovered it and got back into bed; then found that I had provided no pencil. Getting one, I tipped over a vase of flowers on Fanny's desk—and she got into the act.

"What's the matter?" came from her bed.

"Just something I wanted to remember," I said.

"You couldn't get all the things you ought to remember in that little book," she snapped. "For one thing you might jot down our anniversary date—and be sure to remind yourself to come home nights before daylight. Turn out that light and let me sleep."

"No use now, I've forgotten it," I lamented, and turned off the light. I always strive to please.

* * *

AFTER LONG pondering the thought came back to me. Most guys would have turned on the light again, tossed their weight around a little, found the book and put down their bright idea. I say most guys would have, but most guys haven't lived with Fanny for 47 years like I have.

I pawed in the darkness for the book and pencil; thought I could record the brain flash without a light. I tried it.

Scotland Yard is a nursery compared to that woman. She can catch me at anything that I ought not be doing. That's why I have lived such an exemplary life—more than 'cause I wanted to.

She heard me fussing, rose up in bed and let me have it: "For heaven's sake get up and dress or go back to sleep, so I can. Nobody reads your corny stuff anyway."

Now I know why Mark Twain wrote in bed—daytimes. I determined the night shouldn't be a total loss. That's why I'm telling you about it.

When I started this epistle I tried to read the memo that I wrote in the dark. If a Chinaman did my shirts I'd be sure it was his laundry check.

Lofts to Present New Play Starting March 5

Woodstock, Feb. 26 — The Loft Players, whose first production "Dark of the Moon," which has been receiving favorable comment since it opened in the Circle in the Square, their arena theatre in New York, have announced that they will present a new play March 5. It is a romantic phantasy well suited to the arena style, "Amata," by Eugene Raskin. The author, besides being a playwright, is a painter, a cartoonist, an entertainer, a guitarist, a songwriter and yachtsman. For the past 15 years, and concurrent with these other activities, he has been teaching architecture at Columbia University.

Now showing in the lobby of the Circle in the Square is an exhibition of a group of etchings from Stanley William Hayter's Atelier 17. Some of these same works will be shown in London and Paris in the spring.

Red Boss Returns

Rome, Feb. 26 (AP)—Italy's Communist boss, ailing Palmiro Togliati, who has been in the Soviet Union for treatment since before Christmas, returned home suddenly today, presumably to deal first-hand with a growing breach in the Red party ranks.

Switz Served

Mr. and Mrs. Switz spent 16 months in a French prison, stood trial and then were released without conviction. In 1938 they returned voluntarily to the United States and their collaboration with the government in counter-espionage began, Mrs. Switz said.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Switz were natural born citizens of this country. Switz was educated in Europe, while Mrs. Switz received her education in the United States.

Mrs. Switz's Statement

Mrs. Switz's statement follows:

"For the past 12 years he had worked closely with the Federal Bureau of Investigation, giving his best energies and literally thousands of hours of his time to assist them in their work of counter-espionage.

Testified and Guided

"He had repeatedly testified before the House Committee on un-American Activities and corresponded with that committee, advising them how to secure cooperation from potential anti-Communist witnesses, guiding them in their work of unravelling the ramifications of Russian espionage in the United States.

"His cooperation with the U. S. government was a closely guarded secret, both by Congress and the F.B.I. because he felt that his contribution to counter-intelligence would have diminished value if the Russians knew that he was working against them.

Misled by Ideals

"In the early 1930s Switz was among a group of idealistic young persons who became interested in the ideal of world unity and brotherly international relations which at that time the Communist Internationale seemed to represent. Then under 30, he could speak both French and German fluently, and had lived much abroad in an atmosphere of international liberalism. Like many other Western intellectuals of similar opinions, he was induced to work in the Russian intelligence organization.

"Very soon, familiarity with the Russians convinced him not only that they were mercenary, venal, and nationalistic, but that they had no interest in true internationalism, and had callous, even criminal disregard for human life and self-determination. The discovery that they wished only to impose their police regime on other countries of the world, using falseness, violence, repression, terrorism, and gangster methods where necessary, made him wish to renounce his association with them.

Tried to Get Out

"Unfortunately, before he was able to disentangle himself from his espionage commitment, he was arrested in Paris in 1933 with others by the French government, and imprisoned pending trial.

"For the following 17 years he made it his life's purpose to destroy Russian espionage wherever he could. He worked with the French Deuxieme Bureau (counter-espionage office) to that end, with the British government and other countries in Europe.

"In 1938 he returned voluntarily to the United States to put himself at the service of the American government, with which he worked until the time of his death. His service to this country was invaluable because of his knowledge of Russian methods, his understanding of the mentality of American converts to communism, his phenomenal memory, and his gift for intuitive analysis.

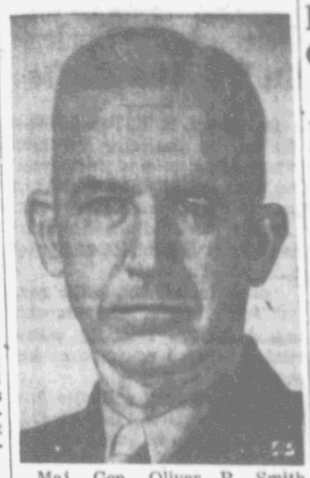

"In recent months he had been writing the story of his early entanglement with the Russians, the experiences which led to his disillusionment with communism, and the reasons for his hatred of Russian 'internationalism.'

First to Break

"Switz was probably the first American associated with the Russians to break with the Soviet government. He was followed much later by other anti-Communists like Whittaker Chambers, Arthur Koestler, Louis Budenz, Elizabeth Bentley, and others, whose positions were somewhat similar."

Before making this statement Mrs. Switz consulted the office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in New York city so that they would have knowledge of her intention to do so, she said.

New Commander

Maj. Gen. Oliver P. Smith (above), First Marine Division commander, was named to command the U. S. Ninth Corps, succeeding the late Maj. Gen. Bryant E. Moore, who died of a heart attack after his helicopter crashed in the Han river in Korea.

Tests Ahead

as to the target of the Kefauver probers.

An influential Republican legislative leader said the action was "intimidation to scare us out of investigating New York city."

"We don't frighten easily," he added.

At the same time, he described as "a blind" reports that the Kefauver agents were interested only in the records of a member of the staff of the State Senate's Democratic minority leader, Elmer F. Quinn.

A well-informed Democratic source, on the other hand, said the Kefauver action was aimed at the Quinn staff member and not at the Legislature as a whole, nor even the Republican majority.

The party source said the Quinn appointee was "100 per cent okay" and that the Kefauver inquiry probably resulted from a complaint arising from the intra-party Democratic feud in Manhattan.

Woman Suffers Burns As Gas Stove Explodes

Mrs. Ida Mancuso who reportedly suffered burns about the body in a gas stove explosion at her home in Pine Hill Thursday night, was reported to be in good condition at the Margaretville Hospital today.

There was apparently no general fire connected with the accident, it also was said.

Information concerning the explosion was given by a person who did not wish to be quoted. The state troopers and the sheriff's office were not called to investigate.

Hints Clementis Held as Prisoner On Conspiracy Try

Prague, Feb. 26 (AP) — Rumors that the missing Vlado Clementis is under arrest were bolstered today by charges by President Klement Gottwald that the ex-foreign minister took part in a conspiracy aimed at lining up Czechoslovakia with the west.

Gottwald, in a speech published yesterday, declared the Communist party has unearthed a "large-scale," five-year-old conspiracy engineered by Clementis and other "traitors and conspirators."

Previous reports said Clementis, who has not been seen since late last month, had fled to Yugoslavia or to the west.

In a speech delivered Thursday to the Communist Central Committee, Gottwald declared Clementis and others had carried on a large-scale conspiracy to throw Czechoslovakia into "the camp of imperialism." But he added:

'No Second Yugoslavia'

"Czechoslovakia will not be a second Yugoslavia."

He referred to the expulsion of Premier Tito's Yugoslavia from the Russian-led family of Communist nations in June, 1948. Tito was accused by the Cominform of enmity toward the Soviet Union and deviation from the Marxist-Lenin line.

Some diplomats have suspected that opposition to Kremlin dictation has long existed on a high level in the Czechoslovak Communist Party.

Gottwald acknowledged that "there was not enough vigilance inside the party" and urged doubting members:

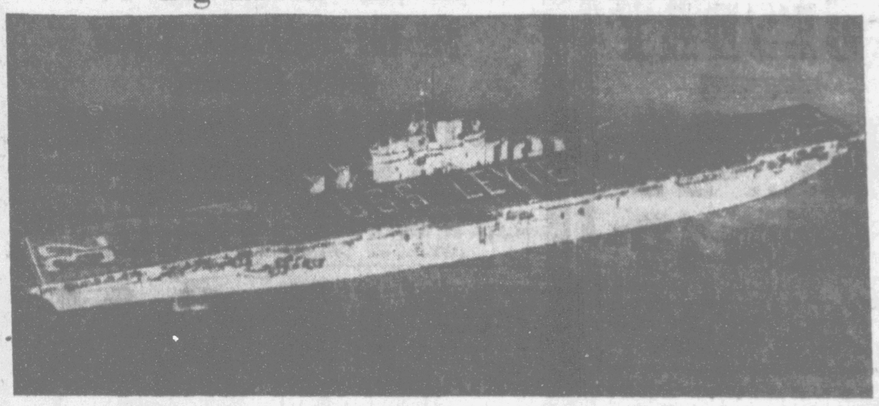

"Believe in the party, comrade * * *. In the end every one of these vagabonds is caught . . . and deserved punishment given."

Police Arrest Two

O'Reilly street ditch, the report said.

The cast was put over until Wednesday when O'Neil appeared before City Judge Raymond J. Mino today.

Car Hit Light Pole

The other arrest followed the damaging of an automobile Saturday when it struck a light pole at Broadway and Stuyvesant street.

Frank Albright, 31, of 52 Ravine street, was arrested on charges of driving while intoxicated and operating a car without a license. His case was put over until tomorrow.

The police report at 4:50 p. m., said Officer Harry Martin requested a patrol car to Brownie's Grill on Abeel street where he said he had been told by Ernest H. Near, 31, of Salt Point road, Poughkeepsie, that his car had been taken away, damaged and returned.

Near claimed that he was in the grill when Albright took the car, drove it up Broadway, struck the light pole and after going as far as Cornell street returned it to the grill and told Near what he had done. The police had been previously notified that the light pole was struck. The report indicated that Albright and Near are friends and the former had borrowed the car for a trip uptown.

Spring Valley Man Faces Long Series In Various Thefts

Police identified the decorator as Louis F. Ferrini, 29, of Spring Valley, N. Y.

Among his victims, police say, was Actor Burgess Meredith, who missed antique furniture worth several hundred dollars from his Pomona home.

Ladentown Chief of Police Abe Stern said yesterday that Ferrini, who has a shop at Suffern, N. Y., was indicted Friday on charges of first degree grand larceny and third degree burglary.

Woman Wore Dress

Stern said Mrs. E. P. Jones, an artist, told him last June that she spotted a woman on a Suffern street wearing a dress that had disappeared from her home. Mrs. Jones saw the woman enter Ferrini's car, Stern said. He did not identify her.

The chief said at the time that he felt there was not sufficient evidence for action against Ferrini. But a long series of robberies in Rockland county homes followed.

Finally last Dec. 7, Mrs. Raymond J. Boyce told Stern that about $350 worth of jewelry had disappeared and Ferrini had been the only recent stranger in the house.

Stern said he recalled the dress incident of June and started questioning Ferrini.

Diamonds to Pennies

Eventually, Stern added, Ferrini admitted all the robberies that local police were investigating and even admitted he pried open a piggy bank in one home.

Stern said Ferrini helped police recover much of the loot.

Some of Ferrini's other victims were listed by police as:

Mrs. Sidney J. Wells, wife of a retired army major, who missed the $7,500 ring.

Mrs. Morton Lexow, wife of a former Rockland county district attorney, who missed a diamond worth $1,500.

Artist Max Kriendler and Actor Fred Lowe, who missed valuable clothing.

Mrs. Jacob Bauman, wife of a hotel operator, who reported a $5,000 diamond ring missing.

Communists on the north bank of the Han blocked another attempt by South Korean troops to cross the river five miles east of Seoul. The Reds held their fire until the South Koreans were in rubber boats trying to get across. American commanders said the Chinese had been ordered to fire only if an attempt was made to cross.

The Communists appeared to be preparing to meet what they expect may be an Allied attempt to flank Seoul. Air observers reported from 10,000 to 12,000 unconcealed foxholes—"most of them occupied"—in a radius of four miles just north of the Han and eight miles east of Seoul.

New Red tanks were reported spotted around Seoul, concealed in houses and the woods.

Allied commanders interpreted the Red build-up as definite preparations to put up an all-out fight for the former capital, if the Allies choose to move against it.

Gordon Killed On Eve of Trial

New York, Feb. 26 (AP)—Bullets from a speeding auto killed 23-year-old ex-boxer Alfred (Allie) Gordon—on the eve of his trial for murder set for today.

The Brooklyn ex-welterweight was killed as he mounted the steps of his in-laws' home in Coney Island. He was to have gone on trial today for the second degree murder of longshoreman Joseph Autori, who was shot to death last Aug. 5 in a tavern.

Gordon's 20-year-old wife, Leatrice, told police that her husband had had premonitions since the tavern shooting that unidentified enemies were "out to get him."

His death last night came as he returned to the house of his wife's father, Hyman Mancher, after going out to buy a newspaper.

His slayers drove past in an automobile that paused only long enough to aim and fire.

The grand jury that returned a second degree murder indictment against Gordon had been told that Gordon shot Autori and wounded another dock worker, Dominick Scialo, after enduring the pair's anti-Semitic insults for some time.

Gordon, who won 14 successive amateur and one professional bout, was once booked by police on an assault charge and once on a narcotics charge, but was not convicted.

Dulles Sees Way Paved For Peace in Pacific

Washington, Feb. 26 (AP)—John Foster Dulles evidently feels there is a good chance agreement can be reached on a mutual defense pact for the Pacific area similar to the North Atlantic Treaty.

Returning yesterday from nearly five weeks of conferences in the Far East, he told newsmen "the way has been paved for the reinforcement of peace, order and justice by positive and cooperative action in the Pacific island area."

Dulles visited Japan, as President Truman's special envoy, to discuss a peace treaty. He also talked with officials in Japan, the Philippines, Australia and New Zealand.

"Our effort has been not merely to hasten a final settlement of the old war with Japan," he said in a statement, "but to find ways to provide insurance against the new aggression which threatens ominously in the Pacific, as elsewhere."

15 Persons Examined At First Palsy Clinic

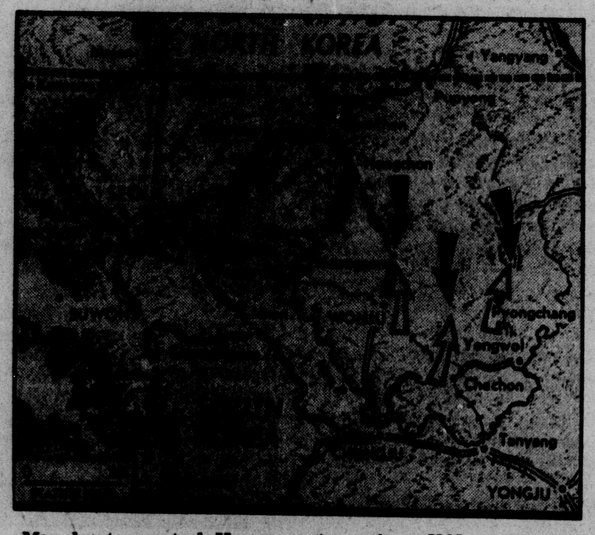

A total of 15 individuals, oldest of whom was 21, was examined at the first cerebral palsy clinic held Friday in Kingston.

The clinic, first of several planned to screen the 54 known cases in the county plus any cases not now known, was held at School No. 1 on Wilbur avenue through the cooperation of Arthur J. Laidlaw, superintendent of schools. Additional screening clinics will be held when arrangements can be made to obtain the services of the physiotherapist.

The physiotherapist at Friday's clinic was Dr. Robert Martin of the New York area. Also present were Dr. Henry L. Bibby, president of the Ulster County Cerebral Palsy Association, and John Muller, director of the Rockland county cerebral palsy center.

A record 60 billion eggs were produced in the United States in 1950.

There was little action along western front (broken line) where Allies face Reds across the Han river.

THE RUMINATOR

A Column of Contrary Opinion
By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

Quite often the late-winter period in February and March shows a hesitation in business and markets. There have been years when breaks in the stock market and in the commodity futures' markets have occurred in February.

Inasmuch as both business indexes and market indexes have come to a halt in their rises, in the past week or two, one naturally wonders if this will be another "falling February."

Considering the extent of the rise in both commodity and stock markets, it would not be strange if prices did drop soon. The upshoot since December has been swift.

However, the factor of public psychology always enters the equation—and it is a difficult factor to measure.

General opinions in the past many weeks have been lodged heavily on the "reactionary side"—that is, a crack in prices has been almost universally anticipated. When a one-sided viewpoint like this becomes common the expectancy is often postponed until "opinions" change.

Because of this one-sided composite opinion we have seen stock prices, for example, "do the opposite" and keep on advancing. Only in the last week or two has the advance slowed down.

It now appears that public opinions are so heavily weighted with inflation fears that people are beginning to enter the market in growing numbers regardless of the advances which have taken place in prices.

Thus, if over the next few days or weeks opinions shift to the thought that "every little set-back is immediately followed by new highs" that is when you are likely to witness the start of a real setback.

Judging from past experiences, it would seem an even guess that this is what we shall see—and that another February or March will be registered as a "down" month.

Fundamental conditions appear rosy on the surface, but underneath conditions are deteriorating.

The conspicuous news is of large corporate earnings and dividends; of big defense and war orders being placed with industries, and so on.

Yet, when you turn to the "banking figures" that reflect what is actually going on behind the scenes, you find that everything is not so healthy.

Bank loans have risen perpendicularly in recent weeks. Tracing the "why" of these swoolen loans you find that "inventory accumulation" is one of the chief reasons for the heavy increase in loans. And, what is noteworthy is the fact that much of this borrowing is on short-term credits. It is always a cautionary sign when we see business expansion and inventory accumulation being done on shorterm credit. It is the sort of condition we find in past periods of over-expansion, such as 1937 and 1946, for example. You recall how the 1937 bust was called "an inventory crack-up."

Along with increasing bank loans we have the second cautionary sign which is a marked falling-off in bank investments. That is, the bond holdings and other investments which are held by member-banks of the Federal Reserve System. These investments show a decrease of better than $3 billion in the past year.

It is informative to recall that in many eras when the stock market has made an important "top", bank investments had been falling for some months previously.

Bringing the whole "guessy" question of whether or not the stock market is in the process of forming one of its periodical "top areas" down to a summation it seems to the Ruminator that public participation may well give us the final answer.

Until the public jumps into the market with both feet and speculation becomes active there is little likelihood of the market's finishing its broad upward movement. However there have been signs of late that this is coming about. The public is coming in and speculation is increasing. Consequently, one has to ponder the important question that a bear market in 1951 is still a contrary probability.

Board Chairman Dies

New York, Feb. 26 (AP)—Lewis H. Brown, 57, chairman of the board and chief executive officer of Johns-Manville Corp., died of a heart attack at 8:45 a. m., EST, today in Delray Beach, Fla. He had gone there for a few days' rest. He had appeared in the best of health.

Lack of Troops

as Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said he wants to go.

Will Offer Amendment

Taft, scheduled to testify before the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees later in the day, said he will offer an amendment to delay any troops transfer to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's west European army until European countries have made specific guarantees as to their contributions.

The committees also arranged to hear from Wherry and former GOP Senator John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky (10 a. m.).

Neither Taft nor Wherry are members of the two committees, however, and a majority seemed inclined to go along with the Connally-Russell version, possibly with only minor changes.

Wherry Concedes

Wherry conceded on a radio program, "Meet Your Congress," yesterday that this country is going to send more ground troops to Europe but he asked "why the hurry before we are ready?"

Connally and Russell, chairmen of the committees, proposed that the Senate go on record as saying that the threat to the security of the United States "makes it necessary for the United States to station abroad such units of our armed forces as may be necessary and appropriate to contribute our fair share of the forces needed for the joint defense of the North Atlantic area."

Their resolution would ask the President to consult the secretary of defense, Eisenhower, the joint chiefs of staff and the foreign relations and armed services committees of both branches of Congress before acting on European troop decisions.

The President also would be directed to report to Congress at least every six months on the progress of assembling the North Atlantic defense force.

Korean Marines Land Unopposed on Sindo

Washington, Feb. 26 (AP)—South Korean marines landed yesterday on a third island off the Korean east coast port of Wonsan, the navy announced here today. Two other islands previously had been occupied.

The newest landing, following 12 days of continuous bombardment by American warships, was made without opposition from gound forces. Communist shore batteries fired at the U. S. bombardment force without scoring any hits, the navy said.

The island occupied yesterday is Sindo.

The 106th Wing represent metropolitan New York with its personnel coming from the five city boroughs, Long Island and Westchester county.

Heads Edson's Raiders

Quantico, Va., Feb. 26 (AP)—Lt. Col. Edwin B. Wheeler, USMC, of Port Chester, N. Y., has been elected as 1951 president of the Edson's Raiders Association. The Marine officer, now serving at Marine Corps headquarters in Washington, was elected here Saturday night as members of the famed World War II marine corps unit held their third annual reunion.

Police Arrest Two

O'Reilly street ditch, the report said.

The cast was put over until Wednesday when O'Neil appeared before City Judge Raymond J. Mino today.

Car Hit Light Pole

The other arrest followed the damaging of an automobile Saturday when it struck a light pole at Broadway and Stuyvesant street.

Frank Albright, 31, of 52 Ravine street, was arrested on charges of driving while intoxicated and operating a car without a license. His case was put over until tomorrow.

The police report at 4:50 p. m., said Officer Harry Martin requested a patrol car to Brownie's Grill on Abeel street where he said he had been told by Ernest H. Near, 31, of Salt Point road, Poughkeepsie, that his car had been taken away, damaged and returned.

Near claimed that he was in the grill when Albright took the car, drove it up Broadway, struck the light pole and after going as far as Cornell street returned it to the grill and told Near what he had done. The police had been previously notified that the light pole was struck. The report indicated that Albright and Near are friends and the former had borrowed the car for a trip uptown.

Spring Valley Man Faces Long Series In Various Thefts

Ladentown, N. Y., Feb. 26 (AP)—An interior decorator has been arrested in a series of thefts ranging from a $7,500 diamond ring to pennies from a child's piggy bank.

Police identified the decorator as Louis F. Ferrini, 29, of Spring Valley, N. Y.

Among his victims, police say, was Actor Burgess Meredith, who missed antique furniture worth several hundred dollars from his Pomona home.

Ladentown Chief of Police Abe Stern said yesterday that Ferrini, who has a shop at Suffern, N. Y., was indicted Friday on charges of first degree grand larceny and third degree burglary.

Woman Wore Dress

Stern said Mrs. E. P. Jones, an artist, told him last June that she spotted a woman on a Suffern street wearing a dress that had disappeared from her home. Mrs. Jones saw the woman enter Ferrini's car, Stern said. He did not identify her.

The chief said at the time that he felt there was not sufficient evidence for action against Ferrini. But a long series of robberies in Rockland county homes followed.

Finally last Dec. 7, Mrs. Raymond J. Boyce told Stern that about $350 worth of jewelry had disappeared and Ferrini had been the only recent stranger in the house.

Stern said he recalled the dress incident of June and started questioning Ferrini.

Diamonds to Pennies

Eventually, Stern added, Ferrini admitted all the robberies that local police were investigating and even admitted he pried open a piggy bank in one home.

Stern said Ferrini helped police recover much of the loot.

Some of Ferrini's other victims were listed by police as:

Police Arrest Two

O'Reilly street ditch, the report said.

The cast was put over until Wednesday when O'Neil appeared before City Judge Raymond J. Mino today.

Car Hit Light Pole

The other arrest followed the damaging of an automobile Saturday when it struck a light pole at Broadway and Stuyvesant street.

Frank Albright, 31, of 52 Ravine street, was arrested on charges of driving while intoxicated and operating a car without a license. His case was put over until tomorrow.

The police report at 4:50 p. m., said Officer Harry Martin requested a patrol car to Brownie's Grill on Abeel street where he said he had been told by Ernest H. Near, 31, of Salt Point road, Poughkeepsie, that his car had been taken away, damaged and returned.

Near claimed that he was in the grill when Albright took the car, drove it up Broadway, struck the light pole and after going as far as Cornell street returned it to the grill and told Near what he had done. The police had been previously notified that the light pole was struck. The report indicated that Albright and Near are friends and the former had borrowed the car for a trip uptown.

Spring Valley Man Faces Long Series In Various Thefts

Ladentown, N. Y., Feb. 26 (AP)—An interior decorator has been arrested in a series of thefts ranging from a $7,500 diamond ring to pennies from a child's piggy bank.

Police identified the decorator as Louis F. Ferrini, 29, of Spring Valley, N. Y.

Among his victims, police say, was Actor Burgess Meredith, who missed antique furniture worth several hundred dollars from his Pomona home.

Ladentown Chief of Police Abe Stern said yesterday that Ferrini, who has a shop at Suffern, N. Y., was indicted Friday on charges of first degree grand larceny and third degree burglary.

Woman Wore Dress

Stern said Mrs. E. P. Jones, an artist, told him last June that she spotted a woman on a Suffern street wearing a dress that had disappeared from her home. Mrs. Jones saw the woman enter Ferrini's car, Stern said. He did not identify her.

The chief said at the time that he felt there was not sufficient evidence for action against Ferrini. But a long series of robberies in Rockland county homes followed.

Finally last Dec. 7, Mrs. Raymond J. Boyce told Stern that about $350 worth of jewelry had disappeared and Ferrini had been the only recent stranger in the house.

Stern said he recalled the dress incident of June and started questioning Ferrini.

Diamonds to Pennies

Eventually, Stern added, Ferrini admitted all the robberies that local police were investigating and even admitted he pried open a piggy bank in one home.

Stern said Ferrini helped police recover much of the loot.

Some of Ferrini's other victims were listed by police as:

Mrs. Sidney J. Wells, wife of a retired army major, who missed the $7,500 ring.

Mrs. Morton Lexow, wife of a former Rockland county district attorney, who missed a diamond worth $1,500.

Artist Max Kriendler and Actor Fred Lowe, who missed valuable clothing.

Mrs. Jacob Bauman, wife of a hotel operator, who reported a $5,000 diamond ring missing.

Communists on the north bank of the Han blocked another attempt by South Korean troops to cross the river five miles east of Seoul. The Reds held their fire until the South Koreans were in rubber boats trying to get across. American commanders said the Chinese had been ordered to fire only if an attempt was made to cross.

The Communists appeared to be preparing to meet what they expect may be an Allied attempt to flank Seoul. Air observers reported from 10,000 to 12,000 unconcealed foxholes—"most of them occupied"—in a radius of four miles just north of the Han and eight miles east of Seoul.

New Red tanks were reported spotted around Seoul, concealed in houses and the woods.

Allied commanders interpreted the Red build-up as definite preparations to put up an all-out fight for the former capital, if the Allies choose to move against it.

Gordon Killed On Eve of Trial

New York, Feb. 26 (AP)—Bullets from a speeding auto killed 23-year-old ex-boxer Alfred (Allie) Gordon—on the eve of his trial for murder set for today.

The Brooklyn ex-welterweight was killed as he mounted the steps of his in-laws' home in Coney Island. He was to have gone on trial today for the second degree murder of longshoreman Joseph Autori, who was shot to death last Aug. 5 in a tavern.

Gordon's 20-year-old wife, Leatrice, told police that her husband had had premonitions since the tavern shooting that unidentified enemies were "out to get him."

His death last night came as he returned to the house of his wife's father, Hyman Mancher, after going out to buy a newspaper.

His slayers drove past in an automobile that paused only long enough to aim and fire.

The grand jury that returned a second degree murder indictment against Gordon had been told that Gordon shot Autori and wounded another dock worker, Dominick Scialo, after enduring the pair's anti-Semitic insults for some time.

Gordon, who won 14 successive amateur and one professional bout, was once booked by police on an assault charge and once on a narcotics charge, but was not convicted.

Dulles Sees Way Paved For Peace in Pacific

Washington, Feb. 26 (AP)—John Foster Dulles evidently feels there is a good chance agreement can be reached on a mutual defense pact for the Pacific area similar to the North Atlantic Treaty.

Returning yesterday from nearly five weeks of conferences in the Far East, he told newsmen "the way has been paved for the reinforcement of peace, order and justice by positive and cooperative action in the Pacific island area."

Dulles visited Japan, as President Truman's special envoy, to discuss a peace treaty. He also talked with officials in Japan, the Philippines, Australia and New Zealand.

"Our effort has been not merely to hasten a final settlement of the old war with Japan," he said in a statement, "but to find ways to provide insurance against the new aggression which threatens ominously in the Pacific, as elsewhere."

15 Persons Examined At First Palsy Clinic

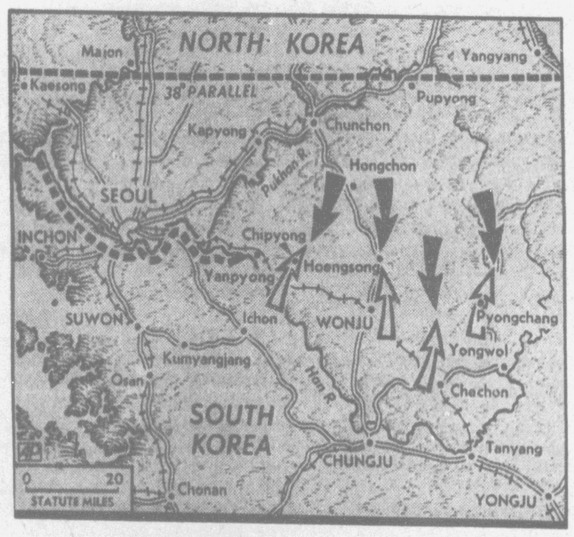

A total of 15 individuals, oldest of whom was 21, was examined at the first cerebral palsy clinic held Friday in Kingston.

The clinic, first of several planned to screen the 54 known cases in the county plus any cases not now known, was held at School No. 1 on Wilbur avenue through the cooperation of Arthur J. Laidlaw, superintendent of schools. Additional screening clinics will be held when arrangements can be made to obtain the services of the physiotherapist.

The physiotherapist at Friday's clinic was Dr. Robert Martin of the New York area. Also present were Dr. Henry L. Bibby, president of the Ulster County Cerebral Palsy Association, and John Muller, director of the Rockland county cerebral palsy center.

A record 60 billion eggs were produced in the United States in 1950.

Where Allies Beat Off Counterattacks

Map locates central Korean sectors where U.N. troops (open arrows) beat off Red counterattacks (black arrows) after Allied advance became mired in mud. Northeast of Chipyong, Canadians faced Chinese dug in along a ridge. At Hoengsong, South Koreans were stopped by grenade-tossing Reds. A U. S. combat team ran into a fight 16 miles north of Chechon, and at Pangnim U. S. troops fought off two counterattacks. There was little action along western front (broken line) where Allies face Reds across the Han river.

THE RUMINATOR

A Column of Contrary Opinion
By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

Quite often the late-winter period in February and March shows a hesitation in business and markets. There have been years when breaks in the stock market and in the commodity futures' markets have occurred in February.

Inasmuch as both business indexes and market indexes have come to a halt in their rises, in the past week or two, one naturally wonders if this will be another "falling February."

Considering the extent of the rise in both commodity and stock markets, it would not be strange if prices did drop soon. The upshoot since December has been swift.

However, the factor of public psychology always enters the equation—and it is a difficult factor to measure.

General opinions in the past many weeks have been lodged heavily on the "reactionary side"—that is, a crack in prices has been almost universally anticipated. When a one-sided viewpoint like this becomes common the expectancy is often postponed until "opinions" change.

Because of this one-sided composite opinion we have seen stock prices, for example, "do the opposite" and keep on advancing. Only in the last week or two has the advance slowed down.

It now appears that public opinions are so heavily weighted with inflation fears that people are beginning to enter the market in growing numbers regardless of the advances which have taken place in prices.

Thus, if over the next few days or weeks opinions shift to the thought that "every little set-back is immediately followed by new highs" that is when you are likely to witness the start of a real setback.

Judging from past experiences, it would seem an even guess that this is what we shall see—and that another February or March will be registered as a "down" month.

Fundamental conditions appear rosy on the surface, but underneath conditions are deteriorating.

The conspicuous news is of large corporate earnings and dividends; of big defense and war orders being placed with industries, and so on.

Yet, when you turn to the "banking figures" that reflect what is actually going on behind the scenes, you find that everything is not so healthy.

Bank loans have risen perpendicularly in recent weeks. Tracing the "why" of these swoolen loans you find that "inventory accumulation" is one of the chief reasons for the heavy increase in loans. And, what is noteworthy is the fact that much of this borrowing is on short-term credits. It is always a cautionary sign when we see business expansion and inventory accumulation being done on shorterm credit. It is the sort of condition we find in past periods of over-expansion, such as 1937 and 1946, for example. You recall how the 1937 bust was called "an inventory crack-up."

Along with increasing bank loans we have the second cautionary sign which is a marked falling-off in bank investments. That is, the bond holdings and other investments which are held by member-banks of the Federal Reserve System. These investments show a decrease of better than $3 billion in the past year.

It is informative to recall that in many eras when the stock market has made an important "top", bank investments had been falling for some months previously.

Bringing the whole "guessy" question of whether or not the stock market is in the process of forming one of its periodical "top areas" down to a summation it seems to the Ruminator that public participation may well give us the final answer.

Until the public jumps into the market with both feet and speculation becomes active there is little likelihood of the market's finishing its broad upward movement. However there have been signs of late that this is coming about. The public is coming in and speculation is increasing. Consequently, one has to ponder the important question that a bear market in 1951 is still a contrary probability.

Lack of Troops

as Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said he wants to go.

Will Offer Amendment

Taft, scheduled to testify before the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees later in the day, said he will offer an amendment to delay any troops transfer to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's west European army until European countries have made specific guarantees as to their contributions.

The committees also arranged to hear from Wherry and former GOP Senator John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky (10 a. m.).

Neither Taft nor Wherry are members of the two committees, however, and a majority seemed inclined to go along with the Connally-Russell version, possibly with only minor changes.

Wherry Concedes

Wherry conceded on a radio program, "Meet Your Congress," yesterday that this country is going to send more ground troops to Europe but he asked "why the hurry before we are ready?"

Connally and Russell, chairmen of the committees, proposed that the Senate go on record as saying that the threat to the security of the United States "makes it necessary for the United States to station abroad such units of our armed forces as may be necessary and appropriate to contribute our fair share of the forces needed for the joint defense of the North Atlantic area."

Their resolution would ask the President to consult the secretary of defense, Eisenhower, the joint chiefs of staff and the foreign relations and armed services committees of both branches of Congress before acting on European troop decisions.

The President also would be directed to report to Congress at least every six months on the progress of assembling the North Atlantic defense force.

The newest landing, following 12 days of continuous bombardment by American warships, was made without opposition from gound forces. Communist shore batteries fired at the U. S. bombardment force without scoring any hits, the navy said.

The island occupied yesterday is Sindo.
